PARIS, Oct. 27.—Holding his cards, if any, close to his chest and carefully avoiding the informal preliminary chitchat with European diplomats, which often has been the undoing of American envoys to an international conference, Norman H. Davis arrived here today.

President Roosevelt's ambassador at large, heads the American delegation to the nine power treaty conference which opens at Brussels next Wednesday. The treaty guarantees China's territorial integrity.

"It is clear something must be done to save the world from increasing chaos," Davis said upon his arrival. "We are going to the conference with open minds in an effort to reach an agreement with other powers on some course of action to alleviate the present tense situation. I cannot predict what measure of success will attend our effort."

Face Week of Idleness.

Though Davis already knew before he got off the liner Washington at Le Havre this morning that the conference had been postponed from next Saturday to Wednesday because of Belgium's cabinet crisis, it was intimated he would leave Paris for Brussels with his delegation tomorrow.

The American delegation will, therefore, spend the next week holding counsel with themselves or in extra-diplomatic activities, such as exploring famous restaurants in the Belgian capital.

The reason for this procedure, it is understood, is as follows:

The British made strenuous efforts to tempt Davis to land in England and have a few cups of tea with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and others. Davis, formerly reputed to be an incurable Anglophile, stoically refused all British invitations.

A Real Game of Poker.

In doing so presumably he reflected his instructions from Mr. Roosevelt that this conference, more than most, is a poker game and that it is bad strategy to show the other players your cards on the grounds that they are good fellows.

Despite the diplomatic discretion observed by members of the delegation, one gets the impression that they are not expecting to find any good fellows in Brussels. Consequently coöperation with Great Britain, France, and the other powers for settlement of Japan's war with China will be sought by the Americans in official discussions over the conference table. This will make it more difficult for the British to dodge their responsibilities.

Not only will the American delegates face the habitual danger of being left to hold the baby, but unless they watch their step they will be maneuvered by the British into launching a quarrel between Japan and the United States with England stepping in at the psychological moment to play the rôle of mediator, or "honest broker."

Davis Has One Weapon.

The Americans seem to be aware of these dangers and Davis has one powerful weapon to use against the British. This weapon is a timely exposure of the line taken by the British in secret sessions.

It might be a very effective weapon on occasion because a lot of Prime Minister Chamberlain's electorate have the naive idea that Britain is marching hand in hand with France and the United States for the defense of democracy and peace.

REVEAL FEDERAL FEAR OVER LONG MARKET SLUMP

Turn Against Roosevelt

Forty per cent of the people who voted for President Roosevelt a year ago are now opposed to one or more of his major policies and this indicates a certain split in the Democratic party, Dr. George S. Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, declared last night. Details on page 25.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—The federal administration's concern over the prolonged slump in the stock market and its accompanying threat of a disastrous depression in business, was revealed in the unprecedented steps taken suddenly by the reserve board tonight to support the market.

First, the board reduced cash margins on stock purchases from the present requirement of 55 per cent to 40 per cent. Then it promulgated the first federal curb on short selling in history by placing a margin requirement of 50 per cent against such sales. In addition it whittled from 40 to 25 per cent the margin which security brokers and dealers must put up with the banks from which they borrow on securities. The new rules are effective Nov. 1.

"Shot in Arm" for Market.

The slash in margin requirements on purchases was regarded as a "shot in the arm" for the ailing market because it was expected to make trading easier for buyers and thus increase the number and size of purchases. In turn, the higher margin required from short sellers would work against "bearish" operations by making such activities more costly.

A short sale is a sale of stock by a person who does not possess the stock at the time of sale, but who contracts to deliver the stock at a later date. He makes such a transaction in the expectation that the market will decline, thus permitting him to buy in the stock to cover the contract at a price below that at which he sold, and net himself a profit. Heretofore, the stock exchange required a margin of 10 points from short sellers.

Refuse to Amplify Order.

The reserve governors refused to amplify their order or discuss it in any way, but it was reported that President Roosevelt had had his fingers in the action. The President, in his home at Hyde Park, has recently received a stream of business and fiscal authorities headed by Chairman William Douglas of the Securities and Exchange commission, and Joseph P. Kennedy, first chairman of the SEC and now head of the maritime commission.

The administration has been watching the market's sickening drops of late which have plunged the value of securities down to about half of their peaks for the year with the resultant loss of many billions of dollars to investors. At the same time the falling steel output, stagnation in building operations, and other signs of a

Pastor on Trial on Charges of 2 Young Girls

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Danville, Ill., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Just about the largest crowd in Vermilion county judicial history surged into Circuit court here today to watch the selection of a jury which tomorrow will try the Rev. William C. McCullom for statutory rape.

The Rev. William McCullom.

The Rev. Mr. McCullom, short, hatchet faced, with a head of brisk black hair, is the local dispenser of the doctrins of Aimee Semple McPherson. As such, he has headed the Four Square Gospel church for the last six years. His congregation has grown steadily and he has prospered.

Mr. McCullom enjoyed, he thought, a fine popularity. And he did, until Sept. 12. At that time the Rev. Mr. McCullom was engaged in flight. The flight, and the events leading up to it, will be related to the jury by State's Attorney Oliver D. Mann.

Case Involves Girl of 14.

The events deal principally with little Retha Miller, 14 years old, daughter of a WPA laborer. For the last three years she has been an active worker among the Crusaders, as the tabernacle's juvenile workers are known.

Retha and her 16 year old sister knew both Mr. McCullom and his comely wife well. Retha was a frequent visitor at their home, where, on the afternoon of July 25, the state charges, the fortyish minister, who has three children of his own, attacked her.

Flock Is Split by Charges.

When, however, some six weeks later, the father of Retha signed a complaint against the Rev. Mr. McCullom, charging him with raping not only Retha but her older sister, the pastor was not to be found. He presumably had gone to a gospel meeting at Terre Haute, Ind. He returned a month later, after California police had been notified to look for him, pleaded not guilty, and was indicted by the grand jury.

That is the case. It has split the humble little tabernacle, which is being rebuilt, wide open. Half the flock now goes to the home of the Rev. William Peacock for its Sunday sermon; Mr. Peacock came down from Chicago to succeed Mr. McCullom. The other half, however, goes to the home of Mr. McCullom, who adamantly refuses to be succeeded.

Protagonists for both sides filled the courtroom. So did the wives of attorneys, physicians and civic leaders. And sitting cheerfully at a table, as a jury was slowly selected and sworn in, was the Rev. Mr. McCullom, neat, brisk, complacent. Beside him sat his wife; his son, Paul, 21 years old, who is on probation from the Circuit court for larceny; a 16 year old daughter, and a small son.

C. I. O. DECK DELEGATE 'PROHIBITS' SALE OF PAPER ABOARD SHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 27.—The deck delegate representing the Committee for Industrial Organization aboard the ship Western World today "prohibited" the sale of the Buenos Aires Herald on the vessel.

The C. I. O. agent also issued an order prohibiting stewards to serve refreshments to press representatives as a "punitive measure" for the Herald's criticisms of the activities of deck delegates.

The delegate announced he would bring the matter before the American Chamber of Commerce with the hope of muzzling newspapers publishing "impertinent comments" on deck delegates' actions.

NAZIS DEPRIVE 67 OF CITIZENSHIP; ONE IS A BOY OF 4

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Theodore Wolff, editorial writer of the Berliner Tageblatt in the days of former Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany and later of the German republic, was deprived of his citizenship today by the Nazi government. Sixty-six other Germans and their 53 dependents who fled the country after the Nazis assumed power were similarly affected. Fritz Lichtenstein, 4 years old, was the youngest to lose citizenship. Others included Wilhelm Dittman, Socialist, and one of the leaders of the revolution of 1918; Siegfried Aufhaeuser, former labor union leader, and Count Ferdinand Arcovalley.

A Carpenter's Craft Makes House Vanish

The strange story of the ready cut bungalow that left Bay City, Mich., by freight and disappeared in Chicago was told yesterday in two confessions made to Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin.

Richard Austin.

Early in September the Lewis Manufacturing company, which makes the bungalows [you just match the numbered pieces and nail them together], received an order from the Midwest Service company, Inc., 203 South Dearborn street. The Chicago company's letter stated that it was acting as broker for the actual purchaser, one John Farmer, and there was a certificate inclosed purporting to show that Farmer had deposited $763 to pay for the house.

A Disappearance Act.

The bungalow was loaded on a freight car and arrived in Chicago on Sept. 11. Two men called for it and had it loaded on three trucks. Then it disappeared. So did the Midwest Service Co., Inc.

Officials of the Lewis company learned, however, that the office was rented in the name of the Midwest concern's office by Michael Tauber, 25 years old, 6102 South Union avenue, and a warant charging conspiracy to defraud was issued against him. Taken before Prosecutor Austin, he admitted he had the lumber that was to have been the bungalow.

Carpenter Needs Lumber.

"I am a carpenter," he said, "and I needed some lumber. A plasterer named John Heersema and I thought up this scheme to get some. We rented the trucks and hauled the lumber out to my house, where I built a two car garage and a new porch with it."

Heersema, who is 31 years old and lives at 6751 South Sangamon street, was taken into custody. The two were turned over to postal authorities, who will decide whether to prosecute them for mail fraud or turn them back to the state for prosecution.

Duke Insists Tour of U.S. Is Not 'Political'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The duke of Windsor today made it plain that the forthcoming trip of himself and wife to the United States will be without any "political designs." He declared in the first public speech he has made since last December, given today before the Anglo-American Press association here, that "I am a very happily married man" and "that my wife and I are neither content nor willing to lead a purely inactive life of leisure."

After the dinner he said that the duchess and himself would sail for the United States on Nov. 6 on the liner Bremen because "they were interested in finding a solution to some of the vital problems that beset the world today."

Text of Duke's Address.

The text of his address:

"When Mr. Philip [referring to Percy L. Philip, president of the club] invited me to this luncheon on your behalf I accepted with pleasure, but with the stipulation that I should not be called upon to make a speech.

"However, in the light of recent press comments, I have, with your chairman's permission, called upon myself to say a few words.

"They do not concern public affairs but are of a personal nature, and I wish first of all to thank you for your hospitality and for the spirit of the invitation.

Tells of Invitation.

"When Mr. Philip originally invited me he used the following words: 'At all times and in all circumstances you have shown such understanding of, and patience with, those working newspaper men and those working journalists whose duty it has been to report your royal highness' doings and words in time past, that our association felt it would be their very great pleasure to entertain you at luncheon as a private citizen during your stay in Paris.'

"I can assure you I appreciate these sentiments a great deal, but, at the same time, they prompt me to speak openly to this important assemblage of British and American journalists and to say that there have been occasions when that very spirit of understanding mentioned by Mr. Philip has, I regret to say, not always been reciprocated by the press.

Hits Search for Ulterior Motives.

"All of you are familiar with my statement to the press of last June. In spite of my having adhered most faithfully to this policy, I am often at a loss to understand the extent of speculation and what sometimes appears to be a search for ulterior motives in regard to our doings.

"I naturally am not criticizing any one present, but direct my remarks to the press as a whole. Some recent misstatements concerning the duchess and myself have caused us considerable embarrassment and might well have led to dangerous consequences.

"I wonder if inaccuracies of the kind I mean are worthy of the great industry for which you work.

"Our visit to Germany has been very interesting and we are looking forward now to our tour of America and to further opportunities of making a study of methods which have been adopted in leading countries of

WOMEN HEAR PURSE YIELDS 35 PCT. ARSENIC

Own Lawyer Brings Up Sex Question.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The state today for the first time placed arsenic in the hands of Anna Marie Hahn, stolid blonde on trial for the poison murder of Jacob Wagner, 68 years old. A white handbag which she carried when she was arrested Aug. 10 was examined and the lint in its corners found to contain 35 per cent of arsenic, it was testified.

Wagner died on June 3, but it was not until the deaths of other elderly men friends of Mrs. Hahn that she was arrested. These included George Obendoerfer, who died in Colorado Springs, Aug. 1, and George Gsellman, who died here July 6. Albert Palmer had died March 27.

The eleven women on the jury examined the handbag with more expert eyes than the prosecutor, who alluded to it as a knitted bag, whereas it was crocheted.

In Lining and Cover.

Excluding face powder, dust, and such other particles as could not be handled with forceps, testified Dr. Willard Machle, chemist, he obtained 2 milligrams of lint from the bottom of the bag, in which he found 7-10 of a milligram of arsenic. Arsenic also was found in the lining and outer sheath of the purse after being submerged in a solvent, Dr. Machle, assistant director of the University of Cincinnati's Kettering laboratory, asserted.

Immediately after Dr. Machle's testimony Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt offered in evidence for the second time the two salt shakers, one of which contained a large amount of arsenic and a small amount of table salt, which were found in Obendoerfer's valise in a Colorado Springs depot after his death in Colorado.

While the state was allowed to present evidence of death from arsenic of all three elderly admirers of Anna's other than Wagner, and the testimony of one who survived, George Heis, that he has been partially paralyzed since eating food prepared by her a year ago, Judge Charles S. Bell has subjected each bit of evidence to careful scrutiny.

Refuses the Salt Shakers.

In a night session tonight he delivered a blow to the state by upholding defense objections to the introduction of the salt shakers. Prosecutor Outcalt, asked outside of court whether another attempt would be made to get them into evidence with additional testimony, refused to say.

The jury now has heard described in court the horrible symptoms which preceded death in the case of four victims, defined as symptoms of arsenic poisoning by physicians. They have heard experts tell of arsenic findings in the viscera of each of the old men.

In each case the blonde Anna Hahn was seen with the man shortly before his death. But not until tonight has arsenic actually been placed in her hands by witnesses. The evidence of the purse does that.

By the testimony of Dr. Machle the state hopes a further link between Mrs. Hahn and the disputed salt shakers will be provided. It is their theory that she carried them in her purse on the trip to Colorado, sprinkling their contents on Obendoerfer's food.

Trace Purse's Travels.

The white purse was traced from Mrs. Hahn's hands to the laboratory by a dozen witnesses, policemen, police matrons, deputies, and others.

Appearing almost as pale as Mrs. Hahn, who has abandoned makeup as the trial goes on but still has her bright hair waved in fat round curls by the girls in jail, the women on the jury assumed their chairs somewhat listlessly tonight. They became alert, however, and Miss Georgia McDonnell, the fragile little laundress, in the front row, who reads confession story magazines in her off hours, chewed her lips with suppressed excitement as the reading of letters began.

Prosecutor Outcalt, with his back to the court and his face toward Mrs. Hahn and the jury, read with elocutionary emphasis, veering from smiles to sneers, the letters from Mrs. Hahn to Palmer which were found in his effects after his death.

Earlier in the evening they were declared to be in her handwriting by an expert, Albert J. Osborn of Montclair, N. J., who testified in the kidnaping trial of Bruno Hauptmann and the Arnold Rothstein murder case.

These letters, previously identified by a witness who found them, included one addressed to "Dear Sweet Daddy." As Prosecutor Outcalt, a happy smile on his face, read these words, a titter in the packed courtroom was halted by a pounding of a bailiff's gavel. This one concluded, "With all my love and a lot of kisses, Your Ann."

Another letter was one addressed to a Cincinnati building and loan concern where Obendorfer had an account. "Inclosed find Mr. Obendorfer's passbook," she began, and continued to say that she was going to Newcastle, but he was going to remain in Colorado. He died there a few days after it was written.

Asks for $1,000 Check.

Asking the firm to send him a check for $1,000 for purchase of a chicken ranch, the letter continued: "He also has quite a number of friends here from the old country and he'll enjoy life more than he ever has before."

The handwriting expert provided an important but expected bit of evidence in declaring that in his opinion the so-called will of Jacob Wagner, leaving his $4,000 estate to Mrs. Hahn, is not in his handwriting, but hers. Likewise did he label the note giving Anna "power over everything," and signed with Wagner's name. He used as a standard of her writing the $1,000 check on Wagner's account which she admitted forging after his death, according to prior testimony of a banker.

Another letter, part of which was declared to be in Mrs. Hahn's handwriting by the expert, not yet offered in evidence, was a long recital of her alleged marital woes, including a plaint that her husband accused her of going out with other men. The latter half of this letter is in another handwriting.

Postal Link to Death.

Another link with the Obendorfer death was provided when a postcard sent by Mrs. Hahn to Cincinnati, mailed on Aug. 1, the day he died in agony in a hospital, was identified. It was mailed to her husband, Phil, a former telegraph operator who was reemployed by his company recently as a messenger who goes from file to file in the offices or roller skates.

Dated Colorado Springs, it read: "Dear Phil: Having a nice time. It is kind of chilly up here and we are throwing honest to goodness snowballs. Love, [signed] Ann and Oss."

A postscript read: "Thank you for the money."

The first hint during the trial of Mrs. Hahn, now in its third week, that anything more than terms of endearment were exchanged between her and her alleged victims was brought out by her own counsel in cross-examining a detective earlier in the day. Apparently Counsel Hoodin was making an attempt to reflect discredit on the police and their handling of their prisoner after her arrest.

Walter Hart, member of the homicide squad of the Cincinnati police department, had been examined by Prosecutor Outcalt and had placed the white purse in Mrs. Hahn's hands the day after her arrest, Aug. 11, when he made a trip with her and other policemen to her home.

Brings It on Himself.

Attorney Hoodin took a militant stance before the jury and questioned the detective, a young man in natty civilian clothes, sharply:

Q.—What is your nickname? A.—I have no nickname.

Q.—Were you ever called Timmy? A.—By only one person—Mrs. Anna Hahn.

Q.—Did you have a conversation with Mrs. Hahn in the squad car on the way out to her home? A.—I did.

Q.—Did you use any vile language to her? A.—I can tell you what I said. I don't call it vile language.

Q.—Well, if you don't, let's hear it. A.—[Turning to the court questioningly, and receiving a curt affirmative nod]: I asked her if she ever had any intercourse with any of these old men, and the reason for the question was that I had received information in the course of my investigation that she had.

Then He's Overruled.

"Your honor, I move that his remarks about his reasons for the question be stricken."

"Overruled. They may stand," ordered the court.

"Those weren't your exact words, were they?" Hoodin asked, and then quoted an unprintable question.

"No, I can give you my exact words," said the detective, and with the court's approval he did so, while the mother of two girls on the front row of the jury box bowed her head, and Juror No. 12, Mrs. Alice Peters, flushed to almost the shade of her smart plum colored dress.

"And what did she answer you? Didn't she say she was not used to being talked to in that way?" asked the attorney heatedly.

"I can't say that she did. She said I ought to be ashamed to talk to her that way."

TVA HEADS SPLIT ON POLICIES, BUT SPEND IN UNISON

Some Dream of Utopia; Others Stress Power.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The Utopian joyriders of the Tennessee Valley authority seem to the observer to be split into two groups, though they are pulling together as spenders in the 520 million dollar experiment in a regulated society. The board of three itself is split, Chairman Arthur E. Morgan terming himself a minority member on some policies.

In the TVA machinery itself, which has many fine, likable persons in its organization, one contingent, the professional uplift, throws stress on soil erosion, malaria control and the social welfare aspects of the program.

To them a new heaven and earth are to dawn in the valley with the obbligato of an electric skillet in every ridge cabin. They profess perplexity because the controversy over electric power rates, bookkeeping methods, and invasion of business by government gets the main attention. They seem to regard the question of who is to pay for the half billion dollar joyride a mere bagatelle.

Others Emphasize Power.

Another contingent, apparently the dominant one, emphasizes electric power. In this group are the public ownership boys. In swing music they are singing the same old song that echoed in Chicago years ago when immediate municipal ownership of street cars was a political issue.

In all the spending the authority operates under its own control. This has become the subject of criticism. More than two years ago Controler General J. R. McCarl, after an audit of TVA, uncovered what he believed to be violations of law or irregularities. As a result of this controversy, congress in 1935 amended the TVA act and the authority was exempt from the same kind of control to which other departments of government are subject.

In its report for 1936 the authority contended that unless it has the right to control the golden flood from the federal exchequer as it sees fit, the experiment in social and economic planning would be crippled.

Challenges McCarl's Action.

The authority must have both arms and hands free for easy spending. The report says: "With a great construction and operation program under way it can work most efficiently only if it has the freedom of action which is characteristic of well managed businesses." It says the authority contends "that the controler general is not entitled to enforce a departmental style of audit upon a government corporation of the TVA type and that he is without authority to settle or disallow accounts."

Some of the criticism of TVA disbursements to which the controler general took exception included purchases without competition, awards on basis of personal preference, overpayment of an original contract by as much as 120 per cent, awarding of contracts to firms which were not the low bidders, with one contract going to a bidder who was seventh from low, and loans to coöperative societies without security. One McCarl criticism was that one contract awarded without competitive bidding obligated the government for an indefinite sum of money, figured at $615,000.

In congress this was made the basis for an attack on the authority's policies. The authority made a detailed statement in answer to each of the McCarl "technical objections." The law was amended to provide that the controler general should not submit his report until the authority had time to prepare its answers to the exceptions.

TVA in its report says the controversy raised issues of importance "to the speed, efficiency, and economy with which TVA can operate." It holds that TVA is a corporation with the freedom and initiative of a great corporation. It may be said here that the public utilities privately say that as yet no scandals have been uncovered in the TVA's construction program.

There is growing criticism, however, of the special bargain rate contracts made with big industries, such as the Aluminum Company of America, for secondary, noncontinuous power. The general conjecture is that TVA cantered into them to make a showing on the revenue side of its books.

Litigation Ties Up Activities.

In the program for municipal distributing plants for TVA power, litigation has tied up activities in some of the cities. Today the authority is serving 33,600 customers in 17 municipalities, 14 farm coöperatives, and TVA communities in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

Its transmission lines spread from the Cumberlands to Memphis on the Mississippi. Knoxville and Chattanooga are two cities where competing, duplicating municipal systems of distribution are proposed. The utilities contend the authority seeks to grab the meat of the coconut from them in these areas.

In the municipal enterprises PWA has worked with the authority through loans and grants, and on Dec. 6 the Supreme court at Washington is to hear arguments in cases testing the constitutional right of the government to finance such projects.

Power Costs Compared

PRESIDENT SETS 'YARDSTICK' FOR FEDERAL POWER

Drafts Financial Formula for Bonneville.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 27.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt today acted to establish the long awaited "yardstick rate" by which the administration will determine the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the charges of privately owned utilities for electric current.

In conference with J. D. Ross, newly named administrator of the Bonneville Dam project on the Columbia river, Mr. Roosevelt established a formula for the yardstick rate. The formula is to pay operating charges, amortize the federal investment in power generation in 40 years and provide a net return of 3½ per cent.

For the present the formula is to apply only to the Bonneville project, Ross said after a conference with the President, although he recommended that the same principle be followed with respect to power from the TVA and other government plants.

Ross Favors One System.

Ross asserted that there should be but one system of rates for all government power projects. From this statement it was assumed that the formula arrived at today will be followed in other power developments such as Boulder dam, Grand Coulee, and Fort Peck.

"I hope the Bonneville figures will serve as a yardstick for the whole country," Ross said, "although of course my immediate work is Bonneville."

"There should be only one system of rates and that is why I think there should be a uniform interest rate and amortization for the entire nation."

Ross said he would be able to announce the actual rate for Bonneville power within a week after the federal commission determines what part of the 51 million dollars thus far spent on Bonneville is to be allocated as the cost of power generating equipment.

A federal "yardstick rate" for power has been an administration objective since the President took office. Utilities were one of the first targets of his warfare against the classes which opposed him.

Rate Under Boulder Dam's.

Today's announcement emphasized that aim, for 3½ per cent interest rate is less than 4 per cent which has heretofore been used at Boulder dam. The TVA, being an avowed experiment, has never had any interest rate.

However, one part of the Ross formula outline served to revive the long standing dispute concerning the fairness of governmentally fixed rates when compared with those of private companies. Ross said no consideration had been given to the inclusion of tax payments in the computation of operating expenses.

Private utilities in fixing rates are forced to make allowances for heavy federal, state and local taxes. Government owned plants, under the present administration campaign against utilities, are not subjected to such levies.

Possible Cause of Friction.

His announcement that he would fix the Bonneville rate as soon as the power commission makes its allocation served to point out another possible source of friction. Should the commission's estimate of what part of the 51 millions be allocated for cost of generating equipment be lower than private companies deem reasonable, it is expected that there will be accusations of book juggling designed to permit the project to charge lower rates than private capital could.

This charge has been brought against the TVA development. Ross insisted, however, that he plans to run Bonneville on a business basis, "like a private utility and pay Uncle Sam back." He came away from the conference bubbling over with visions of a nationally federally owned and operated power system with various regional projects interconnected.

A. F. OF L. OFFER IS REJECTED BY C. I. O. DELEGATES

Parley Deadlocked; Vote 8 Day Recess.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—In hopeless deadlock the peace committees of the two estranged factions of trades unionism, the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, today parted ways for an eight day recess, during which time tempers may cool and sober counsel prevail.

Before the breakup the A. F. of L. conferees offered a plan upon which peace might be signed between the two warring labor factions. The proposal was bluntly and contemptuously refused by the C. I. O. as "abject surrender."

Gist of A. F. of L. Proposal.

The gist of the offer was that the twelve big unions which broke from the federation to form the C. I. O. under John L. Lewis would be allowed to reënter the fold of the parent body without prejudice. The status of newer C. I. O. unions would be determined by conference and convention. The principle of industrial unionism or organization of workers into big mass unions, as demanded by the Lewis forces, would be preserved.

Philip Murray, C. I. O. lieutenant in the negotiations, declared that such a plan would wreck the drive to organize "millions of unorganized workers in mass production and other basic industries."

C. I. O. Tactics Assailed.

The A. F. of L. special committee, on the other hand, in a statement issued tonight declared that the tactics of the C. I. O. delegation were jeopardizing the possibility of reaching a peaceful settlement of the controversy. The federation conferees pointed out that while they were in the committee room a public statement rejecting the A. F. of L. proposal was given out to the newspapers without advising the conference.

The committee hinted that the refusal of the recalcitrant unions to come back on an equal footing was further proof of the falsity of Lewis' boasts of a huge C. I. O. membership.

"During the course of the conference members of the committee representing the C. I. O. made extravagant and unsupported claims of membership," the A. F. of L. conferees said, "but on analysis it was clear to the committee of the federation that the C. I. O has little, if any, dues-paying membership other than the members of the organizations that originally belonged to the American Federation of Labor."

Carried 983,000 Members.

When the unions split off from the A. F. of L. they carried a total membership of 983,000, it was recalled. If the C. I. O. now has the four million members that Lewis claims it has, sources close to President William Green of the federation point out, then the organization would readily become the dominant factor in the federation and should not fear the proposed plan. In other words, the Lewis group could outvote the unions which are now under the A. F. of L. banner.

Membership in the A. F. of L. is based solely on the number who pay dues into their union treasuries. The federation has more than a suspicion that the C. I. O. has padded its rolls with hosts of nondues paying members, with workers, for example, who have merely given the power of attorney to union leaders who need a majority to bargain collectively under the Wagner labor relations act.

Throughout the three days of the peace conference here the A. F. of L. delegation under the chairmanship of George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks, has demanded figures from the gentlemen across the table on the number of dues payers in the Lewis organization. The C. I. O. leaders so far in this poker game have refused to lay down their hand. Today they repeated the general claims of Lewis and left it at that.

Howard Proposes Recess.

The motion to adjourn to Nov. 4 was put by Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical union and secretary of the C. I. O. Ostensible reasons for the delay in negotiations were that the C. I. O. members were anxious to go to New York to work for the reëlection of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, candidate of the Lewis-controled American Labor party, and that several of the leaders had pressing business matters in connection with the affairs of their own unions.

C. I. O. spokesman Murray was asked as he emerged from the conference room whether the parley had collapsed.

"I don't care to discuss that," he snapped.

Then he was asked whether the conferees had made any progress during their three days of negotiations.

May Call It Progress.

"There have been general discussions of the two contending parties," he replied. "You may call that progress, but I don't call it accomplishment."

Spokesmen for the A. F. of L. claimed that their plan agreed in some respects with the proposal of the C. I. O. yesterday that it enter the federation as an autonomous department. The A. F. of L. offered, for example, to permit the industrial form of organization in fields where it is adaptable and also to recognize the sovereignty of 80 per cent of the C. I. O. membership. The status of the remaining 20 per cent of the members of the new unions created by the C. I. O. would be left up to arbitration for the purpose of ironing out jurisdictional lines.

How Two Plans Differ.

The two plans offered by the peace committees differ in three important respects, as follows:

1. Under the federation plan the A. F. of L. constitution would determine the qualifications of member organizations on an identical basis, while the C. I. O. would retain its own basis for qualification. Thus, the C. I. O. could embrace communists [as it already has in many cases], nonworkers, nondues paying members and even employers without the main body of the federation having a voice in the matter.

2. The A. F. of L. plan would provide for one general policy over all member groups which would be determined in the last analysis by the general convention of the federation. Under the C. I. O. plan, however, the Lewis forces would be empowered to set up their own policy, even though it might be in conflict or detrimental to the rest of the federation. The C. I. O. wing of the labor movement could promote Lewis' campaign to become President of the United States in 1940, for example.

3. The A. F. of L. plan, according to its sponsors, protects the member unions against practices which might throw the labor movement into disrepute. In this respect it was recalled that the C. I. O. used the sitdown strike and the capture of city power plants as formidable weapons of intimidation. These methods were condemned by President Green and other federation officials. The C. I. O. could continue to invoke such practices, under the terms of its proposals, without discipline from the parent body.

Generally speaking, adoption of the A. F. of L. plan would protect local unions from their capture by a dictator of the Lewis type, who would be given all money collected to use as he saw fit. In the case of Lewis, federation officials are convinced he is using union funds to attract a personal political following rather than to further the cause of trade unionism.

3 YOUTHS GET 199 YEARS FOR TAVERN MURDER

Three youths who pleaded guilty to the murder of Samuel Speredes, 44 years old, in a tavern holdup Sept. 18 at 1307 Roosevelt road, were sentenced to 199 year and life terms yesterday by Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington following bench trials.

In court to appear against them if necessary were 111 witnesses in the murder and numerous robbery cases. The youths are George W. Campbell, 26 years old, and Ray Stevens and Jack Woods, each 19 years old. All are colored.

In addition to the 199 year murder sentences Chief Justice Harrington imposed two consecutive life sentences of one year to life each on Campbell and Stevens and one sentence of one year to life on Woods for robberies.

Speredes and his son, John, were shot when they resisted the robbers in the Speredes saloon. John recovered and was in court yesterday.

Howard Ahlgum, 26 years old, was found shot to death yesterday in the showerbath adjoining his room in the hotel at 2950 Jackson boulevard. A revolver lay on the floor.

2 ARE EXPELLED FROM U. OF I. IN CLEANUP OF VICE

Action Is Deferred on 3 Others Caught in Raid.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Two University of Illinois students, of the five seized by police in a raid on a Champaign disorderly house ten days ago, were expelled today. The announcement was made by the disciplinary committee of the university senate, which refused to reveal the names of the young men.

Action in regard to the other three students was deferred pending further investigation. However, Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the university, last week warned that any student arrested in a brothel would be dismissed.

The story of the police raid was revealed for the first time tonight as the Daily Illini, student newspaper, continued its campaign of publicity to close the fourteen houses of prostitution it charges are operating in Champaign.

The raid which led to the dismissal of the students was conducted so quietly there was no chance for them to escape.

BRITISH AIR FORCE SECRETS STOLEN; OFFICIAL FINED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A burglary by three British Fascist youths caused their victim, an air ministry official, to be fined $300 today at Fartham, Surrey, for unauthorized possession of secret air force data. He also lost the job he had held thirteen years.

Maj. Wilfred Foulston Vernon, attached to the Farnborough royal air force station, was convicted under the "official secrets act" of keeping in an unauthorized place [his bungalow near the air field] secret documents obtained through his official position. The burglary took place in August while he was on vacation. He reported the burglary to the police, who recovered the papers, but also reported to the air ministry.

The prosecutor revealed that the papers related not only to planes on the secret list, but to planes whose very existence is unknown publicly. The most secret document dealt with bombing and bombing sights. Only a single copy was allowed in the air force station. It was admitted Vernon was not suspected of intending to sell or reveal the information.

CHECK OF UNION PAYS FINES FOR STEEL STRIKERS

Youngstown, O., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, tonight had settled, with a $4,711.32 check, the cases of more than 90 of the 174 strikers and pickets indicted here for violence during the steel strike.

The grand jury returned 204 indictments, charging the pickets with assembly for an unlawful purpose, carrying concealed weapons, rioting, shooting to kill and assault and battery.

Previously the United Automobile Workers of America had paid $1,109 imposed as fines against its members in the group.

COMPANY SUES FOR DAMAGES IN SITDOWN STRIKE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Apex Hosiery company today filed suit in Common Pleas court against the county of Philadelphia for sums aggregating $1,026,000 as damages caused by alleged mob violence in connection with a sitdown strike at its plant last spring.

The suit was brought under the Pennsylvania act of 1841, permitting suits against the county for damages in consequence of mob violence or riot. The company has pending in federal court a suit for $3,000,000 against branch No. 1, local 706, of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

DUCE'S PAN-ARAB AGITATION STIRS ALARM IN BRITAIN

Fear Bold Move in Arabia and Palestine.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Events in the near east are causing increasing alarm in British government circles. Behind a calm façade the colonial office is in a state of jitters over Palestine, Egypt, Iraq, and Saudi-Arabia.

The most immediate of the colonial office's fears is based on reports from intelligence agents that Premier Mussolini is going to denounce the British mandate over Palestine and at a stroke throw the British positions in the eastern Mediterranean into a state of unrest.

Say Ibn Saud Has a Hand.

Afterward, secret agents reported, Ibn Saud, king of Saudi-Arabia, will, on a signal from Rome, proclaim himself the king of all Arabs, which may start a fire from Bagdad, Iraq, to Casablanca, French Morocco.

It is because of this situation in the near east at one end of the Mediterranean that the British are trying to placate Premier Mussolini on Spain at the other end.

The colonial office has received reports that the discussions in Rome last week-end between Premier Mussolini and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's envoy to London, were not, as some thought, a sort of kite to try the wind, but a notice of action decided upon. The reports indicate the Germans and Italians made a deal about colonies.

Iraq in State of Unrest.

The effect of such action on the British position in the near east and the reasons for the colonial office's jitters are simple.

To begin, things have not been going well in Iraq since last August, when Maj. Gen. Bekr Sidki Pasha, minister of defense and known as Iraq's "strong man" and power behind the throne, was assassinated. Sidki had Italian leanings. The Iraq army still remains under Italian influence.

Palestine appears to hold the gravest situation of all. One view at the colonial office is to go easy with the Arabs in Palestine and divide them, setting moderates against the extremists. The other view is to take a strong line and the exponents of this view have had their way recently.

But there is today greater anti-British activity than ever in Palestine.

With Italy's pan-Arab plans becoming more alarming, every effort is being made here to humor Mussolini and divert an attack on the Palestine mandate. Papers here are referring every day to Premier Neville Chamberlain's firm determination to come to an arrangement with Italy.

FOREST FIRE ADDS FRESH TERROR TO PALESTINE STRIFE

JERUSALEM, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Fires tonight added fresh terror to the lengthening list of holy land outrages.

Flames believed incendiary threatened to destroy the entire Balfour forest of 500,000 trees near Nazareth. The government's Arab trade school at Haifa was set afire. Police and Jewish settlers hurried to aid firemen in fighting the forest fire that was spread rapidly by a strong wind.

Meanwhile the Arab weekly, "Palestine and Transjordan," published in England, was banned for three months. Thirty Moslem clergymen issued a manifesto announcing they had decided to start a campaign to end outrages that have kept Palestine in ferment for months.

LOYALIST SPAIN WILL SEND PARTY TO SOVIET FETE

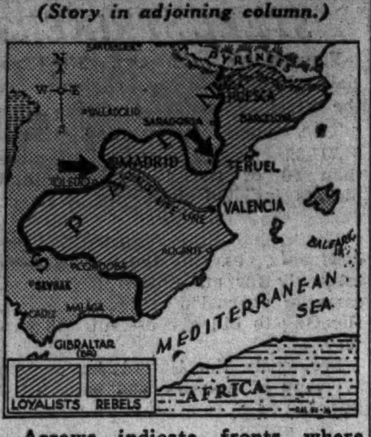
MADRID, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Spain will send a delegation of 50 persons to represent the government at the Moscow celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Red revolution Nov. 7.

The delegates will go from Madrid, Valencia and Barcelona with a selection of gifts for the soviet union which will include the work of artisans, rare old tapestries and antiques donated by government workers and organizations of the army.

The Russian anniversary coincides with the first anniversary of the successful defense of Madrid which will be celebrated extensively in government-held Spain.

Mass for Drive to Sea

(Story in adjoining column.)



Arrows indicate fronts where Spanish rebels are massing troops for new offensives. Madrid expected an attack today. On the Teruel front it was expected the rebels will launch a "drive to the sea" aimed to split Barcelona and Catalonia from the rest of loyalist Spain. The rebels then would be in a position to drive south in an effort to cut the road from Valencia to Madrid, over which the latter receives its supplies.

4 MOORS SLAIN AS RIOTS FLARE IN FRENCH MOROCCO

Link Outbreaks with Pan-Arab Activity.

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Four Moors were killed and nine persons were wounded in a clash today between Moorish nationalists and French police outside the mosque at Port Lyautey after afternoon prayers.

The Moors attacked police with dirks and knives, and police fired into the crowd. The wounded included six police and three Moors. Officials said Diouri el Hadt, Nationalist chieftain, led the crowd against police. Arabs were ordered to remain in their own quarter of town. Thirty rioters were jailed.

[Other reports said Diouri was given an immediate trial and sentence of two years in prison.]

Send New Police Into Zone.

The first squadron of French bombing planes thundered over the Mediterranean for North African "maneuvers," coincidental with the renewal of Moroccan rioting.

French authorities rushed troops and police reinforcements into the principal cities of the Moroccan zone. The Nationalist action has flared during the past several days in several localities.

Three Nationalist leaders were taken into custody at Fez. Detachments of troops were stationed at strategic points, reinforced by others brought in from the south.

Connected with Pan-Arab Front.

Arab Nationalist leaders were reported to be negotiating for a united front against the French. Their leaders at Fez called on followers to gather at mosques and to close their shops.

Officials said the movement was connected with Arab activities in Syria, Palestine and Egypt.

French officials at Rabat said documents found on arrested Arab leaders had disclosed a plan for the establishment of an Arab government. Three Nationalists, who were accused of advising Arab merchants to close their shops at Rabat, were sentenced to three months in prison.

REBELS MASSING ARMY FOR DRIVE TO DIVIDE SPAIN

Seek to Isolate Catalonia from Valencia.

MADRID, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A new drive to cut government Spain into two parts was believed foreshadowed today by reports of huge concentrations of rebel troops north of Teruel.

The Teruel battle area, comparatively quiet while Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel armies were "eliminating" the northwestern front, is really the southern tip of the long Aragon front, reaching from the French frontier to a point about 135 miles due east of Madrid. It juts within 80 miles of Sagunto on the Mediterranean, just north of Valencia. Half the distance is over steep and difficult mountain terrain, but the remainder is over open country.

The closing of that 80 mile gap would cut off Catalonia, prospective seat of the Republican government, from the rest of government Spain, including Valencia and Madrid.

Becomes a Major Front.

Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Valencia's league of nations representative, addressing government troops near Teruel, said that with the approach of a hard winter campaign they would play a major rôle.

"The Teruel front is no longer in a secondary position," he declared.

Advisers who visited the Teruel front where the Valencia forces were entrenched a few miles east of the city expressed belief the mountains made the government positions strong, but offered no greater defensive power than the terrain through which the rebels had fought to liquidate the Gijon, or Asturian, front.

Government sources said Franco also was massing forces, including aircraft and artillery, for a major drive on Madrid tomorrow. There was fighting last night in the University City sector of Madrid.

Inspect Alternate Rail Line.

PERPIGNAN, France, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Spanish rebel bombardments of Catalonia's rail connections with France were renewed today. A warplane dropped several bombs on Portbou, on the coast near the Franco-Spanish frontier, and flew away after Spanish government anti-aircraft batteries went into action.

Spanish government authorities inspected a reserve rail connection between France and government-held Spain because of the frequent rebel attacks on the line through Portbou.

Indalecio Prieto, Spanish minister for national defense, inspected the facilities of Puigcerda, inland Spanish rail center east of Andorra, which is to be used to handle most of the trafic normally routed along the coast.

Britain Sends Biggest Warship to Watch Italians in Balearics

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Britain dispatched the battle cruiser Hood to Mallorca today to keep an eye on the strategic Balearic Islands.

The move came as Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden tried to keep the nonintervention subcommittee on the road to removal of foreign "volunteers" from Spain.

The Hood, world's largest warship, sailed from Gibraltar to relieve the cruiser Despatch. Britain thus will have her highest ranking admiral in the western Mediterranean, A. B. Cunningham, in constant touch with the islands which lie on the Anglo-French trade lanes.

Mallorca, largest of the islands, has been in the hands of Spanish rebels for a year and it has been reported an Italian air base already is well established there. A reported Italian threat to dominate the whole Balearic group has made a potentially dangerous offshoot of the Spanish civil war.

France Keeps Eye on Minorca.

East of Mallorca lies the other important Balearic Island, Minorca, which still is held by the Spanish government. It was there that an Air France base was attacked Monday. The comparatively narrow strip of water between Minorca and the Italian Island of Sardinia is the main route between France and her African possessions.

Off the north Spanish coast British destroyers searched the waters of the Bay of Biscay to ascertain the fate of the British steamer Stanray, reported attacked by a Spanish rebel trawler.

Lloyds reported all British warships within wireless range were asked to assist the steamer after it was fired upon and halted three and one-half miles off Aviles, Asturian port near Gijon.

French Warship at Minorca.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—(AP)—France followed up her protests to the Spanish government and Spanish rebels against raids on French shipping in the Mediterranean today with an order stationing a warship permanently at Minorca, strategic Balearic Island.

The destroyer Forbin was assigned to patrol the important sea lane connecting France with her African colonies and to maintain radio contact with planes flying the Marseilles-Algiers route.

France, still unable to identify the planes which bombed the freighter Oued Mellah and submarine chaser 91 this week, demanded "guarantees of security" from both Spanish régimes for French ships and airplanes.

Rescue 300 from Sinking Ship.

BORDEAUX, France, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The British cruiser Southampton reached here today with 300 Spanish government adherents, their wives, and children, who were found terror stricken in the hold of a sinking ship 150 miles off the French coast.

They had been without food for five days and had little water in their flight from Gijon before its capture by the rebels. Their trawler was not manned by sailors and the refugees soon lost their way. The ship was damaged in a storm. The refugees were transferred to a camp here. Fifteen were sent to a hospital.

Spanish Rebels Release American Held at Malaga

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 27.—Mark Hawker, an American, and Herbert Merrick, a Briton, who recently were detained by the Spanish rebels and taken to a prison in Malaga, were released last night. No charges had been made against them. Hawker returned to Torremolinos, Spain, where he had been arrested, to meet his wife and frends. Merrick is returning to Gibraltar.

CHINESE BATTLE TO STOP JAPS IN SHANGHAI ROUT

Fight Foe with Backs to Foreign Area.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28 [Thursday.]—(AP) — Shanghai's defenders fought today with their backs to the Soochow creek on the border of the international settlement.

Across the stream, at barricades on the south bank, United States marines watched the shifting battlefront under orders to shoot in self-defense at any plane attacking them or noncombatants.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, authorized the protective orders when the Chinese retreat on the northern edge of the international settlement brought intense fighting close to the foreign zone.

Farther upstream, to the west of the international settlement, the Chinese were entrenched on the south side of the creek, defending a narrow strip of the native city between the stream and the foreign area.

Dig In on New Line.

The Chinese dug in on their new line after a general retreat from historic Chapei, seared by miles of flame from fires started yesterday when the defense collapsed. The blazes were caused both by Chinese leaving fires to cover their retreat and by Japanese shells and incendiary bombs.

Flames, whipped by a southerly wind, stretched from near Kiangwan, north of the international settlement, south through Chapei to the edge of the foreign zone and west for an unknown number of miles. In one area where the flames jumped Soochow creek 150 buildings were burned.

Japanese artillery bombarded the Chinese from 500 yards north of the creek. An unconfirmed report said the Japanese attempted to cross the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad bridge spanning the creek, but met a storm of Chinese machine gun bullets and withdrew.

100 Refugees Machine Gunned.

British troops guarding a railroad bridge over Soochow creek fell back to a safer post near Jessfield Park. They reported that a Japanese plane had machine gunned 100 refugees crossing the bridge, killing 10 and wounding 25.

A Chinese "dare-to-die" detachment of from 200 to 300 men remained in Chapei, directly across from the sector patroled by United States marines, to resist the Japanese to the last bullet. The Chinese lieutenant in command rejected a British offer of refuge in the international settlement provided his soldiers would lay down their arms.

Japanese planes strafed Chinese troops retreating from Chapei and one, British authorities said, opened fire with machine guns on British outposts near Jessfield park. The British said they answered the fire and believed they struck the Japanese plane.

Retreat Called Strategy.

Clouds of smoke hung over the vicinity of Nanziang, about eight miles west and slightly north of Shanghai, where the Chinese line stretched from the banks of Soochow creek.

A Chinese military statement said the retreat from Kiangwan and Chapei was for strategic purposes and was carried out with a minimum of losses to the Chinese troops. The defense army, it said, fell back to strong positions outside the range of Japanese naval guns in the Whangpoo river.

A survey of the Kiangwan area showed that no house or building was left undamaged between the international settlement and Kiangwan, a distance of six miles. Countryside villages were laid to waste for miles and many foreign style houses were in ruins.

Patches of shell torn but thus far unburned buildings dotted once humanity packed Chapel, world renowned since the clash of China's 19th Route army with the Japanese in 1932.

Vast sheets of flame shot toward the sky, creating heat so intense it was felt throughout the city. All Shanghai was threatened, but thousands watched the awesome sight from south of the creek, braving the peril of stray bullets and shell fragments which continued to fall in the international settlement.

Because of the dangers to the western portion of the area, Clarence E. Gauss, United States consul general, advised American residents to be ready to evacuate if necessary. The British consul general took similar precautions.

35,000 Flee Into Foreign Zone.

About 35,000 refugees from the embattled districts in the northern and western parts of the city streamed into the international settlement yesterday. Authorities prepared for a further avalanche of fleeing humanity.

Among the refugees, they said, were 350 civilian men, women, and children wounded by Japanese aerial machine gun attacks on the countryside outside Shanghai.

British and American relief workers opened a huge camp to provide whatever relief was possible for the refugees. Thousands already were receiving food and shelter in the camp on the west side of Shanghai.

VOTE TO INDICT BOY 13 YEARS OLD IN DEATH OF GIRL

A boy, 13 years old, believed to be the youngest ever indicted here, was reported named in a true bill charging manslaughter by the grand jury yesterday. He is Donald Lewandowski, 2854 North Drake avenue, who, during a quarrel last Oct. 6, struck Lorraine Rzeppa, 11 years old, 2846 North Drake avenue, with a heavy cardboard tube, causing her death.

Whether the boy will be tried in Criminal court will depend on the results of an examination by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the court's behavior clinic. If his mentality shows irresponsibility, he will be tried in the Juvenile court which now has him in custody. Attorney Samuel A. Hoffman has been retained to represent the boy.

MILLION IN TOKIO PARADE; CHEER WAR VICTORIES

Japan Rejects Invitation to Peace Parley.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 28 [Thursday].—Japan's two day celebration of the war victories in China reached a climax today when the capital was turned into a sea of rising sun flags.

A million persons, waving flags, paraded through the main street, visited the palace, the shrine to the war dead and the Meiji shrine shouting "Bainzai!" [a Japanese battle cry].

Last night 10,000 persons participated in a lantern parade winding in long columns from Nagatacho, the official residence of the prime minister, to the palace plaza, where it disbanded.

Military Leaders Speak.

Another gigantic parade was planned for tonight as a climax to the celebration. Military leaders, speaking on nation-wide broadcasts, recounted the heroic deeds of the men at the front.

Victory processions were held in all large cities.

Twenty-two persons were killed and scores injured, mostly women and children, in Yokohama late yesterday when a trolley car plowed into a crowd cheering a troop train. The accident occurred when the crowd overflowed into the street car tracks which at that point are close to the railway.

Declines Peace Invitation.

Japan last night formally declined the Belgian invitation to participate in the conference of nine power treaty signatories in Brussels.

Contending that its operations in China are in self-defense and that the conference was suggested by the league of nations, which already has condemned Japan, the Japanese government declared it did not believe there could be a frank, full discussion under such circumstances.

"The attempt at solution by powers with only varying degrees of interest in the far east only will complicate the situation and hamper a just and proper settlement," said a government statement.

Says Japan Urges Settlement.

"The Japanese nation, rising as one man, is united in its determination to surmount all obstacles for the purpose of affecting a speedy settlement," the statement asserted. "Japan is by no means indifferent to international coöperation, but the Chinese-Japanese difficulties can be solved only through direct negotiations of the two powers, on whom falls the common burden of responsibility for the stability of East Asia.

"It is Japan's sincere wish to witness material and spiritual advancement in the Chinese nation. It is her desire to promote cultural and economic coöperation with foreign powers regarding China. She will respect their rights and interests there."

The statement concluded by declaring that only when world powers take suitable steps to make the Nanking government reconsider its attitude toward Japan will the way be paved for settlement of the present conflict.

JAPS KILL 10,000 CHINESE IN 3 DAY MOUNTAIN FIGHT

Walled City Taken in Shansi Province.

PEIPING, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Japan's North China army tonight reported that three mechanized columns had thrust their way through Niangtzekwan pass after a battle in which at least 10,000 Chinese were slain. The army announced it had captured Pingting, important city in Shansi province.

Japanese said the victory brought their troops, advancing along the Cheng-tai railroad from Hopei province, to within sixty-five miles of Taiquanfu, capital of Shansi.

The fall of Pingting ended three days of hard fighting along a twenty mile front in the Tassingham mountains. The troops were shrouded in heavy fogs as they fought forward over the steep ridges and through the narrow defiles of the mountain range.

Pursue Fleeing Chinese.

In contrast to the mountainous terrain, Pingting lies on a flat plain, rich with coal and iron mines, across which the Japanese said they expected to be able to drive quickly to the capital.

After breaching the thick walls of Pingting, the vanguard of the advancing Japanese columns was reported to have pressed on after fleeing Chinese soldiers. Japanese spokesmen said the losses of their own troops were negligible.

The whereabouts of Miss Jessie Payne of Vermilion, S. D., a Presbyterian missionary, caused concern. She was last reported in Pingting but was believed to have evacuated before the city fell to the Japanese.

"Chinese to Have Final Say."

Maj. Gen. Seiichi Kita, chief of Japanese military missions in China, who has been handling political affairs in North China, said: "Whatever government is established in North China will be founded only upon the real desires of the Chinese people."

In the million dollar building that formerly housed China's foreign office here, Kita said the new government would concern only North China at first but might take in the whole nation later if that should become possible.

It was reported the Japanese still were unable to persuade Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, former Chinese war lord, to head the proposed régime.

WAR OFFICE IN TOKIO PLACES CASUALTIES IN CHINA AT 9,640 DEAD

TOKIO, Oct. 28 [Thursday].—(AP)—The Japanese war office today officially placed Japanese casualties in the war with China at 9,640 slain as of Oct. 24. No figures for wounded were given.

Officials said their records showed that 5,173 soldiers had been killed on the Shanghai front and that the campaign in North China had cost 4,467 lives.

The war office also estimated total Chinese losses on all fronts in the conflict had reached 425,000, with 25,000 dead around Shanghai. It was estimated Japan's recent big push at Shanghai had cost the Chinese 100,000 more casualties.

100,000 FASCIST TROOPS REPEAT MARCH ON ROME

15th Anniversary Fete to Be Led by Duce.

ROME, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Italy tomorrow will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome with the greatest fanfare Premier Benito Mussolini yet has mustered for the occasion.

The bulk of a Black Shirt army of 100,000 which will take part in the celebration was encamped on Rome's outskirts tonight, having symbolically repeated by train and truck the famous march which culminated in the peaceful Fascist occupation of the city Oct. 28, 1922.

Their "march" followed the lines taken by the quadrumvirate of those days—Marshal Italo Balbo, now governor of Libya; Count de Vecchi, governor of the Dodecanese islands; Marshal Emilio de Bono, leader of the first advance in the Italo-Ethiopian war, and the late Michele Bianchi.

Nazi Leaders to Attend.

The opening of year sixteen of the Fascist era will be used as another occasion to demonstrate what is called the "granite-like solidity" of Italo-German friendship.

A delegation of high Nazis arrived here today, headed by Rudolf Hess, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's general representative and German minister without portfolio, and Victor Lutze, chief of staf of the storm troops in Germany.

They were greeted upon arrival by militia detachments. Decorations included entwined Fascist and Nazi flags. They began their visit by seeing King Vittorio Emanuele.

Praise Duce's Achievements.

Mussolini's achievements were lauded by press and radio with emphasis on Italy's increased world prestige.

One comment was:

"From Addis Ababa to Bilbao, from Geneva to London and Berlin marches the trail of Italy's constructive work."

Another said:

"He [Mussolini] has conquered new positions and affirmed an indomitable will to revitalize the old European world in which old democratic empires ruled by an uncontrolable domination without opposition."

The premier's assertion that "Europe will go Fascist not because of propaganda but by force of reason" was repeated often.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE GUN A GIFT FROM J. EDGAR HOOVER

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The person who recently sent Shirley Temple a machine gun was identified today as J. Edgar Hoover, the nation's number one G-man.

The weapon clatters and shoots sparks but that is all, because it's a toy.

Hoover shipped the gun to the little Hollywood star, it was explained, in fulfilment of a promise made at the film colony Sept. 14 when Shirley made Hoover a member of the "Shirley Temple police." Her acceptance letter, which she wrote herself, was address "to Chief Hoover from Chief Temple." It assured Hoover that Shirley already had "shot everybody on the lot."

Meanwhile Shirley has been given a new hairdress that may become popular with other children. The famous golden curls are brushed back behind the ears. It is the first time her hairdress has been changed.

PARTY COSTS $25

MRS. BERNICE GLAVE.

Judge John V. McCormick in Women's court yesterday fined Mrs. Bernice Glave, 31 years old, owner of a beauty parlor at 3944 Fullerton avenue, $25 for disorderly conduct after four policemen accused her of kicking their shins in a scuffle in her shop early in the day. The policemen were trying to find out who broke the glass in the beauty parlor door. Mrs. Glave charged that the policemen broke the glass, but Harold Wolfe, 37 years old, an engineer at the Chicago avenue water tower, admitted he broke it while trying to enter the shop to wait for Mrs. Glave's return from a party of which he had grown tired. Wolfe paid a $2 fine and costs of $2 for disorderly conduct.

to sell out the United States and the league of nations in order to make a private deal with Japan might prove embarrassing.

There is serious reason to believe that the American delegation will insist on going into the whole far eastern question and that the ultimate goal is a brand new nine power pact.

There also is serious reason to believe that if the conference breaks down America will take certain steps to protect her interests against further Japanese expansion. These steps would include not only intensification of naval armaments but fortification of strategic bases in the Pacific which, it was agreed at the Washington conference, were not to be fortified.

Thus, if the Brussels conference does nothing else it might at least serve to free the United States from treaty obligations toward Japan. Obviously this is a kind of indirect penalty which may give the Japanese something to think about.

Eden to Head British.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons today that he will head the British delegation at the nine power conference at Brussels. It appears the conference may develop into substitute league of nations into which Germany and Russia will be brought.

Called ostensibly to discuss the Chinese-Japanese war, the parley will provide a long sought chance for personal contacts between foreign powers.

It was indicated that Germany, which has big economic interests in China, is ready to send a delegation headed by Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath if the Nazis are asked to sit in. Soviet Russia also wants to be invited.

7,000 FT. WAYNE CITIZENS ENROLL IN SYPHILIS WAR

Organize League to Fight Venereal Disease.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Business and civic leaders of this city are conducting an intensive educational campaign to stamp out syphilis and gonorrhea. With the support of Mayor Harry W. Beaals, a League Against Venereal Disease has been organized and today the membership numbers more than 7,000 citizens.

Dr. Karl C. Eberly, secretary and director of the city's public health department pointed out that in the past slight attention was paid to the usual laws applicable to venereal diseases, but in the campaign, which began last February, citizens have become educated to the symptoms, treatment, and control of the diseases through newspaper publicity, radio talks, and public massmeetings.

Ten Points Emphasized.

The educational program emphasizes ten points:

1. No one is too nice to have syphilis and few cases are so bad that some relief cannot be given.

2. Syphilis is acute, contagious, and infectious and comes under the jurisdiction of the board of health.

3. Early syphilis is easily recognized by a simple test and treatment is specific and certain and available to all.

4. Syphilis is a disease of youth and ignorance and it is the community's fault if young persons contract it.

5. Syphilis is one of the most common causes of miscarriages, still births, and malformed children.

6. More men and women are sterilized by venereal disease than by any other means.

Blood Test Advocated.

7. A blood test is advocated for every one, particularly couples who anticipate marriage and expectant mothers.

8. Syphilis is the most complicated of all diseases and it is capable of producing every symptom known to medical science.

9. Haphazard diagnosis and self-treatment constitute two of the most serious stumbling blocks to the control of venereal diseases.

10. Since venereal diseases involve so many persons, obviously they become a community problem and must be met and solved by coöperation of every citizen.

29 PHYSICIANS SEEK STANDARD TREATMENT IN DRIVE ON SYPHILIS

A committee of 29 physicians met yesterday in the office of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, to discuss a standard method of treatment in the current campaign against syphilis.

Standardization of treatments in clinics and private practice, and of records were questions assigned to subcommittees. A subcommittee will also coöperate with social service workers on Mayor Kelly's committee for the control of venereal disease to set up a system of investigating sources of the disease.

The question of when a person who has been treated for syphilis may safely marry was also referred to a small group for immediate study. Dr. E. A. Skolnik was chairman of the conference.

RELIEF DEADENS FAMILY CONCERN FOR POOR COUSINS

Attitude on Pauperism Changes in Five Years.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

People don't help their poor relatives as they used to. Before government relief was provided in a wholesale fashion, the family did everything possible to keep Cousin Nelly from going to the county poor farm. The family couldn't stand the disgrace of having one of its members branded a pauper.

Now the family views the Chicago relief administration aid as entirely different from poor farm pauperism. Relief merely is a temporary matter to take care of unemployment, instead of being pauperism, is the family sees it. Relatives feel no shame if Cousin Nelly gets relief.

Laws Prescribe Care.

The change in attitude has come about during the last five years, according to heads of private and public welfare agencies interviewed as a part of the relief survey conducted by THE TRIBUNE during the last six weeks.

State pauper laws require an individual to care for descendants down to his grandchildren, ancestors back to grandparents, and his or her brothers and sisters. How many unemployed have relatives who are obeying this law?

"There isn't any way to answer the question," said Leo M. Lyons, head of the Chicago Relief administration [CRA]. "If a poor person is receiving aid from relatives, that person does not come to the relief authorities for help."

Lyons and Joel Hunter, head of the United Charities, a private charity organization, agreed that people with means now are less inclined to support poor relatives than they were before the present mass relief scheme. Both added that local community organizations are doing less than they did seven years ago to aid the poor in their immediate areas.

Agencies Seek Relatives.

Heads of relief organizations, both public and private, declared that every effort is made by workers in private and public agencies to find relatives who can support persons applying for relief. How much of this effort is rewarded, Lyons said, cannot be determined, because no records are kept of the number of persons who apply for relief and are advised to go to relatives for aid.

"The major portion of the relief load is made up of people who never attain a very high economic level when working in private industry," Hunter said. "In most cases relatives and friends of these people are of the same economic level and have little or nothing to spare beyond their own needs."

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

TO REMEMBER US BY

By CALEB

IN the surf at Miami Beach I overheard a woman remark to a companion, "When we were in the hotel business we bought most all of our supplies from Marshall Field & Company. We liked to be able to tell our customers that we used the best quality merchandise we could buy.".

A man we know was on an escalator ascending from the tube to Piccadilly Square in London. A fine looking gentleman—stranger—just ahead of him said to his wife, "These don't compare with the escalators we liked so well at Marshall Field's, do they?"

These two incidents are among many of which we are told indicating things for which we are remembered.

One aged lady of our acquaintance never discusses Marshall Field & Company without telling of an umbrella bought here which she carried for over forty years. She was heartbroken when it was stolen despite the fact that a percentage of umbrellas are reputed to be stolen much earlier.

Another interesting story is one written to me by a mother who says that in the springtime a few years ago, she and her husband were purchasing clothes for their five-year-old son. They were told that a real Indian was visiting in our basement boys' section for the entertainment of our small guests. Her son, Paul, was entranced watching the "Injun" and hearing his tom-tom. Maple saplings were being given to boys, and as the hour was near closing time, this boy was given several. The parents were quite dubious about the five sticks they had, and hardly thought they would thrive. However, they kept them in their apartment until they could go to their summer cottage in Michigan some weeks later.

"Now Paul proudly shows everyone the five husky young maple trees which are taller than himself, and are his very own." she says.

"Every spring as we return to the cottage his first concern is how the trees are growing, and he exclaims that when he is a man like daddy, the trees will be big and he can sit in their shade."

Rather pleasant for a store to be remembered by a shade tree!

SEEK TO PUT SEX CRIMINALS BACK OF BARS FOR LIFE

Aim Draft Law at Mental Defectives.

Life imprisonment for incurable psychopathic persons of sexually criminal tendencies, even before they commit crimes, is provided in a state law proposed yesterday by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and eleven leading alienists.

The committee, appointed several months ago by Mr. Courtney when a series of sex crimes aroused club women to demand more stringent laws and stricter enforcement of existing laws, agreed on a procedure which they believe will aid materially in ending sex crimes if the legislature will enact the program into law.

Legislative Action Urged.

The proposed law, with a twenty-one page report by the committee of alienists, was sent to Gov. Horner with a request that he include it as a subject for legislative action when and if he calls a special session. State's Attorney Courtney said he would go to Springfield to lobby for passage of such a bill if it is offered.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said the dominant feature of the program is the control of sex fiends before they commit murder or rape. A sex psychopath, as the committee designates such persons, would be imprisoned until a jury pronounces him cured.

Mental State Described.

A sex psychopath does not have to be feebleminded or insane to come within the scope of the proposed act. He need only suffer from a mental disorder to be liable for prosecution which upon conviction would call for his dentention in the psychiatric division of the penitentiary at Menard or in the Illinois Security hospital at Chester.

The definition of a criminal sexual psychopath is described in the first paragraph of the contemplated law as follows:

"All persons suffering from a mental disorder, and not insane or feebleminded, which mental disorder has existed for a period of not less than one year, coupled with criminal propensities to the commission of sex offenses, are hereby declared to be criminal sexual psychopathic persons."

How Law Would Work.

Following are other provisions of the proposed law:

1. Jurisdiction of such cases would be vested with the Circuit courts outside of Cook county and in the Criminal courts, the County courts and the Municipal courts in Chicago. This would allow the prosecutors to take such cases into various branches of the courts and would not clog any one branch.

2. Prosecution would be started by petition by the attorney general, state's attorney or any other peace officer, by the filing with the clerk of the court of a written petition stating the facts. With the filing of such a petition, the court would appoint two qualified psychiatrists to examine the suspect and make a report in writing to the court.

3. Before trial on any charge of a criminal offense, a jury would hear evidence by which the prosecution hopes to confine the defendant in the hospital. At that hearing, evidence concerning any previous convictions for crime would be admissible. If the jury should find against the defendant, he would be committed to a prison hospital until fully recovered.

4. Discharge after commitment under the act could be accomplished only by application to the committing court which would impanel a new jury to hear the case. This provision would eliminate the possibility of pardon or parole. Should the person win discharge he still could be tried on the criminal charge which led to the original commitment.

Alienists on Committee.

SHOOT BANDIT

Detectives William Ianson (left) and Henry W. Engstrom of Evanston examining gun and blackjack of John De Lorenzo after latter had been shot by Engstrom following robbery of Evanshire hotel.

Mrs. William M. Mason, hotel guest, who was menaced by bandit's gun.

Chicago police said last night that John De Lorenzo, an ex-convict, who was shot and critically wounded by an Evanston detective after robbing a suburban hotel early yesterday, is the robber who killed Walter O'Leary, 64, night clerk in the Kenwood hotel, 4700 Kenwood avenue, on June 2. O'Leary was shot resisting the bandit.

John De Lorenzo.

Detectives Henry Engstrom and William Ianson, notified by an alarm system, found De Lorenzo two blocks from the Evanshire hotel, 860 Hinman avenue, Evanston, after he menaced three employés and Mrs. William M. Mason, a woman guest, and stole $75. When De Lorenzo threatened to shoot Engstrom drew his own gun and shot him three times.

De Lorenzo was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for grand larceny April 19, 1927, and was paroled in June, 1930. Last year he was returned as a parole violator and served several months before being freed.

MICHIGAN'S LAW CHIEF DEMANDS WAR ON RAPISTS

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Raymond W. Starr, attorney general, today attacked official leniency toward sex offenders, especially those involved in crimes against young children. He pledged vigorous prosecution of all such cases.

"Alarmed by the number of protests" he has received, the attorney general said he is instructing prosecutors to bring the gravest charge possible in such cases, without jeopardizing the chances of conviction.

The attorney general cited two instances in which he considered there had been a flagrant miscarriage of justice. An attacker of a 6 year old girl, who had infected his victim with a venereal disease, had been permited, Starr said, to plead guilty to a statutory rape charge and had been given a short sentence. The other case, he said, was that of a 12 year old girl, raped by four men. They also were allowed to enter guilty pleas on statutory rape charges and each received only 60 days in jail.

Vote to Absolve Oak Park Doctor in Abortion Death

The grand jury yesterday was reported to have exonerated Dr. C. Harold Edmunds, 48 years old, 404 South Austin avenue, Oak Park, from responsibility in the abortion death of Phyllis Brown, 15 years old, 443 North Longcommon road, Riverside. The girl died Sept. 11 in Grant hospital and in a deathbed statement stated Dr. Edmunds had performed an abortion on her. However, the dying declaration was not in legal form, Assistant State's Attorney Ben Nelson said. A no bill also was voted in the case of Marie Trampush, the doctor's secretary, held as an accessory.

STATE'S ATTORNEY'S OFFICE RE-ENTERS ROSS KIDNAPING CASE

While federal agents yesterday carried on their painstaking search for the numbered bills that made up the $50,000 ransom for the kidnaped Charles S. Ross, policemen of the state's attorney's office announced that they would reenter the investigation.

Mrs. T. L. Flanagan.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of the prosecutor's forces, ordered his first assistant, Lieut. Thomas Kelly, to question William Gegenwarth of 5043 South Western avenue, who has disclosed that he was engaged as a motorcycle messenger by Edmund S. Cummings Jr., attorney for Mrs. Ross.

Miss Florence Freihage, Ross' former secretary, who was with him when he was seized by his captors in Wolf road near the Westward Ho golf course on Sept. 25, is also to be questioned again, according to Lieut. Kelly.

Reports were current yesterday that J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, would come to Chicago soon to take personal charge of the Ross case.

The G-men yesterday had possession of the third $10 bill from the ransom. It was turned in by Thomas L. Flanagan, a steel worker, who obtained it when he cashed a check in the Union National bank at Indiana Harbor.

HAMILTON HERE; EXPECTS ACTION ON G. O. P. POLICY

National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of Kansas said yesterday he expected the Republican National committee at its meeting here Nov. 5 to authorize action looking toward a declaration of G. O. P. principles. The declaration would be made at a conference or convention or, possibly, at a great national rally.

During a few hours' stopover between Topeka and Washington, Mr. Hamilton discussed party affairs with George F. Harding, the Illinois member of the national committee, C. B. Goodspeed, treasurer of that body, and others.

DEATH DECREED FOR 'BAD MAN' IN FATAL SHOOTING

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—A Letcher county jury here today gave Troy Triplett, 32 years old, alleged bad man of the mountains, the death penalty for the slaying of Dolph Hall, 26, at Kona Station last July 15.

Triplett is alleged to have shot Hall through the head while he prayed to be spared. After the victim fell Triplett fired several more shots into Hall's prostrate form. At the same time John Henry Addington was put to rout and was grazed several times with shots. The mule he rode was killed from under him. Homer Rose, Triplett's accomplice, was given a life sentence.

Triplett was transferred to the Harlan jail when excitement spread, but escaped from there Oct. 1. He returned and was apprehended last Friday near the scene of the crime. In 1932 he is alleged to have shot and killed Mose Webb, lumberman, near Jenkins. He escaped conviction there, however.

FALL BLAMED IN MAN'S DEATH.

An unidentified man about 65 years old, who was found unconscious in front of 908 Maxwell street, died in the County hospital yesterday. Death was due to a fractured skull apparently incurred in a fall on the sidewalk.

TELLS OF JUDGE'S AID IN SHANAHAN ESTATE BATTLE

Claims Marriage Advised by Late Edward Shurtleff.

The name of the late Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo, who died Dec. 14, 1936, was injected yesterday into the court battle for the $850,000 estate of David E. Shanahan, dean of the Illinois legislature. A witness testified that Judge Shurtleff advised Miss Helen Troesch, Shanahan's secretary, to marry the legislator to get a share of his fortune, and that the judge then helped arrange for a priest to perform the ceremony.

Shanahan and Miss Troesch were married on Oct. 5, 1936, as the legislator lay on his death bed in Mercy hospital. In a will of that date he left his estate to his bride. Two cousins of Shanahan, Misses Mary and Margaret Flynn, are contesting the will and seeking to invalidate the marriage in a suit being heard before a jury in Judge Michael Feinberg's court. They seek to show that Shanahan was mentally incompetent at the time of the marriage and the execution of the will.

Witness Is Attorney.

The witness who brought Judge Shurtleff's name into the evidence is Attorney James G. Sheridan, 2830 Greenleaf avenue. He said that until recently he was Mrs. Shanahan's attorney, and that before the marriage he had her confidence and that of two others who, he now charges, were involved in a conspiracy to obtain the estate. The others, who have also been named in previous testimony in the case, are Robert E. Rodgers, real estate man who had been a political friend of Shanahan, and the day nurse, Miss Mildred Spiering, who attended Shanahan in the hospital.

Sheridan told the jury that on Aug. 23, 1936, Rodgers informed him Judge Shurtleff, who had just visited Shanahan in the hospital, advised Miss Troesch to marry the legislator, for whom she was a secretary 20 years.

Two Wills Drafted.

Sheridan said he then drafted two wills, one conveying Shanahan's property to Miss Troesch in her maiden name and the other naming her sole heir as widow. Rodgers obtained the marriage license.

"On Sept. 10, Helen, Rodgers and I went to visit Judge Shurtleff," Sheridan continued. "Helen told him they were having trouble getting a priest and the judge said he would talk to the bishop at Rockford."

Sheridan then testified that on Oct. 1 Rodgers told him Father Joseph A. Moloney, assistant pastor of St. Bridget's Roman Catholic church, 2950 Archer avenue, had agreed to marry Shanahan and his secretary.

The marriage was performed on Oct. 5 and Shanahan died on Oct. 18.

Paid $5,000 by Widow.

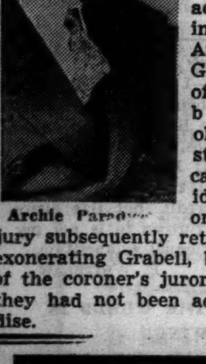
On cross-examination by Attorney Irwin N. Walker, counsel for the widow, Sheridan said she had paid him $5,000 for his service in representing her as executrix of the estate.

"Did you ever tell me about all that you have testified?" asked Attorney Walker.

"I told you everything when I gave you the papers of the estate when you became her attorney," Sheridan replied.

Eugene P. Kealy, counsel for the Flynn sisters, then announced that his testimony and evidence was completed.

CORONER'S EX-AID FREED BY JURY ON BRIBE CHARGE



Archie Paradise

After deliberating twenty-five minutes, a jury in Criminal court yesterday found Archie Paradise, 42 years old, discharged deputy coroner, not guilty of accepting a $100 bribe to fix an inquest verdict.

Paradise was accused of taking the $100 from Attorney William Gleason in behalf of Arthur Grabell, 20 years old, 1910 Bissell street, whose car killed an unidentified man on Jan. 19. The jury subsequently returned a verdict exonerating Grabell, but questioning of the coroner's jurors revealed that they had not been advised by Paradise.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Leopold McLaglen, brother of Victor McLaglen, the screen star, was booked at the county jail today for an alleged "shakedown" of an $8,000 bonus from Philip Chancellor, young millionaire, formerly of Chicago.

Chancellor, who worked as a reporter at the Chicago City News Bureau several years ago, said he hired McLaglen to supply material for a book he was writing on espionage. He declared that McLaglen failed to produce useful data.

McLaglen was arrested last night after what Inspector William Penprase said was a six weeks' investigation requested by Chancellor. McLaglen, who denied any guilt in the matter, was booked on charges of suspicion of solicitation of the commission of a crime and suspicion of subornation of perjury.

3D FLOOR FALLS INTO BASEMENT; 2 KILLED, 15 HURT

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Two persons were killed and fifteen were injured today when the third floor of the three story Morris Fruit Company building collapsed, plunging them into the basement.

The dead were Max Zelickson, a salesman for the Morris company, and Anna Olson, another employé. None of the injured was in a serious condition. These included Charles Reinkall, produce buyer of Superior, Wis., who incurred leg injuries.

The building is located in the market area, scene of the bloody truck strikes of two years ago. Office workers, most of them on a balcony between the first and second floors, were at their desks when the crash occurred.

Zelickson was trapped on a stairway. Although he had been heard to cry out shortly after the collapse, he was dead when rescue squads reached him. A drain pipe was pressed tightly across his throat.

ONEIDA COUNTY JOINS FIGHT TO PROTECT DEER

Madison, Wis., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Oneida county has joined the open revolt started in Vilas county last week against an open deer season in Wisconsin this fall, it was learned today. Gov. Phil La Follette has ordered a three day season from Nov. 26 to 28 inclusive, the states' first successive deer season in thirteen years.

Opposition in Oneida county rapidly is being organized along the lines of action taken in Vilas county. Land controled by the county because of delinquent taxes is to be posted against trespassing, special deputies are to be hired, and private landowners will be urged to prevent trespassing.

Oneida county officials dispute the statements of state officers that there is such a plentiful supply of deer in the north woods that they are in danger of starving. Residents for forty-three years in the county said they never had seen a starved deer and that there are very few mature bucks in the woods.

THE UNITED STATES IN THE AFFAIRS OF EUROPE.

There has been some more piracy in the Mediterranean. This time an airplane sank a French submarine chaser which was on duty to prevent pirate submarines from sinking merchantmen. Italians, as usual, are held responsible although the plane was unidentified. Also a French freighter was sunk and the French are aroused.

There was a conference at Nyon to stop this piracy, as it is called, and although Italy was a difficult participant the powers thought they had the ghost laid. Apparently it is loose again. There is a conference at London trying to get the fighting foreigners out of the Spanish war, one is to be held at Brussels to persuade Japan it is doing China wrong, and now the Mediterranean is boiling again.

It would seem that the righteous and peaceable nations are indeed imposed upon by aggressors outraging customary morals and all established rules of international behavior, but it would be good advice, especially to American representatives at the Brussels meeting, when held, not to make their collars wilt by getting too hot under them.

These conferences require a coming in with clean hands. A show of hands on the table would suggest at least moderation on the part of the indignant. Some have stains on them and it does not altogether serve to say that times have changed when apparently they have not. Only the actors are different.

If there is piracy in the Mediterranean disturbing Great Britain and France, possibly the British would explain what terms should have been applied to the operations of British built commerce destroyers, with British crews, which nearly swept American merchantmen and whalers off the sea during our civil war. The guilt was acknowledged in an inadequate money payment. That damage was devastating whereas the Mediterranean piracy has been only exasperating.

Several nations are fighting in Spain seeking varieties of self-interest, such as territory, trade, and national glorification. France was in Mexico doing the same thing when the United States was so preoccupied with its own war that it had to allow the Monroe Doctrin to fall into abeyance.

When Mussolini went into Africa he disturbed an equilibrium of conquest which had permitted the part he took to remain as about the only African free soil left for the Africans. The morally protesting countries were all about him in their own possessions and he was a bandit because he was taking his and slipping in alongside them.

The Japanese are severely censured because in dropping bombs and throwing shells they are endangering European possessions and European and American military forces. The possessions represent acquisitions by European powers in China the like of which are not, it may be said, to be found in Europe or the United States.

It might not be pleasant to the occidental moral sense to examine too closely how and why these bits of Chinese territory were obtained to be endangered by another foreign power edging its way in by force of arms. There are no Chinese gunboats on American rivers but there are American gunboats on Chinese rivers. There is an American army and marine force in China, dodging shells ostensibly intended for Chinese military posts.

Moralizing, if it is to be the order of the day, must ignore a great many happenings when the marching shoes were on other feet. When the United States decided that its national interests required a canal connecting the Atlantic and the Pacific and also decided that the canal should be built across the Isthmus of Panama, it had no scruple whatever in conniving with a revolution which tore away a large section of Colombian territory and in intervening with its forces in such a way as to make it impossible for the government of Colombia to attack its rebels and regain its territory. We said the Colombian government was venal and the great enterprise had to progress, even if the rascals had to be forcibly treated. Much later some conscience money was paid over in an effort to assuage the Colombian resentment.

Italy confesses that 40,000 Italian troops are in Spain for reasons which are sufficient to the Italian government. That number, for the purpose in hand, compares fairly well with the 6,000 French troops in America in our revolution to see that we won it, or it may compare with the Brunswick and Hessian troops which were here to see that we didn't. Even Spain took a hand in that affair and spread itself from Florida to Michigan.

The point is that it is not perceivable just how the holier than thou attitude will serve any American purpose in European conferences or complications. We couldn't make out a fair case for the morality of our European friends of the moment, and the case against Mr. Roosevelt's bandit nations, if spread over sufficient space and time, has something of a universal application. It would seem in such international affairs that doing right and doing wrong are largely determined by the time, place, and persons. It is the traditional policy of the American people, in spite of deviations and derelictions at times on the part of their government, to remain at peace so long as they are permitted to do so and so long as their own welfare is not threatened. Thus they have avoided a lot of trouble and considered themselves especially fortunate.

When President Wilson as a probable world figure of the greatest importance in history allowed his ambition to lead him away from the sound principle of American tradition the people lost heavily in life and in national expenditure, losses which laid the groundwork for the present depression.

We don't want it to happen again.

CONTROL BY CROOKS.

Thomas E. Dewey, New York's special prosecutor whose work in breaking up serpentine racket rings gave him a national reputation, is Republican candidate for district attorney for New York county. The election is next week, when New York elects a mayor. La Guardia heads the Republican ticket.

Dewey has already done what nobody else, not only in gang ridden New York but within the entire sweep of the smug eastern seaboard, has been willing or able to do or has had the courage to try. He has broken up several of the worst gangs in the country; he has obtained convictions; he has sent leaders to prison; he has given the victims of extortion a glimpse of freedom; he has relieved the consumers of the burden of crime they were carrying in the prices they paid, and he has been able to do so because he got the evidence.

As a candidate he is now making a detailed exposure of the interlocking directorate of politics and criminality. He names the persons who give the protection of government to the gangsters, and he is submitting to the people of New York county the details and the specifications of how they have been governed, abused, and endangered by a combination of men in public office and men who ought to be in the clothes of convicts.

A sample of Mr. Dewey's exposition should be of interest in a much wider area in the east than that of the voters to which it was addressed. "Tonight," said Mr. Dewey in one of his recent talks, "I am going to talk about the alliance of crime and politics in the county of New York. I am going to tell you about a politician, a political ally of thieves, pickpockets, thugs, dope peddlers, and big shot racketeers. Albert Marinelli, county clerk of New York county, powerful leader of half the Second assembly district, dominates the whole. He obtained power by sitting in the dark and keeping his mouth shut."

More than a score of Marinelli's county committeemen, said Mr. Dewey, had police records, and many of the election inspectors who would count the vote were men with a personal history in the files at police headquarters.

Dewey is a marked man because of his attack upon the vitals of political corruption in New York. What he is doing is dangerous, but until it has been done there will be no cure of the great disease of which American government is very sick. La Guardia never did anything to help the citizens who were the prey of gangsters and the politicians.

La Guardia, in fact, represents what is wrong with the American political and governmental system. The swagger of the pretentious liberals and radicals, making politics a system of class antagonisms, has chiefly drawn public attention from real wrongs to fancied ones and has been a benefit only to the loud mouthed demagog. It has been a long time since the people were so diverted from what is actually wrong with them by so much hot air and claptrap.

New York, because it is the largest city, is probably the worst spot in the country, but the entire east has a bad record underneath its smugness and conceit. The Rhode Island dictatorship with its war of gangsters, gamblers, and kidnapers affords only one entry. The New Jersey sandhog case, in which graft, murder, and immunity proved the collusion of politics with thugs and slayers, still leaves unpunished the murderers of a union official who fought the crooks. The acquittal of the Drennan woman, the woman in red, shows what has happened to juries. The acquittal of the Hollywood golfer by a jury in a New York court provoked a rebuke from the judge, but that couldn't alter the verdict.

If New York county elects Thomas Dewey as district attorney it will be a sign that the people are eager to correct the conditions the criminal elements in politics and government impose upon them if some able and stout hearted man will show them how to do it. The east had better listen to Dewey and snap out of its complacency before even more terrible things happen to the people of those regions.

Editorial of the Day

NOT SO SIMPLE.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Just before he sailed back to his post in London, Ambassador Robert W. Bingham contributed his view of the cause of the recent break in the stock market. Mr. Bingham said that the decline was "forced upon the country by the bankers and brokers in New York City and throughout the rest of the country." The means by which the bankers and brokers conspired to lose money was criticism of the national administration, in particular the unbalanced budget. "I think they brought all of this on themselves," concluded Mr. Bingham.

This would appear to mean that Mr. Bingham subscribes to the Couéism of the New Era which regarded disclosure of unpleasant facts as far more heinous than responsibility for the facts themselves. If the budget were a little closer to balance the bankers and brokers would have had a harder time talking the stock market into collapse than they have actually had. But Mr. Bingham, if we get the idea, thinks that everything would have been all right if only bankers would stop criticizing extravagance in government, just as Mr. Hoover used to believe that the horrors of 1929 to 1932 could be averted if business men would improve their psychology.

Obviously it is rather silly to blame Mr. Roosevelt exclusively for a decline in the prices of industrial shares, but to conclude that share prices would have remained high if nobody had criticized Mr. Roosevelt is a great deal sillier.

WHAT PLACE?

Mr. Brown was sitting down to breakfast one morning when he was astounded to see in the paper an announcement of his death. He rang up his friend Smith.

"Hello, Smith," he said, "have you seen the announcement of my death in the paper?"

"Er—yes," replied Smith. "Where are you talking from?"—Weekly News, Auckland, N. Z.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

TODAY WE TAKE YOU to Rush street, where you may dine in the French, Italian, Swedish, Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, and perhaps the pirate manner. If you will include all Rush street's glamorous environs in your picture we can add the British, Hungarian, and Wild West, and throw in a troubadour or two to play the mandolin at your table. We walked past the new Swedish restaurant in the latest and once the most fashionable of the Rush street mansions now serving as night clubs or restaurants, stopped a moment in an old house remodeled like a ship to admire the pirate pictures and the marines, and then strolled into a Japanese restaurant.

It was really a typographical error that captured us. Mrs. Shintani spells it Sintani on the yellow lantern in front and uses the H on her door. We thought it would be fun finding out; the H should be there, and a curse upon all the sign painter's ancestors. Well, there is a Mrs. Shintani. Her daughter, Masami, led us to a table and made the sukiyaki on a little gas burner that she put on a red and black lackered stand almost under our nose. She brought slices of beef, and bamboo sprouts, and water chestnuts, and green onions, and mushrooms, and went to work as soon as the skillet was hot.

Sukiyaki isn't a ceremonial dish, as we had been told, but is what a Japanese family in moderate means would have as a treat on Sunday evening. Meat's too expensive over there to eat every day, Masami said. We asked her where they get the seaweed for the soup, and the things they use in the sukiyaki, and what do you think? They buy them from a Japanese who buys them down in Chinatown. No use letting the war interfere with business. Masami said very little's being shipped from China now, so that prices have doubled. Her rose dress was plainly marked "Martha" on the pocket. She smiled about that. There were three Masamis in her class at school. "To avoid confusion," she explained (Masami could polish up most of the diners' English), "I adopted Martha." Masami was educated in this country. She's a genuine and loyal Chicagoan now, who can tell you that the Japanese gardens in Jackson park are perfect reproductions of those in Japan, and that there's nothing in San Francisco can touch them.

Seaweed soup is good. Sukiyaki's not quite up to ham and eggs, to an old ham-and-egger, but it's worth the money to see them make it, and not at all like chop suey, as Masami will tell you with a raised eyebrow. You might like the rice cakes. We didn't. The fortunes inside the big ones are entertaining.

Mrs. Shintani's place is an old house, but not a mansion of the era when the first families lived on Rush street. The woodwork's red and black. The Japanese lantern hanging from the ceiling, and the lantern-style wall lamps, give it a gay touch. The fireplace looks very Japanese indeed; it's rather too bad to tell you that its lackered slide door hides only Mrs. Shintani's store of electric light bulbs. Japanese who eat there use chopsticks and call for Japanese newspapers. Most charming of all the things Mrs. Shintani has to sell are the Japanese dolls in 1937 American skiing costumes. Because we'd always heard that the Japanese gave you all your food that you didn't eat to take home in a paper bag we felt a trifle disappointed on leaving. Then we remembered. We ate it all.

WE SHALL WALK TOGETHER.

We shall walk together, though
Our paths may never meet—
For love can bridge a chasm far
Too wide for human feet.

Enough, then, that our narrow paths
Run parallel—our ways
Go ever out and onward through Succeeding days.

We shall walk together, dear,
And smile across the cleft;
Nor ever know where joy began—

INFECTIONS SURRENDER TO HEAT.

WHENEVER we use heat—wet or dry—for the relief of pain we hark back to one of the most fundamental healing agents. In the presence of infection, with its attending inflammation, tissues recover through the destruction of the invading bacteria.

Organisms must be eliminated completely and the weapons used by the body are the white blood cells. This means that these warriors must be ready to wander through the walls of the capillaries and give battle to their ancient foes, the microbes. The reason that all inflammation does not give ground is either that there are not enough soldiers [leucocytes] or that they do not arrive at the battlefront promptly.

It long has been known that if an inflamed part can be bathed or soaked in hot water, germs will be overwhelmed by the very force of the leucocytic onslaught. Without heat only a thin skirmish line made up of stragglers will engage the enemy.

For the last few years physicians have been able to combat successfully inflammation of the pelvic organs in women. In this way, conditions which have been responsible for no small amount of invalidism—sometimes lasting for years—have been relieved. Why is this? Because bacteria are occasionally harbored in the deep recesses of tiny glands where no chemical or antiseptic can reach them. Furthermore, no surgical procedure will rout them out.

Little more than a decade ago the late George Gellhorn of St. Louis discovered that the tissues in this region of the body could endure a greater heat than the skin. In other words, he was able to raise the temperature of irrigating solutions to 110 degrees Fahrenheit with beneficial results. Under this type of treatment inflammatory processes receded rapidly and deeply entrenched infections—hitherto indifferent to all forms of treatment—succumbed.

Some years later another investigator, Charles R. Elliott, confirmed Gellhorn's conclusions and found that by allowing water to flow through a rubber jacket he could raise the temperature still higher. Using an ingenious electrical device, accurately controled, water was pumped through a rubber sack which was placed in contact with the diseased structure. The reading at the outset was 115 degrees Fahrenheit. This was increased three-fourths of a degree per minute until the mercury reached 128 to 130 degrees. It was held at this level from thirty minutes to an hour.

The advantages should be obvious. Infections in this area are so likely to break down general health and disturb the nervous system or even invade the abdominal cavity with resulting peritonitis, that any method likely to be remedial is welcomed.

It goes without saying that the patient must be expertly treated and the apparatus must be in perfect working order. It is particularly valuable with older persons whose tissues are less resilient, poorly supplied with blood, and hence less likely to heal. The heat penetrates for quite some distance and brings such generous quantities of blood to the parts that recovery invariably follows. There is scarcely any sort of infection which is not helped. The patient should get as much rest as possible, using a diet that is easily digested and which will not prove constipating.

Here is a safe, sensible method which—if carefully managed—will obviate the necessity for a considerable amount of surgery.

ERYSIPELAS.

Mrs. Z. writes: Every year for about eight years my husband has had erysipelas of the legs, from the knees down to the toes. He suffers also from hay fever, and it seems that as soon as he gets over the hay fever he develops erysipelas. Is there anything that can be done to prevent recurrences?

REPLY.

The cause is the streptococcus hemolyticus. Lowered vitality and the existence of abrasions and wounds are predisposing factors. It is very contagious and one attack invites another. Vaccines or a serum may be used as well as a high vitamin diet. The new dye, sulfanilamide, is death on the erysipelas organisms. Take this only on the advice of your physician and under his watchful eye.

COLD BREAKER.

R. writes: Here is a sure fire cold breaker: Dissolve 10 cents' worth of Epsom salts in a bathtub filled with enough hot water to just cover chest when reclining. Remain in tub thirty minutes, swishing from side to side. This provides amusement while circulating curative salts over the body's surface. Spend one-third of time sitting up in tub; two-thirds reclining. Have some one watch you to prevent possible submersion from fainting.

REPLY.

Hot Epsom salt baths are very useful. The salt assists in withdrawing fluid from the body and thus aids circulation. But no single plan will hit the bull's-eye 100 per cent of the time. Look out for dizziness from too much "swishing."

CLEARING THROAT.

R. A. writes: What is the cause of having to clear the throat constantly?

REPLY.

Inflammation of the larynx or bronchial tubes. Have the tonsils examined also.

TENDENCY INHERITED.

C. T. writes: Would an epileptic person have children with this disease?

REPLY.

The tendency is inherited. Perfectly normal children may be born to epileptic parents, but some may be subject to the disease.

CAN BE REMOVED.

C. H. writes: I was in an auto accident and a considerable amount of dirt worked its way into the wounds. The cuts have healed, but the dirt remains. Can this be removed?

REPLY.

Yes. The attending physician—under sterile precautions—may remove the dirt particles.

TUBERCULAR MENINGITIS.

N. O. writes: What is tubercular meningitis?

REPLY.

Inflammation of the covering of the brain by the tubercle bacillus. The disease is usually confined to the base of the brain and is accompanied in children by an excess secretion of fluid in the brain spaces.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia.—The headquarters of the communist international in Moscow is working day and night organizing demonstrations of sympathy abroad for the soviet Russian government on the occasion of the 20th celebration of the bolshevik revolution in Russia.

Agents have been supplied with instructions and slogans for the anniversary. In some cases funds were forwarded to communist parties in countries where the communist movement is prohibited on the grounds that the Reds promote treason and civil war.

According to the press bureau of the communist international, the anniversary of the revolution will be celebrated more widely in the United States than in any other foreign country. The American communist party, which owes allegiance to Moscow, sent word that massmeetings are being organized in every important city.

American Reds also intend to stage parades, demonstrations, and theatrical exhibitions to "further popularize the achievements of the bolshevik régime among Americans," the message added.

The Society of Friends of the soviet union, according to the communist international, is gathering a million signatures which will be bound in a golden book of friendship for presentation to "Comrade" Josef Stalin by a special delegation, which is expected to visit Moscow either during the anniversary or on the occasion of the first elections with secret ballot on Dec. 12.

American communists are closing one of the most successful years in the history of their party, the communist international indicated. It reported its agents are largely responsible for the strikes which during the first four months of 1937, the international said, involved 1,134,566 workers, causing the loss of more than 18,000,000 working days against 13,800,000 working days lost by strikes in the previous year.

The strike movement, it explains, is helping the growth of class antagonism in America and paving the way for the organization of a popular front party and the disintegration of the Democratic party. The Democratic party is alleged to be growing weaker rapidly under attacks and persistent underground activities of the communists and their allies, the C. I. O., and other radical elements.

The revolution anniversary meetings also will be utilized to advance the communist international's instructions about forming a national workers' party as the first step in realizing a popular front. Moscow admits the movement for a popular front recently suffered a setback due to growing opposition to the communist movement among American organizations.

Although similar success in following Moscow's instructions was reported from England, France, republican Spain, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, and Norway, communist international's plan met disaster in Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, and Finland. There police arrested Moscow agents not only in possession of complete instructions on how to organize, but also with big sums of money.

WHERE TO EXECUTE WILL.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a house in Florida where I have lived for ten years during the winter months. I spend the summer at my cottage in Michigan. In making my will I gave Florida as my residence. The will was drawn up and witnessed at Saugatuck this summer.

1. Should the will have been signed and witnessed in Florida?

2. Where would the will be probated in case of my death? E. B.

1. If your estate is of such size as to make the distinction important for taxation purposes we would consider it wise for you to take every possible step for you to sustain the Florida theory and having the will executed there would be one such step.

2. The principal probate should be where you had your legal residence at the time of death. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FATAL NEGLECT.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—It seems a horrible shame that the state of Illinois road department does not do something to prevent deaths caused by a concrete abutment at the overhead crossing at Lisle, on route 34 [Ogden avenue].

On April 1, 1933, my 18 year old brother and his lady friend were instantly killed when the car in which they were passengers struck the concrete abutment on the west approach of this elevation. It is physically impossible to see this abutment on a rainy or foggy night with only a reflector as a warning.

The coroner's jury made immediate recommendations to properly light this dangerous spot. For a short while after there was a flaming torch placed on the pavement in front of the abutment. The flaming torch, however, did not remain very long. The reflector was depended upon to give warning until last Tuesday night when young Floyd Hilt of Aurora drove into it with his milk truck, killing him instantly.

Again the torch burns, probably until the maintenance department gets tired of placing it there every night.

HOUSEWORK AND HOMEWORK.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—I agree with your correspondent who said that the high school students are overburdened with homework.

I am a junior in high school. I am motherless and I keep house for my father and brothers, doing all of the work, including washing, ironing, scrubbing, etc. I also have so much homework that I haven't time to go out any more. By the time I get through cleaning house and doing homework it is time to go to bed. If you haven't got all of your homework for the next day—you get a "D" or a letter sent home to your father or mother. G. G. G.

DANGEROUS TURNINGS.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 19.—Does the city propose to maintain a first aid station and towing car service on the new outer drive? This should prove to be a much sought after concession, and it is my opinion that the city should have first chance at this steady income. Saturday nights should prove boom nights what with the gin, speed, and those beautiful right angle turns! Too bad it was so difficult to obtain the air rights in the vicinity. The sharp turns ruin an otherwise marvelous project.

MARKET NEWS.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—As soon as the stock market commenced to recover after the widely publicized and overexaggerated reports over a natural fluctuation, market news is immediately removed from the front pages of the opposition newspapers, when in all fairness and decency such a turn of events deserved the same front page publicity utilized to feature the decline. P. L.

SOLID TIRES.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Heavy trucks with solid rubber tires still are operating on 31st street between Pulaski road and Kedzie avenue. They are refuse disposal trucks with heavy loads and shake older properties very much.

FIRE ESCAPE ALARMS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Today you published a letter from C. A. M. who said in part: "Some time ago Mayor Kelly suggested that all hotel fire escapes having access to guests' rooms be equipped with an alarm system." C. A. M. then went on to propose that each room facing on a fire escape be equipped with steel venetian blinds, or collapsible gate.

In the last week of August or the first week of September, at Mayor Kelly's suggestion, an ordinance was passed by the city council requiring that all class II. buildings in Chicago have an electric alarm on the movable part of the fire escape. Class II. buildings include apartment buildings, rooming houses, as well as hotels, but as yet nothing seems to have been done about it. Are we to wait until another wave of rape, torture, burglary, and moronic outbursts sweeps over Chicago, or is that law going to be enforced? Electric alarms are inexpensive, and, if properly constructed and approved, almost foolproof. J. J. R.

CRITICS.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Now that we have heard from Mr. Landon, the great administrator and budget balancer of Kansas, constitution defender, and what not, it is Mr. Hoover's turn, to be followed by Mr. Alfred E. Smith, to enlighten the people what is wrong with the Roosevelt administration.

Mr. Landon is right. Why shouldn't the President advise with Wall street, Liberty league, Landon, Hoover, Al Smith, and the rest of the liberal minds whenever any new social legislation is in the making?

Mr. Roosevelt should also be reprimanded for not advising with the Anti-Saloon league and the bootleggers when the noble experiment was repealed.

GEORGE NICHOLIS.

ROUGH TREATMENT ALLEGED.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—On the night of Friday, Oct. 22, at the corner of Milwaukee avenue and Addison street, two youths were brutally kicked, beaten, cursed at, and literally flung into a police squad car by policemen. The students of the Carl Schurz High school were holding their annual powwow, which is always held before the Schurz vs. Lane football game. These two youths don't even go to school, having graduated last year. Furthermore, they had taken no part in the evening's proceedings, and were only innocent onlookers. This attitude on the part of the police gives the younger generation a justifiable hatred against them. L. H.

FOOTBALL PARITY.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—I hope the day will come when college teams playing against one another will be limited to an equal number of substitutes, and only so many in each quarter. If Elmer Layden can win with an equal number of men I give him all due credit, but this army of reserves always thrown in is not my idea of fair play or equal competition.

HOW SMALL THE WORLD IS GROWING!

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Mr. Clifford Barnes of the Chicago Sunday Evening club sometimes refers to New York as a suburb of Chicago, but THE TRIBUNE, apparently not to be outdone, in this morning's paper on page 1 under the heading of Local, speaks of the quelling of an anti-government riot in Cairo, Egypt.

SURGEONS TOLD OF LIGHT TO AID BULLET PROBES

Chicago Doctor's Invention Described at Session.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Probing for bullets or other foreign metallic substances in the human body has been made fool-proof by the invention of a Chicago doctor.

This was one of the new mechanical aids to their art which members of the American College of Surgeons, in session at the Hotel Stevens, learned about yesterday.

It is the invention of Dr. David Willis of Mount Sinai hospital. To the ordinary surgical forceps he attaches a small electrical connection, with a one volt bulb. The X-ray has shown where the probe is to be made, and when the forceps touch the foreign body the light in the bulb goes on. The surgeon knows definitly that there is no intervening soft tissue. The touching of the bullet or other metal closes the circuit.

Blood Transfusion Process.

Another invention is the milking process in blood transfusion, a small instrument that can be used in the home in cases of pernicious anemia. This is the invention of Dr. Michael de Bakey of New Orleans. Pure blood is used and greater speed and accuracy are claimed. There is a continuous flow, with no coagulation possible. The operation consists of revolving a crank.

A therapeutic tank for use in infantile paralysis, arthritis, and injuries was among the exhibits. This tank is filled with activated warm water and the patient is placed in it.

A new window in the eye is one of the gifts of surgery research to persons blinded by burns, chemicals, and ulcers. Instead of trying to transplant an entire cornea from the dead to the living, these windows, made of bits of the cornea, the transparent outer covering of the eye, are used.

Human Corneas Used.

The history of this surgery and its latest applications were described to the college by Dr. Ramon Castroveijo of the Columbia Presbyterian medical center, New York.

Only human corneas can be used for these windows. In the operation the sightless cornea is left in the eye, a small piece of it removed from in front of the pupil, and the new window set in the opening. These windows, the doctor said, remain permanently clear and give improvement in sight.

Dr. Cecil K. Drinker, dean and professor of physiology in the Harvard School of Public Health, gave the surgeons a lesson in physiology and pointed out how this viewpoint had increased among surgeons during the last twenty-five years. Conversely, he remarked that physiologists needed a greater knowledge of surgery.

MASON WARNER, AD AGENCY HEAD, IS SUED BY WIFE

Mason Warner, president of the advertising company bearing his name, was sued for divorce yesterday by Mrs. Madelaine Dalles Warner, 40 years old. The bill, filed by Attorney James Cartwright, charged that Mason choked his wife and threatened her life before they separated April 15.

Warner, who is 70 years old, and his wife were married at Shanghai, China, where she was a missionary, April 24, 1935, while he was on a world cruise.

PHYLLIS BAUER.

The condition of Miss Phyllis Bauer, 18 years old, of Lake Zurich, who is ill of sleeping sickness in the Sherman hospital, Elgin, was reported somewhat improved yesterday. She was able to talk to her mother, Mrs. Katherine Bauer, and recognized a brother. Physicians were making spinal fluid tests to confirm their diagnosis of Miss Bauer's illness as encephalitis lethargica. Miss Bauer was stricken early last Saturday and has been in the hospital since then.

Community Fund Pledges Reach Total of $1,597,000

Total pledges in the Community Fund campaign increased to $1,597,000 last night as the result of contributions amounting to $42,500 from Swift & Co. and subsidiaries. The goal is $3,550,000. The first industrial group to reach its quota in the drive was announced as that of David B. Silberman, who reported pledges of $5,340 against a quota of $5,000.

BOARD PROMISES COUNTY HOSPITAL CLEANUP ACTION

Commissioners Get Report of Investigators.

Members of the county board yesterday promised to take steps to improve conditions at the Cook County hospital, which an investigating committee described as understaffed, dirty, ill equipped, and poorly managed.

Clayton Smith, president of the board, attempted no defense of the institution as it is now conducted. He declared he was glad the findings had revealed facts that would enable the commissioners to proceed toward building up a hospital of the highest type.

"We never have hid our heads ostrichlike to avoid meeting the hospital problem," he said. "And I would like to repeat what I told the citizens' advisory committee that agreed to coöperate with us last June: 'Politics has no place in the administration of the hospital. It should symbolize the answer of this community to every call of the indigent and the distressed.'"

Unified Plan Lacking.

Smith admitted that the hospital had, as the committee's report charged, grown up without a unified plan and that many of the employés owed their places to political preferment.

Filed with the report of the investigating committee, which was composed of six expert administrators of private hospitals, was another in which Anton C. Negri, an efficiency expert hired by the board, said changes to improve the hospital had been made in the last six months. Both reports were referred to a special committee of the county board headed by Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke for further study.

Negri said there had been recent large increases in the hospital's stocks of linen and bedding, which the investigators termed sadly depleted, and that improvements had been made in the quality and quantity of food for patients. He added that a perpetual inventory system had been installed in stockrooms and commissary.

"Recent purchases have brought our supplies of sheets, towels, pillow cases, and blankets up to the highest hospital standards," he declared. "This was done, of course, indirectly as a result of the investigators' recommendations."

The investigators were particularly sharp in their criticism of the hospital intake department and the receiving wards. Negri said a resident physician now is stationed in the receiving wards at all times so emergency cases may be handled without delay.

Warden Michael Zimmer, whose name was not mentioned by the investigators, said the wards were overcrowded because there were too many patients for the normal capacity, and asserted it was better to have crowded wards than to turn away persons who needed treatment.

Tub Baths Used.

"Shower baths," he continued, "are not used because many patients do not understand their operation and might scald themselves. We use tub baths only." [The committee report showed that shower baths were not in working order.]

Zimmer said much of the hospital equipment is worn, particularly such things as bed pans, but that supplies are replenished as fast as funds are available. The institution's plumbing, he asserted, is rapidly being put into good condition.

$100,000 INSURANCE CASE JURORS UNABLE TO FIX DEATH HOUR

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A mixed jury couldn't decide today whether Leo Greendlinger, founder of the Alexander Hamilton institute, died before or after midnight last Oct. 10.

Consequently a new trial will be necessary in the suit of the institute against the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States for $100,000.

The institute was beneficiary of a policy for that amount on Greendlinger's life. Greendlinger was found dead in a train berth at 6 o'clock in the morning, having boarded the train the night before. His policy lapsed at midnight, the insurance company contends.

1937 ROOSEVELT MEDAL AWARDED DR. JAS. DILLARD

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Roosevelt medal for 1937 was awarded formally tonight to Dr. James Hardy Dillard, for whom the Dillard university of New Orleans was named, at a ceremony in the old brownstone house where Theodore Roosevelt the elder was born 79 years ago.

The medal was presented to the southern educator by the Roosevelt Memorial association for his work in furthering understanding between the white and Negro races.

G. O. P. LEADER AND ROOSEVELT ASSAILED BY FISH

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Representative Hamilton Fish of New York attacked the Roosevelt administration policies and Republican leadership in a jammed banquet hall here tonight. He charged John D. M. Hamilton and other G. O. P. leaders with stupidity in their stand on social security after Republican congressmen had indorsed it.

"I have no objection to a Republican conference next year if young leaders, wage earners, and liberals are represented and not war horses. I think it best to postpone the conference until 1939 to avoid a possibility of dissension in the congressional race next year. Many issues will arise before election which the platform should include.

"The Republican party should be liberalized and vitalized with new blood. If the conference is to be a sounding board for Hoover and Landon I am against it. For the best interests of the party I propose the two defeated candidates should sit on the sidelines and let some one else carry the ball. 'Titular head' is a myth created by Hoover."

CAPT. W. H. DAVIS, LAST IN COLUMBIA G. A. R. POST, DIES

Capt. William H. Davis, 94 years old, the last member of Columbia post, G. A. R., died Tuesday at the home of a niece in Winslow, Ark. Until three years ago he was a resident of Chicago.

Mr. Davis left only one relative here, a nephew, Gar Davis Scott, 1419 East 58th street. At his home it was said the body would be returned here for burial.

C., became ill in Chicago two weeks ago while en route to Dubuque, Ia., for a Knights of Columbus meeting.

He began his law career in Lincoln, Kas., his birthplace, in 1916, and later practiced in Topeka. He was the father of eight children, six of whom survive him along with his widow, June Joslin Healy. The family home is now in Washington, but Mr. Healy's body will be sent to Lincoln today for burial.

D. H. M'GILVRAY, CHICAGO LAWYER SINCE 1898, DIES

He had practiced law in Illinois since 1898, in the late years as a member of the firm McGilvray, Vaughan, Tilley & Humphrey. He was formerly active in politics and was a candidate for municipal judge on the Deneen Republican ticket in 1922. Surviving Mr. McGilvray are his widow and a daughter.

EDWARD BOYLE, VETERAN OF BAR, DIES SUDDENLY

Edward Boyle, 74 years old, who had practiced law in Chicago for more than forty years, died suddenly yesterday of a heart attack in the Washington Boulevard hospital. He was unmarried and lived at the University club. Born in Orleans county, N. Y., Mr. Boyle was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1888 and later from the Kent college of law. Before coming to Chicago he was superintendent of schools at Michigan City, Ind. He is survived by three sisters.

ACTION TO SAVE EDITH M'CORMICK ESTATE APPROVED

Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court yesterday authorized the Chicago Title and Trust company, as executor of the estate of Edith Rockefeller McCormick, to pay $25,000 on the 1936 tax bill of her Lake county estate at Fort Sheridan to forestall foreclosure of 269 acres.

The executor also was allowed to sell slightly less than nine acres of the estate at $1,500 an acre to the state for highway purposes. Attorneys for the executor said it may become necessary to sell all the real estate to pay the debts against the estate.

In a third order the executor was directed to advertise for a buyer for Mrs. McCormick's town house at 1000 Lake Shore drive, which has been sold at foreclosure for $629,819. The redemption period expires Jan. 4.

BRAILLE SCRIPT IS STOLEN FROM BLIND WOMAN

Mrs. Lillian Fritz, who is almost blind, last night requested Cragin police to help her recover 500 sheets of Braille manuscript stolen from her on a Fullerton avenue street car.

The conductor told me a woman who got off at Kilbourn avenue carried something that looked like the bundle. The sheets are of no value except to the blind."

TRY-OUT
CUT! BADLY OFF KEY, MISS. BUT STICK AROUND AND WE MIGHT TRY YOU LATER, SORRY, MR. DOYLE; I'M JUST TOO MISERABLE TO SING. BUT I JUST KNOW I'LL BE FIT TOMORROW.
IT'S THE TIME OF MONTH, BUT TOMORROW--
YOU SURE STAGED A COME-BACK! WE CAN USE YOU.
OH THANKS! MR. DOYLE, AND THANK YOU, MISS....
AND THANKS TO MIDOL! IT HAS SAVED THE DAY MANY TIMES—FOR MANY WOMEN.

A KNOWING woman no longer gives-in to functional periodic pain. It is rather old-fashioned to suffer in silence, because there is a reliable relief for such suffering.

Many who use Midol do not feel one twinge of pain, or even a moment's discomfort during the entire period.

Don't let the calendar regulate your activities! Don't "favor yourself" or "save yourself" on certain days of every month! Keep going, and keep comfortable — with the aid of Midol. These tablets provide a proven means for the relief of such pain, so why endure suffering Midol might spare you?

Midol brings quick relief which usually lasts for hours. Its principal ingredient has often been prescribed by specialists.

You can get Midol in a trim aluminum case at any drug store. Two tablets should see you through your worst day.

JURY INDICTS FOE OF R. I. GOVERNOR ON LIBEL CHARGE

Both Sue Each Other for $500,000 Damages.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Walter E. O'Hara, turfman-publisher, was indicted on a criminal libel charge brought by Gov. Robert E. Quinn late today several hours after the two bitter political enemies had filed $500,000 civil libel actions against each other.

The indictment charged O'Hara called the governor a "—— liar" in a midnight special edition of his newspaper, the Star-Tribune, on Sept. 8. The publisher had been free on $5,000 bail since last month when he was found "probably guilty" of the criminal charge by a district judge.

The governor, who is engaged with O'Hara in a finish fight over the Narragansett race track, which O'Hara heads, caused his foe's arrest last night. As he left his hotel shortly after calling Quinn a "dictator" in a radio talk, O'Hara was served with a warant in a half million dollar libel suit brought by the governor.

Released on Bond.

O'Hara returned to his hotel suite, however, and remained there in custody of High Sherif John Baird. This morning he appeared in Superior court and was released in $7,500 bail.

Later in the day O'Hara began a $500,000 civil libel action against the governor. Charges in the suit were not made known. The publisher's counsel said a writ calling for the arrest of Quinn was in the hands of Sherif Thomas Barry of Kent county.

In still another move in the quarrel, which involves a maze of legal technicalities, Michael Deciantis, state public utilities commissioner, filed a petition with Superior Judge Charles A. Walsh summoning a "responsible representative" of O'Hara's Tribune Publishing company to show cause tomorrow morning why the paper should not be held in contempt of court.

Bases on News Story.

Deciantis' petition was based on a paragraph which appeared in the Star-Tribune today concerning O'Hara's arrest. The article allegedly stated Judge Walsh "was interviewed" and Deciantis "was politely urged to cool down in the interests of common decency and the sane administration of justice, and the application of these principles frustrated Quinn's plot to keep O'Hara in jail for the night."

O'Hara, whose race track was closed last week by National Guardsmen acting under the governor's orders, said last night in his radio talk that the malicious acts of the governor against me and against Narragansett race track have been the acts of a dictator."

MONTAGUE'S JOB FOR $1,000,000 IN FILMS HITS SNAG

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—A deal for John Montague to appear in a motion picture to be produced by Emanuel Cohen starring Bing Crosby late tonight "went cold."

According to a representative of Paramount studio, virtually all plans for Montague's activities in motion pictures are being held in abeyance.

Immediately after Montague's acquittal in a robbery trial held at Elizabethtown, N. Y., it was announced by Everett Crosby, Hollywood motion picture agent and brother of Bing Crosby, that Montague had signed a contract that would bring him $1,000,000 in three years and it was stated he would be seen with the crooning Crosby in a picture.

After an all-afternoon argument between Cohen and Everett Crosby it was decided that Montague would not appear. It is said Montague might appear in a series of short films concerning golfing. Rumors that the Hays office objected to Montague's appearance were met with denials.

Wreck School Rooms

Five schoolboys of the Kensington district, all 15 and 16 years old, confessed to police yesterday that their gang wrecked nineteen classrooms of the Kohn Elementary school, 10414 South State street, last Friday night. Four also confessed the burglary of a gasoline station, police said, and two admitted stealing and wrecking two automobiles.

Those under arrest are Raymond Johnson, Robert Reitz, Herman Hansen, Robert Holmquist, and Richard Szaszowski. They told police they sneaked out of their homes late at night when their parents thought them in bed. When asked why they caused the $2,000 damage at the school all shrugged their shoulders.

"The taxpayers will have to pay for it," said Hansen.

NEW POLICE HEAD SWEEPS CLEAN; SEIZES 102 GUNS

New York, Oct. 27.—[Special.]—A bushel basket filled with 102 revolvers and pistols was locked in the Westchester county offices in White Plains today as evidence that Lieut. Maurice Thomas, acting chief of the Mamaroneck village police, is doing his duty. Lieut. Thomas left the weapons with the sherif yesterday, stating they had been seized by him within two weeks from persons he considered untrustworthy.

Charles H. Stowell was dismissed early this month as chief of the Mamaroneck police when the village board found him guilty of accepting a bribe and of certifying gun permit applications of "disreputable characters."

Lieut. Thomas was appointed acting chief on Oct. 7, and soon after appeared in Supreme court and induced Graham Witschief to revoke the permits of five Mamaroneck residents he specifically accused of having records of arrests or convictions, or of having received treatment in psychiatric institutions.

LASHES INDIANA GOVERNOR; BALKS AT EXTRADITION

Judge William J. Murray in Crown Point yesterday criticized Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana and refused to permit the extradition of William Granberry, colored, a Gary steel worker, to Columbia, Tenn., on a charge of murdering a deputy sherif in 1931.

Because of a technical fault in the warant signed by the governor, Judge Murray freed Granberry, remarking that this was not the first defective warant the governor had signed. Arrested on a second fugitive warant immediately after the hearing Granberry was released again by Judge Murray, who said he did not intend to act as a buffer for the governor.

Tennessee authorities testified they had proof that Granberry was hired by bootleggers to kill the deputy. His lawyer pleaded that Granberry would be lynched if acquitted. Granberry offered an alibi for the date of the murder.

They were greeted by a delegation of opera stars and Greek citizens of Chicago.

ROOSEVELT SON IS OPPOSED TO '2D BEST NAVY'

Boston, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, eldest son and secretary of the President, today declared "A second best navy can protect nothing, neither a country nor a budget . . ."

Speaking at navy day exercises on Boston Common, the President's son, recently named coördinator of various independent federal agencies, said "What is spent on second best is wasted and what is saved on second best is forfeited to the enemy . . ."

"Today as we look at the world without our rose colored glasses of 1921, we know that it is a world threatened by war," he said. "There is war in Asia today. There is war in Europe today."

Asserting "we scrapped more and better ships than our two nearest rivals, Japan and Great Britain, together," young Roosevelt said:

"Our example of voluntary defenselessness did not discourage aggression. As we look back with hindsight upon our softheartedness we know only too well that certain other nations looked upon it as soft-headedness, and calculated the advantages it offered for their own schemes of aggression.

"The hopes of those who seek peace only through disarmament have broken against the stubborn facts of reality. All attempts to find mechanical formulas for peace have failed. We, who were ready, 15 years ago, to assume the risks of optimism, today have no choice but to assume the costs of common sense. Only the strong are still respected."

More than 10,000 persons visited the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday on Navy day and witnessed drills, airplane maneuvers, a battle demonstration, and a parade and inspection of the 600 sailors stationed there, who were reviewed by Gov. Horner.

The bluejackets were reinforced for the battle by 350 soldiers from Fort Sheridan and the celebration brought together the heads of the armed forces of the country on duty in this territory—Rear Admiral Hayne Ellis, commander of the Ninth naval district; Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the Sixth corps area, and Brig. Gen. Philip B. Peyton, commandant of Fort Sheridan.

Gets 19 Gun Salute.

Gov. Horner, accompanied by George F. Getz, chairman of the Navy day committee, and James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, arrived at the naval station shortly after noon and was greeted with a 19 gun salute and four ruffles and four flourishes by the band.

Following a luncheon at Admiral Ellis' home, the party witnessed an air show staged by three planes of the United States naval reserve, commanded by Lieut. G. A. T. Washburn, and an artillery drill with three inch field pieces. The battle and the parade and review followed.

Boat Drill Is Held.

A Young Child Needs Careful Surveillance

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Two Year Old Baby Girl Drowned in Brook," read the headline of a small news item in my yesterday's paper.

And besides the water hazard there are those of fire, gas, etc.

This is not meant to be a harrowing article aimed at making you nervous and aprehensive about your children. It is meant rather to make young mothers realize the need of eternal vigilance where their young children are concerned. It is directed chiefly at:

The inexperienced mother who means well but doesn't know the propensity runabouts have for getting into tight spots.

The mother who is happy-go-lucky.

The mother who is truly negligent.

The mother who is too ready to let some one else do her job—who thinks, "O, I'll hear if she gets in trouble" or "There's always some one around."

The mother who gets misled by the advice to "let your child be self-reliant." This has to be taken with the good old salt of common sense. Self-reliance must be related to the child's real capacity to take care of himself, based on age, strength, and experience.

Many a tragedy of death or maiming could be averted if grownups realized the need of constant watchfulness where small children are concerned, children old enough to walk and run and climb, or a little past that, just old enough to become venturesome.

The little two year old mentioned wandered off and fell in a brook. The little sisters were three and four and a half; they ran quickly out of sight, stepped on the frozen surface of the swimming pool and were lost in the icy water.

Other accidents come to mind. A mother leaves her little girl playing in the middle of the floor in a room with a low open window. A mother leaves her small children in the kitchen where vegetables are boiling over a gas flame. A mother goes to market and is delayed, leaving three small children and a baby playing together in a flat equipped with a heater attached by a rubber tube to a gas pipe. A hot bath is turned on and a small boy wanders in and locks the door.

It's not a question of obedience or training. An accident is an unpredictable thing. A small child's impulses are unpredictable, too. His safety lies in your hands, not his.

"When Your Small Child Is Contrary"—you may find the cause and cure in our leaflet. To obtain it inclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Young Mother Needs Furnishings.

A caseworker writes in behalf of a young colored woman, Mrs. D., mother of two children. Since the death of her husband nine years ago, she has been dependent on a small mothers' pension. She formerly lived with relatives, but no longer is able to do so, and has moved to a flat of her own. She is making an earnest effort to make ends meet, but is having a difficult time managing this extra expense. For the coming winter she needs blankets and a rug of some kind, and a linoleum for the kitchen. She has not even one dresser in the home and needs drawer space of some kind.

Since it will be impossible for her to get these items on her income, we hope some reader can assist her.

Shorter Skirts Require Trim Looking Legs

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

New skirt lengths seen on the smartly dressed women these days would not be chic without trim, neat legs and ankles. And accompanying them there must be a step that is snappy and springy. There's not a place in the world for slow motion action in the new raised hemlines. If your legs and ankles aren't all you'd like them to be, if there is excess flesh to disfigure them, don't feel you're eliminated from the new smart styles. There are excellent exercises for trimming down legs and ankles to "view" proportions, making them an asset.

Here are a few exercises. Stand erect, hands on hips. Advance right foot, rise on toes, and rock back and forth. Do this ten or fifteen times. Reverse, advancing left foot, and rock.

Assume correct standing position. Bend right leg backward from knee. Grasp ankle with right hand and, while standing erect, hop ten times on left foot. Reverse position and hop on right foot.

In many cases, thick ankles may be attributed to lack of exercise. The muscles become flabby. A few minutes a day devoted to slenderizing exercises will bring gratifying results in a short time. You may begin such exercise in your bath. Keep knees stiff, with feet and toes stretched as far as possible, toes turned slightly pigeon-toed. Bend ankle outward and back, bringing toes as near to you as possible. Quite a pull on the calf muscles will be felt when this exercise is done properly.

For further trimness, be careful about the way the stockings are drawn on. Legs can't look trim if the back seams are zigzag. They must be in a straight line. Any superfluous hair should be removed in order that none may peep through the sheer stockings which are worn alike by the girl who works hard to earn the money to buy them, and the gal who hasn't a thought as to their cost.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

Loretta Young a challenger.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 27.—A year ago the First Ten in national motion picture popularity were [1] Shirley Temple, [2] Clark Gable, [3] Astaire-Rogers, [4] Robert Taylor, [5] Joe E. Brown, [6] Dick Powell, [7] Joan Crawford, [8] Claudette Colbert, [9] Jeanette MacDonald, and [10] Gary Cooper. . . . At the moment every star in this town is wondering anxiously if he or she will be in that Big Ten this year. . . . Those who were in it last year are scared to death they'll be crowded out.

Menacing the 1936 Big Ten are Tyrone Power, Spencer Tracy, Paul Muni, Loretta Young, Myrna Loy, William Powell, Katharine Hepburn, Sonja Henie, Deanna Durbin, Errol Flynn, Janet Gaynor, and Alice Faye. . . . These twelve challengers are going to shoulder aside at least five of the 1936 top rankers, and in so doing create moving picture history—and heartaches.

Twelve little guinea pigs at Max Factor's cosmetic establishment are of vital importance to the femme stars of this industry. It is on the pink little stomachs of these guinea pigs that all lipsticks, rouges, and creams are tried out, the tummy of the little creatures approaching most closely the texture of a girl's face They daub the mixture on, test the guinea pig's allergic reaction for twenty-four hours, then wash it off and test another cosmetic.

Joe Schenck rushed out to New York a few hours ago, important. . . . Eric Linden is happier now that Frances Bacon, his southern soft drink heiress, is returning from Europe.

New York Attorney Arthur Driscoll is here to see Clients Irving Berlin, Doug Fairbanks, and Mary Pickford, and also to settle the "Dishonored Lady" plagiarism suit with M. G. M. for about $300,000. . . . Add twosomes: Michael Whelan and June Lang, Eleanor Whitney and Vic Orsatti, Jean and Charlie Feldman.

Virginia Bruce, who will wed J. Walter Ruben, the director, is one of a surprisingly large group of Minnesotans who have clicked in pictures: Walter Abel, Ann Sothern, Warren William, Lew Ayres, Joan Davis, Suzanne Larson, Alan Dinehart, and June Lang.

Trappist monks in Kentucky reared Ben Piazza, one of the nicer guys out here. . . . He is closer to Katharine Cornell than anybody in the industry, and if she signs for pictures he'll be the first one she'll consult. . . . Mervyn Le Roy is back from New York and the Fernand Gravet-Carole Lombard picture will start Nov. 12.

The Jack Bennys will build their home on Roxbury drive; they bought an acre. . . . It's an eight pound baby boy at the Sam Marxes. . . . Phil Harris bought 50 per cent of a gold mine in Mexico; yesterday his partner called up for more dough. . . . So Harris is hurrying to Mexico with a fresh bank roll. . . . That was Rosalind Russell with Jimmy Stewart three nights running. . . . Sophie Tucker leaves for Broadway Nov. 4. . . . Most amusing scene in "Conquest" is that between Charles Boyer, as Napoleon, and Maria Ous Penskaya, the demented grandmother of Countess Walewska. . . . She asks him who he is, and he says that he is Napoleon, emperor of France. . . . "I suppose," the old lady says sarcastically, "that my good friend Louis abdicated in your favor." . . . "Do you play cards?" asks the old lady, and they engage in a game in which she catches him cheating. . . . "Corporal, emperor of France, card cheat," she screams. . . . "But he is the emperor," explains Garbo. . . . "This house," says the old lady, "is full of crazy people." The scene is the only comedy in the picture—and magnificent make-believe.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

If you've often longed to open the window on a cold, stormy day but have been afraid of the icy draft and the sudden gust of dirt and soot, you'll welcome a new invention and a clever one. It's a no-draft ventilator designed to bring fresh air into homes, hospitals, offices and public buildings.

This ventilator is an all metal shell, perforated on both sides, but as these holes are not opposite each other drafts, rain, snow and sleet cannot penetrate, and much dirt and dust which would otherwise be sucked into the room by drafts are kept out. You get the fresh air, but you avoid the breeze.

One test to prove this was made by placing an electric fan, whirling at full blast, on the outer side of this ventilator, and a lighted candle on the inner or room side. The candle kept on burning, though the air circulated by the fan came through.

"Sing, sing, what shall I sing,
The cat's run away with the pudding bag string."

I do not doubt the truth of this Mother Goose rime, for I once had a cat addicted to strings from the rib roast. Pussy [the darling!] actually would eat those flavorsome bits of twine which had held the boned meat together during cooking. And he never seemed to suffer any ill effects.

The pudding bag and its string were important bits of kitchen equipment in old England and early America. Boiled puddings with their suet and raisins and molasses were important parts of winter meals, especially at holiday time. We like them at holiday time ourselves, partly because they are very good, mostly because we love the tradition which surrounds them.

For the most part, however, we prefer our simpler-to-make steamed or baked puddings. Until Thanksgiving or Christmas, when tradition demands an old fashioned "plum" or suet pudding, we'll be contented with desserts such as these.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.

[Serves Six.]

2 cups all purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups milk
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten egg and cooled melted chocolate to the shortening and sugar mixture, beating well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing thoroughly. Add raisins and vanilla last. Butter the top compartment of a double boiler and pour the batter into it. Cover tightly and cook over hot water for about 2 hours. Serve pudding hot with hard sauce.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.

[Serves Six.]

1 cup all purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup soft bread crums
⅓ cup brown sugar
⅔ cup finely chopped suet
1 cup chopped raw cranberries
1 egg
⅓ cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add crums. Add combined sugar and suet, and cranberries, and stir all together with beaten egg and milk. Turn into a well greased mold, cover with waxed paper, and steam for 2 hours.

If a steamer is not available, place the mold in boiling water, never allowing the water to come up on the mold more than two-thirds of the way. Serve the pudding hot with hard sauce or any favorite pudding sauce.

Hard Sauce.

⅓ cup butter
1 cup confectioner's sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
Sprinkling of nutmeg

Cream butter thoroughly, add confectioner's sugar gradually, beating well. Add flavoring and nutmeg. Serve on any baked or steamed pudding. Other flavorings may be used for this sauce. Lemon juice, orange juice, and mint extracts are possibilities.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Here's the milk bath which is just as luxurious as it looks. You can have one at home or in a beauty salon, all with the aid of a milk powder. The bath is a relaxer and a skin beautifier.

A good beauty salon is a fascinating place—and more goes on within its smartly decorated walls than most of us dream of. We asked one devotee what feature of her treatments she liked best. She's becoming increasingly fond of her exercise sessions; even exercises at home now. And she loves her heat treatment and body massage that make her slimmer and calmer, but above all else she loves the milk bath that tops off her treatment. That's her idea of the best route to that luxurious orchidaceous sensation.

The milk bath as given IS a treat. It's a miraculous relaxer. You plop into a tub of water that can only be compared to a bubbling milky sea, delicately perfumed. When you step out your skin is filmed, ever so delicately, with the milky powder—and feels like a baby's. It's softened, protected and deliciously perfumed.

This same bath can be a daily ritual at home if you like. And you should like it because it does things for you. The milk powder isn't expensive to begin with and a little goes a long way. You can have your choice of three or four fragrances, all of them nice. If you're the nervous type the soothing, beautifying milk bath at night will insure deeper slumber, to say nothing of the welcome sensation that all's right with the world!

Angora Used with Lastex in New Hats

BY RHEA SEEGER.

They've mixed lastex with almost everything, so the newest fuzzy toppers made of colored angora and lastex won't exactly shock you, but they will take your carefully hoarded money unless you've good control.

These small cap hats remind you a little of a snappy overseas cap, only they're considerably more French and feminine. The colors are exceptionally effective, especially with fur jackets or coats, a French blue and a soft raspberry red.

The clever folds that keep these hats in good headlines are anchored with tiny silver or gold three inch pins with big knobs. Silver is used with the blue and gold in the raspberry. They are the softest, smartest, and warmest skull comforts we've found.

We have found some stunning white crêpe velvet small hats to wear with mink coats. The white hats are smart for dark or copper topped sirens with the necessary mink envelope. Cinnamon brown veils trim some of them together with a couple of jeweled clips, others are intricately swathed and draped and then accented with a slender cinnamon brown feather. The fabric is lovely, a thick off-white—extremely luxurious and easy to wear.

These new white finds are not the usual turbans, with just the ordinary treatment of banding and twisting, but artfully cut and designed small, smart hats ideally contrived to complete the luxurious swank of a mink coat.

Some high colored felt hats, so small they're just a spot of color, are new and worth the money. Sage green and a blazing creation of cerise and vivid blue are high spots. Smart front brimmed numbers complete with a dashing skinny feather are most unusual because of the color and brimless backs.

Game of Dominoes Inspiration for This Pieced Quilt

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The old game of dominoes inspired this pieced pattern, the origin of which dates back to the beginning of the games's popularity. It is a most impressive coverlet when pieced in red and white or blue and white, although any combination may be used. The entire quilt is composed of pieced blocks set together to form an allover design. A four inch border is quilted in a double rope design and the two white squares in each block are quilted with a lyre design, while the remainder of the pieces is quilted in outline.

"SOFT HANDS HOLD A HEART— AND WIN A DIAMOND" says WALTER WINCHELL

A MAN loves the soft look, the tender touch of girlish hands. Do keep this charm. Hands chap and roughen—look older—when the inner skin cells lose their special moisture. This easily happens—from exposure to cold, wind or water. For relief—turn to Jergens Lotion. Jergens goes into your skin cells better than other lotions tested, and gives back that important lost moisture. Its two famous ingredients are the same as doctors use to soften rough skin. Use Jergens regularly for hands that win a man. Just 50¢, 25¢, 10¢—$1.00 buys a huge bottle—at any beauty counter.

Philadelphia Symphony to Play in City

BY JUDITH CASS.

JAN. 5 is more than two months away, but already the young women who have undertaken the sale of tickets for the benefit the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene will hold on that date have started work. The benefit will be a concert by the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, conducted by Eugene Ormandy, in the Civic Opera house.

It will be the only Chicago concert this season of the noted eastern orchestra. Two years ago, under the leadership of Leopold Stokowski, the orchestra gave a concert in the Auditorium theater under the auspices of the Woman's Aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital, which was one of the outstanding musical and social affairs of that winter.

Mrs. Solomon B. Smith and Mrs. Clymer S. Bowen are co-chairmen of the committee planning the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene benefit. Working with them are Mrs. Willard N. Boyden, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Keith Carpenter, Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mrs. J. Bernard Mullen, Mrs. Hermon D. Smith, Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis, and Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr.

Dr. Ralph C. Hamill is president of the society, and among other officers and members of the executive committee are Durand Smith, Ronald P. Boardman and Miss Eloise ReQua, who with Mrs. Boardman are others who are working on the ticket committee.

Some of those who already have taken boxes and are planning dinner parties to precede the concert are the Boardmans, Mr. Smith, the George A. Ranneys, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the Laird Bells, the Ernest A. Hamills, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., and the Donald R. McLennans.

Issue Invitations for Two Gay Parties.

Invitations are out for two gay parties. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. are giving a dinner at the Racquet club before the assembly on Dec. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Prentice Porter are entertaining at dinner and dancing at the Mill Creek Hunt club next Friday. Mr. Porter is joint master with Austin H. Niblack of the Mill Creek hounds. The hounds are meeting at Mr. Jelke's at 11:15 o'clock Sunday morning instead of at Rosecrans corners.

Wallace Rumsey Jr. to Wed Detroit Girl.

Of interest here is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Herbert Wing are making in Detroit today of the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Wallace Donelson Rumsey Jr. of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Rumsey of Winnetka.

Mr. Rumsey and his fiancée met in Detroit, where he has been engaged in business since being graduated from Williams college last year. Miss Wing, who is a graduate of the University of Toledo, has been with the Children's Aid society in Detroit.

Miss Wing and young Mr. Rumsey spent a week-end with his parents in Winnetka the middle of this month, at which time most of Mr. Rumsey's friends met the young woman who will become his bride within a year.

Autumn Days Are Joy to Hunt Set

Our Navy Has Stirring, Well Trained Band

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Chicago's observance of Navy day reached a climax last night when the United States Navy band, Lieut. Charles Benter conducting, played a gala program of standard and march music before a cordial Civic Opera house audience.

Amazing the things our navy finds time for when it is not engaged in repelling invaders! Here is a finely routined band of about fifty pieces capable of performing such exacting items as the "Russian Easter" of Rimsky-Korsakoff. Capable, too, of giving so rousing a fillip to a march tune that the most peaceable member of an audience is apt to decide then and there to search out and slaughter a foeman or two.

In the Rimsky-Korsakoff overture and in the "Andrea Chenier" potpourri which followed soon after, the band displayed to brilliant advantage its really impressive variety of expressive resource. Great masses of solemn and sonorous tone, flexible and effective tempi, well rounded phrases which start out to get somewhere—and do.

This sort of band program is not at all the assault on the eardrums that the more discouraged concertgoer is apt to expect. Except when cornets, piccolos, and trombones moved downstage at the climax of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," even the most delicate hearing apparatus was perfectly safe.

The band boasts a great many subtle effects. It even becomes delectably saucy on occasion.

In the Franz Lehar medley one did, it is true, miss the nostalgic tone of the strings. The clarinets were able to yearn in a fairly satisfactory manner, but the "Merry Widow" waltz with wind instruments singing the tune is a doubtful bit of business at best.

The audience was sprinkled with uniforms of naval officers and men, and Lieut. Benter felt perfectly at home. He interspersed his music with pleasant gossipy interchanges with the house, and improved the occasion to bespeak for the navy the continued support of the people.

The concert was sponsored by the Chicago division of the United States Naval reserve.

Marcel Dupré, world famous organist of the church of Saint Sulpice in Paris, will play a recital at St. James Methodist church, Ellis avenue at 46th street, tomorrow evening. Mr. Dupré was the organist last June at the wedding of the duke of Windsor and Wallis Warfield.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Offner of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Mae, to Vernon Frederick Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Garner of Evanston. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Joan Crawford Reaches a New Peak in Career

Good Morning!

The story—pouf! I don't care if the original WAS a Ferenc Molnar play. The plot still remains second rate Cinderella stuff. But—

Miss Crawford's performance! NON-pouf! It is easily one of the finest she has ever contributed to the silver sheet. A forceful portrayal, characterized by fine reticence and exquisite shadings. Joan, I think, has found herself for good. She refuses any more to be content with the shell of a part, but honestly tries to extract every bit of meat there is in it. In "The Bride Wore Red" she's been mighty successful in making something out of a lot of nothing.

The story, some of Franchot Tone's entrances and delivery, and gobs here and there of perfectly banal dialog are really all that ail the production.

Direction by the woman director is smooth and cunning. Only a woman could guide a woman as Joan was piloted through some of her scenes. . . . Backgrounds are magnificent and splendidly photographed. Cast support is brilliant in the main, according special mention to Mary Phillips, Lynne Carver, Robert Young, Billie Burke, and Reginald Owen. Miss Phillips goes pretty melodramatic in one spot—but the lines were there and I reckon she and Miss Arzner just had to make the best of them.

The yarn? Well—Anni is entertainer in a Trieste waterfront café when the story opens. A drunken count, who believes that aristocracy is not a matter of birth but of environment, dresses her up and sends her to play lady for two weeks in a fashionable mountain hotel, that she may convince of the fallacy of his opinion his friend, Rudi Pal, who thinks differently. Anni wots not of this motive; Rudi doesn't either—and he pretty nearly marries the girl. ONLY, you see—there is the village postman! . . . AND the girl to whom Rudi's engaged! AND her mamma!

Raisa Revives Good Old Days in City's Music

BY CECIL SMITH.

Returning from a summer in Italy Rosa Raisa sang in Orchestra hall last night, taking her audience by storm and precipitating a demonstration of approval reminiscent of old opera days in the Auditorium.

Mme. Raisa's appearances in Chicago are not to be taken lightly or tossed off with a few polite words. She has sung over 275 performances of thirty-six operatic rôles here and at Ravinia. In the last decade of the Chicago Civic opera she was one of the major box office assets of the company, ranking with Amelita Galli-Curci and Feodor Chaliapin. She has sung in the first Chicago performances of seventeen operas, including "Andrea Chenier," "Falstaff," "Norma," "The Jewess," "The Force of Destiny," "L'Africana," "Der Rosenkavalier," "Turandot," and "La Fiamma." She is one of the most important figures in the operatic history of Chicago.

In recent years her singing had fallen upon evil days. Possibly because of the discouragement of the depression years she had not kept her voice in a condition of first class responsiveness.

After last night I think we can confidently call those difficulties a matter of the past. I have not heard her sing so gloriously or so easily since an unforgettable performance of Zandonai's "Conchita" eight years ago next New Year's eve. Her pianissimo and her full voice alike are completely dependable to the very top of her voice. I hope you were there last night to hear her sing a high C-sharp half voice, staccato, and clean in the Bolero from "The Sicilian Vespers."

With renewed vocal security Mme. Raisa has recaptured all the amazing vehemence of delivery and all the passion of utterance which entitle her to be called a great singer. It must have been hard work for her to win back her full vocal powers. She must keep herself in magnificent condition to win back the public which will surely come to hear her at the opera house later this fall.

Patricia Ann Levit, 14 year old Chicago pianist, assisted Mme. Raisa in the recital, which was a benefit for the Prothero Memorial Cancer research. Patricia Ann is rather young to be appearing in public on so important an occasion. She is talented both pianistically and musically, however, and should make a good pianist one of these days.

The Æolian String quartet, successors to the Mischakoff String quartet, played in Thorne hall last night in the sixth lecture-recital of the current series offered by Northwestern university. Helene Brahm, pianist, joined with the quartet in Schumann's quintet, and Howard Silberer, pianist, played a group of solos. Felix Borowski lectured upon the romantic period.

Jacques Gordon, violinist, and Rudolph Reuter, pianist, will play in the series next Wednesday.

Front Views and Profiles

HONOLULU, Hawaii.—Princess Lilioukalani Kawananakoa, widow of one of the two royal princes created by the legislature when the last reigning monarch of the Hawaiian Islands died without issue, gave a royal party for Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland that has caused comment for days. It may well be the last such ceremonious function Honolulu may see, as the princess, a dominating figure in the political life of Honolulu and hostess to many distinguished visitors, is not as young as she was, as the saying goes; there is no one to take her place, and such an occasion as the congressional visit may not occur soon again.

THE engraved invitations asked the women to wear light colored evening gowns and the men to wear white linen, with black ties and red sashes. The princess herself, brown skinned and of generous proportions, wore black, with no jewels, and only a high tortoise shell comb in her hair for ornament. She received in state, with her attendants grouped about her wearing the traditional royal feather capes. Hawaiian children passed leis of flowers to the arriving guests before they went down the receiving line. The house was filled with flowers, with great plastrons of bloom adorning even the walls. Each guest found at his plate a handsome menu card and program with his or her name engraved in gold on the cover, and a full guest list inside, as well as a list of the nineteen entertainment specialties that were to follow the feast. For a feast it was—a real Hawaiian luau, with the native dishes, and with ti-leaves and fern serving as table coverings. After dinner an elderly Hawaiian woman, famous for her chanting of the old meles, the Hawaiian equivalent of songs or poetry, made her appearance, accompanied by hula dancers, who danced to her chant, their sinuous gesturings and posturings illustrating the story of the mele. Other highlights of the evening's entertainment program were the Samoan dancers and the Korean dancers.

All At The Same Time . . . Leaves The Skin Gloriously Refreshed After Each Application

YOU hear women, young and old, enthusing about the beautifying benefits of this new type "triple-action" facial. For, without a single added step in the care of the skin, with LAVENA you can cleanse, soften, and soothe—ALL AT THE SAME TIME.

A week's trial reveals a thrilling difference. Before your very eyes you see your skin becoming cleaner, softer, more youthful in appearance with each application.

That's the secret of LAVENA'S success. It is not a cold cream. It is not a soap. It will not dry the skin. Yet! It removes make-up, pore and surface dirt in a flash. It gives a refreshed, healthy feeling to the skin. It leaves the complexion satin-smooth—beautiful!

And it is so quick and easy to use LAVENA. You merely blend with a little water; smooth on your face and massage gently until the creamy mixture is almost dry. Then wipe off with wash cloth. Every trace of make-up and dirt disappear. Unlike most cleansers, LAVENA contains oatmeal and is non-alkaline and does not have a drying or irritating effect. Your skin is left feeling softer, smoother than you ever dreamed it could be.

Over 4 million packages of LAVENA have already been sold. Get a package today from your drug, department or 10c store, and thrill as thousands of women have to the beautifying results of this "triple-action" facial. Or send your name and address to Lavena, Dept. 12, 141 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois, and we will send you, absolutely FREE, a generous supply.

SYNOPSIS.

When rich old Caleb Winter dies, his wife, Isabella, once his housekeeper, wires her daughter, Sally Lee Keyne, at school in Maryland, to come home at last. Because Caleb had demanded a housekeeper without family ties, Isabella had never told him about Sally. Sally bids good-by to wise Mary Culpepper, school headmistress, and sets off. En route Sally meets Robin Ashe, whose family lives near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home—he falls in love with her. The Winter chauffeur meets Sally in Baltimore and, driving her home, gives a lift to an arrogant tramp called Vincent. Sally orders the chauffeur to put him out. The morning after Sally's homecoming, Joseph Marr, his lawyer, reads Caleb's will, and her mother has a stroke. Informed of his wife's deception, Caleb left everything to his first wife's nephew, Obadiah Crewe. Mrs. Winter, if she stays on as housekeeper, to have shelter and an income. The new heir turns out to be the tramp—Vincent Obadiah Crewe. Though she hates and fears him, Sally serves him as housekeeper in her mother's place. Vincent inherits Caleb's tricky West Indian valet, Manchi. Sally is touched when Vincent asks her to teach him to be a gentleman. Robin writes his parents, who are dependent on his rich aunt, that he wants to leave college and marry Sally. His mother and sister go to Crewe House on visitors' day. Manchi tells them that Sally is "housekeeper by courtesy" of the new heir. Sally is called upon to give riding lessons to Vincent.

INSTALMENT XXII.

A JOB FOR LIFE?

With his heavy jaw tight set, Vincent got himself into the saddle, while Jock, ironic amusement in his eyes, held the restive animal. Sally was already up. She gave Vincent a few instructions, as to his seat and reins. Jock let go Plucky's head and both horse and rider became instantly a diminishing motion picture haloed in sunset dust.

When Sally overtook the rider, perhaps half an hour later, he was mounting a steep hill and seemed, though copper colored and bathed in sweat, to be not only firmly seated but in strong if awkward control of his beast. He was, no doubt, breaking every rule of a cavalier's code, but he was still astride. Sally could see the gripping strength of his back and thighs and, all through the figure, the fury of the man's will and pride. She knew that not if Plucky should stand on his head or leap over the little new moon visible above the trees would he be able to rid himself of his sinewy master.

There was not much conversation between pupil and instructor on this first ride, Sally merely ejecting a few obvious reminders: "Don't ride him on the bit. Get the feel of his mouth in your hands. But, I think," she said, as they returned to the stable, "that you are a natural horseman, Mr. Crewe." He looked down and aside, saying nothing.

Jock, at their bridles, repressed a grimace.

"So you managed to stick him, sir?"

Flinging himself suddenly to the ground, Vincent grinned and set his hard gray look upon the boy.

"Disappointed?"

Jock reddened. "Why no, sir. I'm just a bit surprised like. What I mean. I hadn't thought you were a rider."

"I'm not. I'm just a g—d—leech. Look a here, Jock. Miss Keyne and I will be riding again every afternoon now at 3:30 o'clock."

Sally's color rose, but she would not fan the quick blue fire of revolution in Jock's eyes.

No sooner, however, were they out of earshot than Vincent, striding as though his legs were not quite under control, said sullenly:

"Jock damn well can't help you out. You're in, Miss Sally, into this job of making me a gentleman. I kind of reckon you're in for a longer sentence than you know; maybe for life."

She did not ask him this time what he meant. Her heart was cold with prophecy.

"Come in."

It was Vincent at her door.

Sally stood up.

"Mr. Crewe! Is . . . is anything wrong?"

He was deeply flushed.

"I've just been in to visit with your mother," he told her slowly in a voice of indecipherable emotion entirely absent from his face. "I just want to tell you that I didn't do her any harm. We had a fine talk. Miss Sally," his eyes were set upon her with almost defiant expressionlessness, "your mother is a great lady." [The daughter of a housekeeper could not for her life repress a glow.] "I don't wonder any more at you putting up with misery on her account. By God," said Vincent, "I feel like I could do a lot of damn unlikely things for her myself."

He stepped back, having advanced only one step into her room, and shut the door.

It was like an apparition or, Sally's diaphragm quivered, or a cuckoo clock. What a sudden queer animal he was!

She hurried, as soon as she was certain he had left their part of the house, into her mother's room. The bed light still burned, throwing its light across her patient hands. She was propped high on her pillows. The slight distortion of paralysis was still perfectly visible in lid and mouth and trailing arm, but the woman's natural vigor had now repossessed her quick dark glance and strong regular face. She smiled sidelong at Sally, showing her splendid teeth.

"Mother, darling, I told him to keep away."

After a long silent upward look Mrs. Winter said, "We're lucky, aren't we?"

"Did—did you like him?" She tried to banish incredulity out of her voice.

"He told me," Mrs. Winter smiled, "that you do not."

"O, mother!"

Mrs. Winter looked amused. "Of course that's natural." She stared up at the girl's bewildered, struggling face, then pressed her fingers hard and dropped them.

"Never mind. Don't be worried. I know I ought to hate him. If you had lived my life," she turned her head a little aside, "you'd be grateful for small mercies."

Sally's throat ached with an ache that had become painfully familiar. "But, darling, do you think Vincent Crewe is . . . even a small mercy?" Her lips curled unpreventably.

At that Mrs. Winter laughed and said, "He's very young. And so are you. Put out the light, Sally. I'm going to sleep well tonight."

Sally kissed her and obeyed. But she was herself far from the tranquillity of sleep. There was now fear in the very heart of her one sanctuary. Vincent had underminded her there. Was there no possible escape? She would ask Joseph Marr. It might be that she could borrow money, could get a position as teacher from Miss Mary at Saint Sylvester's, could repay the loan.

Behind closed lids in the darkness of her bed she saw him astride of the rebellious horse, mastering him awkwardly and strongly. "Just a g—d—leech."

Terribly oppressed, the girl turned on her light and took up a book from her bed table. But even this companion of solitude had now its association. Pushing back her tawny mane with a gesture of desperate confusion, she heard his beautiful voice reading out carefully and slowly:

"With thy clear keen joyaunce
Languor cannot be.
Shadow of annoyance
Never came near thee;
Thou lovest, but ne'er knew love's sad satiety."

"O, when," wailed Sally, throwing down her book and herself with desperation against her pillow, "when will Robin write?"

. . . .

No sooner had he received his father's telegram and his mother's letter than Robin fell back upon the second defense line of his planned campaign

Douglas James and John Bayley Mordock, who are being married at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claiborne James of The Dingle, Cumberland, Md.

Mr. Mordock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mordock of Winnetka, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Adams of San Francisco, are in Cumberland for the ceremony.

W. English Walling II. of Chicago will be Mr. Mordock's best man, and the bride's sister, Miss Anna Whiting James, will be her only attendant. A reception will be held at the country club following the ceremony. Mr. Mordock and his bride will live in Cumberland, where he has been engaged in business for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will return to Winnetka with her parents for a visit before going back to California.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler Visiting in East.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler is in the east visiting the Charles G. Cushings and seeing her sons, Leslie Jr., who is at Yale, and Pat, who is at St. Mark's. Pat is the captain of the preparatory school football team, so his mother is attending some of their games, of course.

The Kent Chandlers are planning to go east for the Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge on Nov. 20.

Judge and Mrs. George A. Carpenter and their son, George B. Carpenter, are looking forward to a visit from young Mr. Carpenter's fiancée, Miss Beatrice Chard of New York, who is coming to spend Thanksgiving with the Carpenters.

Miss Chard will spend some time with the former Katherine Carpenter and her husband, Edward J. Bermingham, in Lake Forest, also.

Mrs. Cummings to Move to Town.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is planning to close her Lake Forest house and move in to her State parkway apartment on Nov. 10. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Munson, will arrive from the northwest, and Miss Frances Munson will come from the east around Nov. 15 to be with Mrs. Cummings for some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Munson will give a dinner-dance at the Casino on Dec. 11 for Debutante Miss Muson, who was presented by Mrs. Cummings at a tea earlier in the season in Lake Forest.

A stained glass window given to the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest by Mrs. Cummings in memory of her friend, Mrs. James O. Heyworth, will be dedicated by the Rev. Herbert W. Prince at the 11 o'clock service Sunday.

The window is in the sanctuary. It was made in Vienna and is a reproduction of 13th century glass from old Austrian churches. The dedication service will be near the first anniversary of Mrs. Heyworth's death, and also is near her birthday.

The Christmas plans of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dunham call for a trip to California. They will spend the holiday in San Francisco with her daughter, Mrs. Jerd Sullivan, and with his daughter, Mrs. John Hooker.

The senior Mrs. George J. Jaeger has closed her home at Wianno, Mass., and is spending the winter in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Warner and Lansing Warner Jr. have sailed from New York in the Santa Paula on a cruise through the canal to California. Mrs. John F. Herdic sailed in the same boat.

Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. Prolongs Stay in East.

Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. is prolonging her stay in the east until mid-November. She still is at Castle Hill, her beautiful estate at Ipswich, Mass., but on Nov. 1 she will go to New York for a fortnight's stay befor returning to Chicago.

Miss Margot Atkin, who is in Berlin now, is having such a good time abroad that she is extending her visit until December.

Gilbert Seldes, who is talking this afternoon before the Drama Club of Evanston on "The Dying Stage and the Deathless Theater," will be given a dinner tonight at the Tavern by the Society of Midland Authors. Among those who will be there to meet Mr. Seldes will be the Harold Pynchons. Mrs. Pynchon's new book, "Dinner Table Art for the Tired Business Man," will be out Nov. 1.

Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick and Mrs. Ralph James will be co-hostesses for the opening causerie of the Alliance Française this afternoon, with Mrs. Aldis J. Browne and Mrs. Jules Block assisting them. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler will pour at the tea following the program of songs to be given by Mr. Sudler and Miss Willa Dryden.

At a children's party Mrs. James W. Rogers is giving Dec. 4 two talented young Lake Foresters, Mrs. Cecil I. Crouse and Mrs. Richard Delafield, will appear as entertainers with their Oakwood puppets in original short plays. For the last few weeks the two young women have been hard at work decorating their portable theater and rehersing the plays. Fist puppets and not marionettes are used.

A party that gives promise of being an amusing one is a Cowboy Shambles that several near north side bachelors are planning for Saturday, Nov. 6, at 9 o'clock, at Koch's hall in North Larrabee street. It will be a Dutch treat party and guests are asked to wear ranch costumes.

Miss Frances Horton of Winona, Minn., arrived yesterday to visit her aunt, Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, and to attend the opening of the opera on Saturday night. Miss Horton will assist this afternoon at a cocktail party Mr. and Mrs. Miller are giving for Mme. Rosa Raisa and Jerzy Czaplicki of the Chicago City Opera company.

Miss Eleanor Wetten was elected president and Miss Gretcheon Onderdonk was chosen vice president at a recent meeting of the north shore junior board of the Northwestern University settlement. Knitting, sewing, needlework, and driving the children of the settlement to clinics is the work undertaken by the board members.

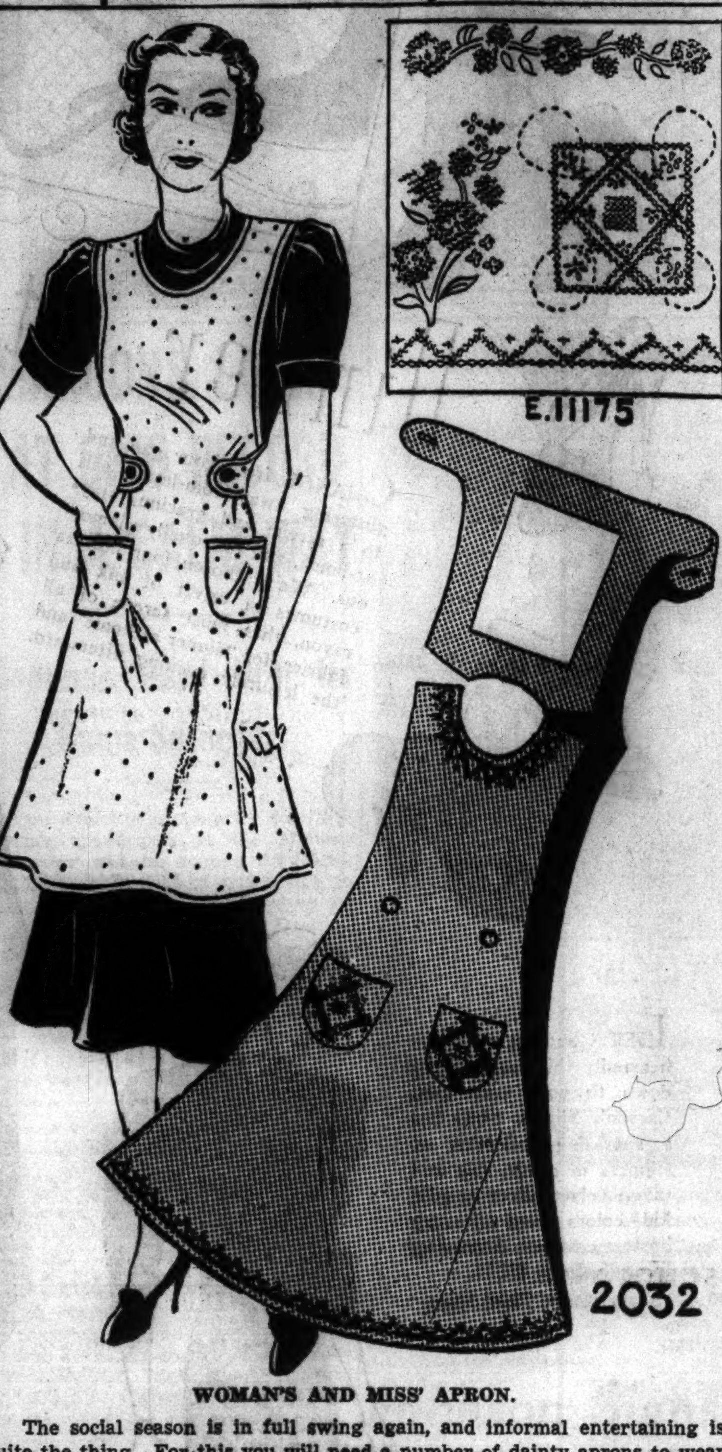
Apron for Party Dresses



WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRON.

The social season is in full swing again, and informal entertaining is quite the thing. For this you will need a number of dainty aprons to wear over your party frocks when you retire to the kitchen regions to prepare the midnight repast. Besides, aprons such as the one illustrated make excellent party prizes and little gifts to one's week-end hostess. Many are the times, we know, when you have a few minutes to yourself and want to keep your fingers busy. There's nothing quite as relaxing and profitable as making dainty garments such as this.

A minimum of material is required, and the choice of fabrics in the shops is wide. Perhaps you like merely binding as contrast and as trimming. Or you may prefer the addition of embroidery on pockets and neckline. [May we suggest embroidery pattern No. E-11175? The pattern costs ten cents extra.]

It's as easy as A-B-C to sew this apron, and it's as comfortable to wear as your skin.

All the smart cottons, both sheer and heavy, make up well, and dimity is a grand idea.

Frances Foy Has Show of Water Colors

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The first exhibit this fall in the Marshall Field galleries is of water colors by Frances Foy. These are chiefly flower paintings and are as delicate and lovely as Miss Foy has led us to anticipate a flower painting should be when her name is signed to it.

Other painters may show flowers as vivid, deeply rooted, strong-stemmed pieces of vegetation that just by chance bear prettier heads than does the onion or the beet, but Miss Foy will have none of such realistic prosaic truth. To her, flowers are something special and should be approached with appreciation and respect. She paints them tenderly and sensitively, combining kinds and colors into heavenly bouquets.

Most of these water colors deal with cut garden flowers; a spray of apple blossoms stands alone and one solid vegetable [something purple, is it a pepper?] lies in haughty, practical isolation, very perfect in drawing and very self-sufficient. An out-of-doors scrap of woods yields a fascinating flock of snowdrops pressing up in the shadow of a gray stone.

When Miss Foy takes her brush and paints to the woods there is nothing left for the reporter to do but break into near verse in commenting upon the results. Whether it be snowdrops, violets, or mushrooms, Frances Foy paints them with a quick, delicate certainty that is highly intriguing.

Twenty stunning paintings by Julius Moessel are on exhibition in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, to Nov. 3. There are penguins, birds of paradise, cockatoos, and various other gaily colored and spirited looking fowls.

Moessel stands alone in his kind of decorative painting. His bird pictures are familiar to many of us, and a new exhibit of his work is always worth while. This show includes several old friends, but they all make good seeing.

An exhibit of twenty-two water colors by Al Kortner may be seen at the Brudno Art Supply company, 105 East Ohio street. They make an interesting show.

Lloyd Behnken.

The son of the president of one of the largest Lutheran synods in America will play the part of the young Martin Luther in the Reformation day drama, "Luther the Liberator," Sunday at the Civic Opera house. This is Lloyd Behnken, 533 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, 18 years old, son of Dr. J. W. Behnken, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Mission synod. As the reformer grows older in the drama the part will be taken by William Zeiter. More than 500 persons will take part in the spectacle.

According to CULBERTSON

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer. Or mail answers to Mr. Culbertson, care of this paper, and at the end of the examination he will send you a personal certificate with your mark and bridge classification.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Questions 25 and 26 of the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. They were:

Question 25: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. Your partner dealt and bid one no trump. Next hand passed. You hold:

♠10 8 5 4 ♥J 9 7 5 ♦6 ♣A J 8 3

What call do you make?

Answer: You should bid two clubs. Your distribution [singleton diamond] is not advantageous at no trump. If partner now can bid either major suit your hand will warant a raise in that suit, and definite hope of game. [One point demerit for passing. Two points demerit for any bid except two clubs].

Question 26: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Your holding is:

♠QJ1084 ♥AJ975 ♦53 ♣7

What card do you lead?

Answer: Your best lead is the spade queen. This is an attacking lead and, at the same time, a safe one. To lead away from your heart semitenace may be to present the declarer with the one trick needed for his contract. [One point demerit for fourth best heart lead. Two points demerit for a diamond or club lead].

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 27: You are East, defending against a four spade contract. West opened the diamond king. Dummy and your hand are as follows:

North [dummy].	East.
♥J952	♥Q10
♦A63	♦J5
♣QJ9	♣K8754

The diamond ace won the first trick, and the club queen is led. Do you or do you not cover?

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.

♠5 4
♥Q J 10 6 3 2

WEST

♦J 7 5
♣10 6 4 3 2

SOUTH
♥A 7
♦A K 10 6 4 2
♣A K

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 no trump	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 no trump	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Obviously, South did some fancy bidding. He chose to open with two no trump rather than the correct bid of two diamonds, because his partner was weak in the play of the cards and if the final contract was to be no trump South wanted to "get there first." West's double was just one more instance of a foolish bid, much to lose by "placing cards," and little to gain.

The spade king was opened, East following with the seven. Declarer won, cashed the ace and king of clubs, then crossed to the diamond queen and discarded a spade on the club queen. Declarer then rattled off the entire diamond suit.

Coming down to three cards, West did exactly as declarer had hoped he would do. Naturally, he had to guard the heart king, and this reduced him to one spade. To his everlasting shame, he kept the spade queen instead of a low spade. He was now thrown on lead with a spade and had to return a heart from his king.

I wish I had a dollar for every time this mistake is made. I grant, unequivocally, that West could not be sure about the location of the spade jack. But one thing he should have known: that was, that if he held on to the spade queen against this particular declarer, he certainly would be end-played. The right defense would have been to chuck the spade queen and pray that East, instead of declarer, held the jack.

Tomorrow's Hand

Young Woman Wise in Having Several Beaux

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Dora says: "He asked me to go steady. We went together for two months. He went to a summer resort, and when he returned he told me he did not want to go steady any longer, as he is too young. He is 21 and I am 18. He says there isn't any other girl. But he has not called me for a date since. I love him very much. I tried calling him, and writing to him, but he never asks to see me. What shall I do?"

Don't you think it would be an excellent idea to get out and make new friends? Your efforts to force the young man into your way of thinking about your romance haven't met with any success. You don't want to keep on writing to him or telephoning when he makes no effort whatsoever to see you or talk to you. Your persistence will turn him against you entirely. You can't ever expect to impress a young man or hope to win him back that way, Dora.

He's right in that he feels it is a mistake to devote so much of his time to you, or to any girl. He'll have time for that when he is older, better established, and has thoughts of settling down. But now he's young. He wants to have good times, go out with many different girls, and that he can't do if there is one girl demanding that he show her every attention.

When you recover from your hurt at being more or less discarded by the young man with whom you think you're in love, you'll find it a lot more fun to go out with others. You'll find each has his attractions. You'll like one because he has such an amusing "line," another because he is such a good dancer, and so on. It's an education to go about with the different boys. It will give you some idea of the things that are important and those that aren't. You'll be a much better judge of human nature because of the experience. When you're older, and wiser, and really in love, you'll know the qualifications that are essential to happiness and will be broad enough to overlook the shortcomings that may be apparent but which aren't important as they do not affect the real character of a young man.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

She's Too Young to Date.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am interested in a very nice boy but he was told I am only 11. I actually am 14, but he thinks I am too young for him.

"PEGGY."

At your age, you should be busy at school. I suggest you forget about boys.

SONSTEBY PLANS COURT CLINIC FOR ERRATIC DRIVERS

Ready by 1938, He Tells Safety Workers.

By the first of the year Chicago is to have a Municipal court safety clinic at which automobile drivers found guilty of trafic law violations will receive mental and physical examinations and road tests. This announcement was made by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Keep Chicago Safe committee in the Hotel Sherman.

Remarking that Mayor Kelly favored the plan, Judge Sonsteby said he would ask the city council for $2,000 to equip the clinic. "We hope to be able to demonstrate to a man that his eyes are defective, his reaction time is slow, or that his mental attitude in driving is bad," the judge continued. "He then can avoid future law violations as well as accidents."

Reports on Auto Deaths.

George Fleming, secretary of the safety committee, who presided at the luncheon, reported that motor vehicle accidents now account for 36 per cent of all accidental deaths. So far this year there has been an increase of more than 19 per cent in automobile deaths in Illinois outside of Chicago and an increase of less than 7 per cent in Chicago as compared with the same months of 1936.

Judge J. M. Braude of the Safety court told those at the luncheon that he hoped such a clinic as Judge Sonsteby proposed could evolve a practical system for testing drinking drivers. Alcohol, he said, was a factor in half the cases brought before him.

Alcohol was undoubtedly the chief factor in the appearance in Jury court' yesterday of Charles Novak, who boasted when he was arrested on Oct. 8 that he had just finished 445 drinks. Novak's trial on a charge of drunken driving began before a jury in Judge Francis Borrelli's court on Tuesday, but yesterday he suddenly pleaded guilty. He was fined $100, sentenced to 20 days in jail, and ordered not to drive for a year. Novak is 37 years old and lives at 5310 Cullom avenue.

$100 Fine Imposed.

In Safety court Judge Braude fined Chris Jensen, 7159 Bennett avenue, $100 and suspended his driving rights for four months. Jensen was found guilty of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. On reckless driving charges Claire Arneson, East Chicago, was fined $15 and suspended three months, and Victor Hood, 3434 Broadway, was put on probation for six months and suspended sixty days.

Clarence Hyland, 18 years old, 3250 Montrose avenue, was fined $5 and barred from driving for a year by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Boys' court. After Hyland's automobile fatally injured Olaf Olden, 74 years old, on Monday, a coroner's jury exonerated him. "I don't care what the coroner's jury decided," said Judge Gorman in imposing sentence.

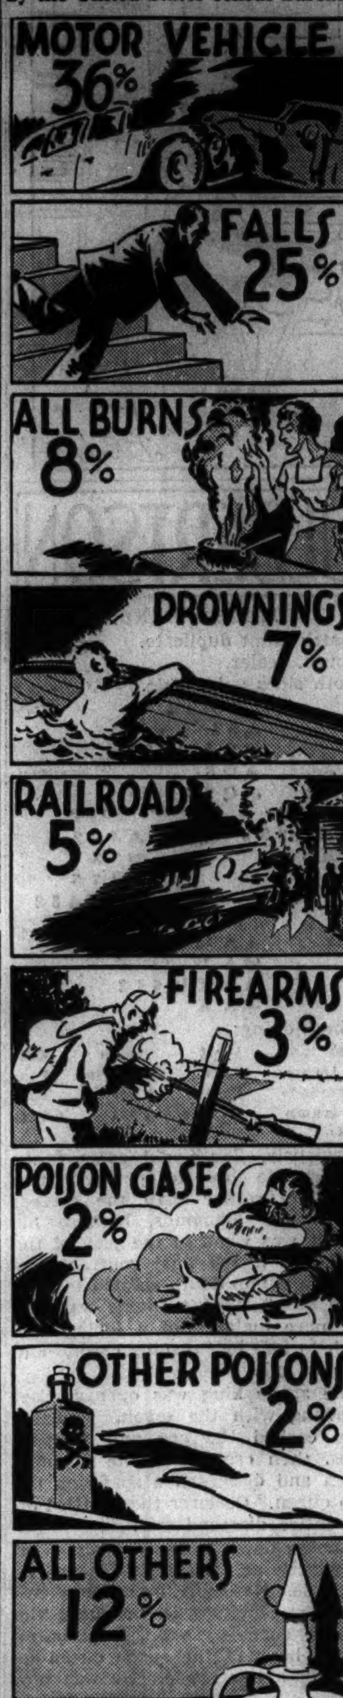
Auto accidents are responsible for more deaths than any other classification, according to figures compiled by the United States census bureau.



ALD. PORTEN'S BROTHER KILLED BY MOTOR TRUCK

Driver Crushed Cranking Vehicle in Gear.

John Porten, 42 years old, a brother of Ald. Matt Porten [34th], was killed yesterday when he cranked a truck in gear and was crushed against a freight car at 18th street and Western avenue. Porten, who lived at 2744 Cortland street, was a truck driver for the city.

One of the 18 passengers was injured last night when a Greyhound bus bound from Chicago to Madison struck the rear of a truck which was stalled in Mannheim road just south of Grand avenue. Mrs. Frank Salber, 25 years old, of Silva, N. D., was treated for cuts and bruises by Dr. John M. Grinde of Madison, a fellow passenger, after which she and the others resumed their journey in a bus sent to replace the damaged one.

Boy Cyclist Killed.

Clarence Nelson, 14 years old, 4115 North Kolmar avenue, was killed when his bicycle struck a depression in Addison street, 60 feet east of Kedzie avenue, and he was thrown under a Chicago Motor Coach company bus.

Struck by an automobile Tuesday night in front of 4129 South State street, Mrs. Helen Cockerton, 48 years old, 11313 South Homan avenue, died in County hospital. William J. Ryan, 2913 Normal avenue, driver of the car, was ordered to attend the inquest today.

Frank Richards, 73 years old, 1635 North Central avenue, died last night in the County hospital of injuries suffered on Oct. 4 when he was struck in front of 5427 North avenue by an automobile driven by Herbert Pudka, 19 years old, 4851 Kamerling avenue.

Infirmary Inmate Killed.

Peter Eck, 61 years old, an inmate of the Oak Forest infirmary, was killed last night in 159th street near Cicero avenue when he was struck by a motorcycle ridden by Walker Stec, 24 years old, of Lockport.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 881 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 669 were killed in Chicago, where 18,920 were injured in the same period.

DRAFT ORDINANCE TO FIX FEES ON TRAILER CAMPS

Limit Use as Home to 30 Days a Year.

Ald. John A. Massen [48th] will introduce an ordinance at the city council meeting next Wednesday to establish licensing fees and regulations for automobile trailers and camping grounds within the city. The ordinance is being prepared by the corporation counsel's office and the board of health, which has announced that trailer camps not complying with sanitary requirements will be closed.

The health department, in the draft of an ordinance sent to Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes several months ago, wished to prohibit any person from using a trailer for living quarters within the city limits for more than two weeks in the year. Mr. Hodes suggested that the limitation period should be 90 days in any six months' period. Ald. Massen said yesterday, however, that the time will be 30 days in any year in his ordinance.

$10 License Fee for Camps.

The license fee for trailer camps in the proposed ordinance will be $10 annually, with an additional $4 for each trailer over three that can be accommodated in the camp. The license charge for trailer owners will probably be $5 or $7 a year.

The ordinance would further provide that camp sites must be approved by the health, building, smoke abatement, police and fire departments and the applicant for a camp license must obtain frontage consents from property owners within 500 feet of the site. Minimum ground space for each trailer will be specified.

Richard E. Schmidt, city building commissioner, said yesterday that provisions of the code governing tenement houses—a minimum of 80 square feet of bedroom space and a minimum of 8 feet 6 inches between room floors and ceilings—should apply to trailers. Schmidt also suggested that trailer colonies should not be allowed in residential districts lest neighboring property values be lowered.

Five Camp Owners Cited.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, has cited five owners of camping grounds on complaints that sanitary requirements are not being met. The camps are at 92d street and Jeffery avenue, 2772 East 75th street, at the rear of a garage at 5238 Broadway, at 5283 Elston avenue, and at 6135 Lincoln avenue.

The owner of the Lincoln avenue camp, Victor Kleinert; his son, Victor Jr., and Harold Ford, who works in a riding stable on the premises, are charged with assaulting a newspaper photographer who tried to photograph the camp from the public highway on Tuesday. The Kleinerts are also charged with malicious mischief for breaking the photographer's camera. The charges were continued yesterday to Nov. 18 in the Felony court.

IF+IF+IF= N. U. CHANCE TO RETAIN TITLE

Wildcats' Road Is a Devious One.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern hasn't given up hope entirely in the Big Ten championship race. And while the only possible route to the championship is devious and involves as many "ifs" as Kipling's poem, the Wildcats still believe they may retain their title.

Since Northwestern has been defeated by Ohio State, the Wildcats are placing their bets on Indiana to win from the Buckeyes. In the meantime, Northwestern must defeat Wisconsin this Saturday, follow that up with a victory over Illinois, and then defeat Minnesota on Nov. 13. If this program is completed, Northwestern, by virtue of its six game conference schedule, will have a percentage advantage over Ohio State and Minnesota.

First Come the Badgers.

First objective for Northwestern, of course, is the Wisconsin game. Despite Wisconsin's complete offensive failure against Pittsburgh, Northwestern will find the Badgers a difficult team to whip. Wisconsin probably qualifies as the conference eleven which has played to 100 per cent of its ability in all of its five games. Pitt overpowered the Wisconsin line, outcharging the Badgers so completely that Wisconsin couldn't even make its passes click. But there'll be no such disparity of line strength Saturday at Madison.

With Doyle back at guard, Wisconsin will be somewhat stronger, but Wisconsin's problem remains the same as that which faced Coach Harry Stuhldreher and his assistants at the beginning of the season. Wisconsin lacks experienced and effective tackles. Four men were graduated last year, and Dorsch, Brodhagen, and Conley have been the mainstays at these positions in the five games Wisconsin has played.

N. U. Lacks Plunging Back.

Northwestern does not have the type of attack to take complete advantage of Wisconsin's line. The Wildcats do not have a line plunger who can crack the line for a yard when that yard means a first down. While Jack Ryan, a sophomore, has played full back to the almost complete exclusion of other candidates, he really is a half back and performed at that position in his freshman year.

Ryan was picked for full back because of his defensive ability, particularly against forward passes, and his passing. This means that Northwestern's attack still must be centered around off tackle plays, wide end runs, and passes. The attack will play into Wisconsin's defensive strength.

Now Wildcats Know.

Northwestern has done no second guessing on the Ohio State game, except to admit that the boys now know how Purdue and Michigan felt after the Wildcats edged them out. And this inability to move steadily over the ground is the offensive weakness of the Wildcats. Michigan was beaten by a forward pass and Purdue was beaten by an intercepted pass.

There are many who think Indiana can lick Ohio State. The Buckeyes now are pointing for that game. Last year Ohio State won, 7 to 0, and in view of Indiana's battle this year with Minnesota, which the Gophers won, 6 to 0, after repeatedly stopping the Hoosiers' air attack at the goal line, Ohio State may have its difficulties.

Gophers Haven't Forgotten.

Northwestern may be forced to revise its ideas of Minnesota's strength after this Saturday's battle between the Gophers and the Irish. But whether Minnesota wins or loses the Gophers certainly will be in form for Northwestern. They haven't forgotten in Minneapolis that Northwestern snatched the Big Ten title from Minnesota last year.

The outstanding game in the east this week, which in that section will eclipse the fight between Minnesota and Notre Dame, is Yale and Dartmouth. Although both are undefeated, each has been thoroughly tested only once. Dartmouth's best achievement to date was last Saturday's conquest of Harvard, 20 to 2. Other victories are: Dartmouth, 39; Bates, 0. Dartmouth, 31; Amherst, 7. Dartmouth, 42; Springfield, 0. Dartmouth, 41; Brown, 0.

Yale won from Army, 15 to 7, and last Saturday defeated Cornell, 9 to 0. Prior to these games Yale whipped Maine, 26 to 0, and Pennsylvania, 27 to 7.

California Meets U. C. L. A.

California, apparently headed for the Pacific coast championship, is not expected to have undue difficulty this week in its game with its sister university, California at Los Angeles. Stanford, now in second place in the conference race, is California's rival opponent. Prior to the Stanford game the Bears meet Washington and Oregon.

Alabama and Vanderbilt now are the undefeated rivals for the Southeastern conference championship by virtue of Vanderbilt's victory over Louisiana. The Commodores still have Tennessee as a major opponent be-

MAROONS LOOK AT OHIO RECORD IN A CALM WAY

Continue Hard Drill for Game Saturday.

Two weeks of preparation for Ohio State's appearance at the Midway Saturday will be topped off today with the daily dose of scrimmage to which the Maroons have become accustomed.

To Chicago all opponents look alike, and they all look tough. Therefore, the Maroons are not unduly impressed by the Buckeye record, and the Buckeye numbers and weight. They drove ahead yesterday with their own campaign of self-improvement.

No further changes in the starting lineup developed during an afternoon which saw the first team operate successfully against the freshmen on offense, and the second team operate unsuccessfully against the frosh on defense.

In yesterday's work, Letts proved especially adept as a pass receiver. Against the Buckeyes the Maroon hope on attack must rest with passes. The Ohio State offense, even as performed by Maroon freshmen, was good for two touchdowns against the reserves in yesterday's rehersal.

It's Twelfth Game in Series.

Saturday's encounter will be the twelfth between the two teams. Ohio has won seven, Chicago has won two, and two have been ties. Last year the Buckeyes overwhelmed the Maroons at Columbus, but the previous year Jay Berwanger and his mates were leading by two touchdowns at the half.

Four Big Ten teams will work out on Stagg field tomorrow. Michigan, en route to Illinois; Iowa, on its way to Purdue; Ohio State, which arrives in Chicago tomorrow morning, and the Maroons.

OHIO TESTS RESERVES.

Columbus, O., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The reserve strength on Ohio State's football team again was given most of the attention in today's drill in preparation for the game Saturday with the Maroons at Chicago.

Coach Schmidt sent the reserves against a picked team of freshmen, who demonstrated Maroon plays of past games. Following this, a long offensive drill was held.

Warren Chrissinger, a substitute for Zarnas at right guard, is expected to be in the starting lineup against Chicago. Chrissinger is a senior and for three years has been sharing the position with Zarnas, but so far never has started a game.

Bill Phillips, Bill Bullock and Frank Zadworney are expected to break into the game early in the contest, so good has their work been this week.

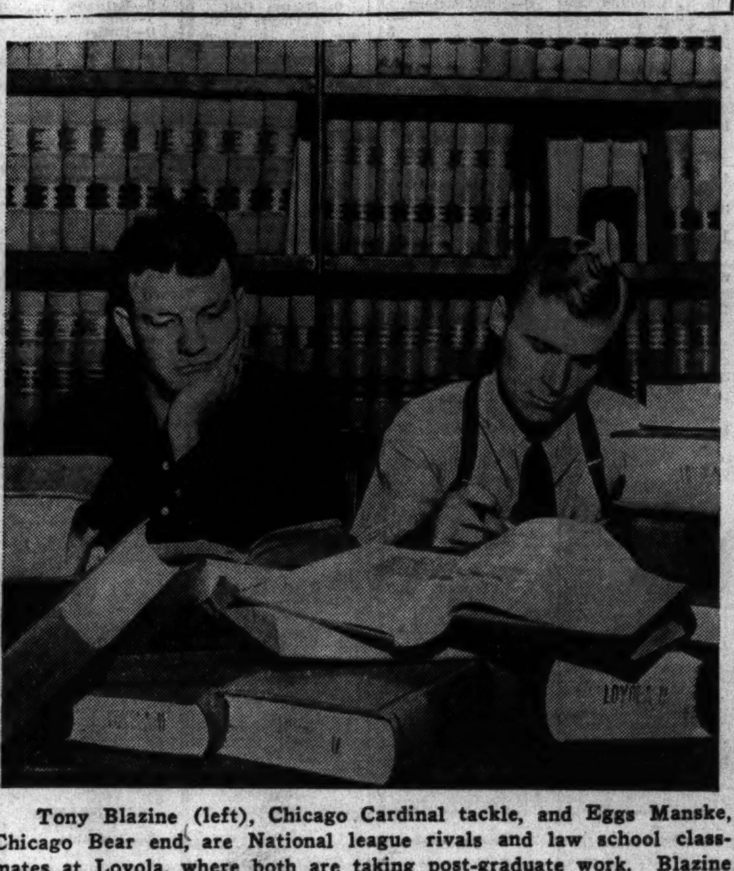
Today's session is the last hard practice for the week before the Buckeyes entrain for Chicago tomorrow night.

ROY CARRUTHERS IS RECOVERING AFTER OPERATION

The condition of Roy Carruthers, general manager of the Arlington Park race track, was reported as satisfactory last night following a major operation yesterday morning at the Presbyterian hospital. Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer performed the operation. Carruthers also serves as general manager of the Keeneland track near Lexington, Ky.

Carruthers, who resigned as general manager of the Washington Park track last spring, plans to leave for California immediately upon his release from the hospital. He will serve as an official at the Santa Anita track near Los Angeles.

CLASSMATES AND FOEMEN



Tony Blazine (left), Chicago Cardinal tackle, and Eggs Manske, Chicago Bear end, are National league rivals and law school classmates at Loyola, where both are taking post-graduate work. Blazine plays against Cleveland at Wrigley field Sunday while Manske opposes the Giants in New York. Both are products of the Tribune's All-Star game, Tony in 1935 and Manske in 1934. Johnson Signs with Rams for Cards' Battle

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Business was brisk in the Cardinals' camp yesterday after announcement from Green Bay that Cleveland had purchased Full Back Chester Johnson, a veteran in the National league. The Cardinals meet Cleveland at Wrigley field Sunday and extensive preparations are being made to prevent a collapse of the excellent attack the Cardinals have flashed in their last two games.

Johnson is a superb blocker and a hard smashing ball carrier. His release to Cleveland is another effort on the part of National league owners to lend a hand to the young Cleveland organization, struggling to build a contender in its first year in the major league.

Cards Remember Rams.

The Cardinals have memories of a very trying day at Cleveland several weeks ago when a huge Ram line prevented them from scoring until Gaynell Tinsley picked up a fumble and went seventeen yards for the only touchdown of the game. With Johnson to provide the blocking which has been missing when John Drake, former Purdue half back and star of the Tribune's All-Star game, carried the ball, Cleveland will be immeasurably improved offensively.

Veterans form the greater part of the Cleveland team now, with Ookie Miller, Ted Rosequist, and Vernon Oech of the Bears; Horse Mattos of Green Bay, and Sam Busich of Boston, among the seasoned performers acquired to take the places of highly touted collegians who did not measure up to professional standards.

Stress Offense for Fiske.

Offensive drill was stressed yesterday in an effort to acquaint Max Fiske, the former De Paul half back purchased from Pittsburgh, with Cardinal passing plays. Fiske is expected to bring the Cardinals the all-purpose passer needed to round the aerial attack, which confounded the Bears, Pittsburgh, Washington, and Green Bay, into one of the most formidable offensive weapons in football. Fiske will alternate with George Grosvenor and Pat Coffee on the passing end of plays built around Tinsley and Doug Russell.

Bronko Nagurski was released by the Bears' physician yesterday and turned over to Trainer Andy Lotshaw. He was pronounced well on the way to recovery from a bruised foot suffered in the Detroit game last Sunday. Nagurski will be ready to face the Giants in New York this week. The Bears will work out at Wrigley field today and tomorrow and leave for New York Friday afternoon.

MICHIGAN FEARS NEW TRICKS BY ZUPPKE, ILLINOIS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 27.—[Special.] — Michigan's football team turned to defense today in preparation for the game with Illinois Saturday. Illinois pass plays were worked by freshmen against the varsity in skeleton defense formation and in a dummy scrimmage. Illinois running plays were not emphasized, following Scout Wallie Weber's announcement that the running attack which Coach Bob Zuppke will have ready after two weeks of preparation cannot be predicted.

The squad concluded its drills with a turn against the tackling dummy. Tackling has drawn criticism from the Wolverine coaches since early in the season.

Two lineup changes seemed probable today as Center Archie Kodros and End Danny Smick returned to the first team. Injuries had led to their replacement last week by Capt. Joe Rinaldi and Elmer Gedeon. John Kinsey, sophomore full back, was recalled from the junior varsity squad to alternate with Tex Stanton on the first team.

ILLINI TAKE IT EASY.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Feeling that the Illini regulars had had all they need of hard work for the Michigan game, Coach Bob Zuppke applied a softer pedal today as preparations for the homecoming game with Michigan proceeded. There was lighter drill for the players likely to see most of the service against the Wolverines.

Zuppke's lineups confirmed the prediction that he will replace Tiny Cramer at right tackle with Swede Lundberg, 215 pounder. Lundberg, regarded as one of the leading sophomore linemen on pre-season information, hitherto has been a second string tackle.

Hope that Bob Wehrli, right half back, will continue the improvement he has been showing is held by the coaches. Bo Burris, reserve right half back, also is being drilled as sub for full back. Ed Skarda was drilled as a tackle reserve and is also a possibility as a guard replacement.

Carolin Babcock, Coast Net Star, Married to New Yorker

TWO OLD CHICAGO FAVORITES BRING TEAMS TO TOWN

It's Driscoll vs. Shaw at Soldiers' Field.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

When Marquette university and University of Santa Clara meet Saturday afternoon at Soldiers' field in one of the most important intersectional battles of the local season, they will be directed by two gents whose personal deeds with a football were gaining the public prints more than somewhat a few years back. One is John L. [Paddy] Driscoll, now in his first year as head coach at Marquette. His rival will be Lawrence T. [Buck] Shaw, who will bring the Santa Clara eleven into town tomorrow morning.

Driscoll, the 145 pound back who is still regarded as the No. 1 hero of the modern era at Northwestern, was graduated at Evanston in 1918. The following year saw Shaw make his debut as a tackle at Notre Dame. Through the 1921 season, Buck stood out as one of the greatest lineman the Irish ever had. In his senior year, he established a record of making 38 points after touchdown out of 39 attempts.

Hilltoppers Perk Up.

Saturday's game, proceeds of which will benefit the Chicago Park District Employés' Voluntary Welfare association, will bring together Santa Clara, one of the few undefeated and untied teams in the country, and Marquette, a young team hampered by injuries which is seeking to overcome the handicap created by the loss of such stars as Buzz Buivid, the Brothers Guepe and Ward Cuff.

For Driscoll, one of the greatest all around athletes this neck of the woods has produced, the game will be in the nature of a homecoming. On Sept. 16 Paddy was honored here by a group of 2,000 civic leaders and sportsmen. The Marquette lads, who have won only two games, while losing three, are reported to be of a mind to make that homecoming a success by licking the Broncos. The Hilltoppers lost a 21 to 7 argument against Michigan State last Saturday, but while doing so displayed the kind of football which had been lacking in their other defeats.

Lose To Baugh.

There also will be a homecoming tinge to Shaw's arrival tomorrow, for he is a native Iowan and his alma mater is not far down the pike from our town. The coast boss' early coaching career kept him hopping from posts such as Nevada to North Carolina State, and back to Nevada. He remained there until 1928, when he went to Santa Clara as line coach and assistant to Maurice [Clipper] Smith. He served in this capacity until the beginning of last season, when he succeeded to the head coaching job after Smith went to Villanova.

Shaw's teams these last two years have been the most consistent winners ever turned out there. Last year, the Broncos won eight and lost only to Sammy Baugh and Texas Christian. Among their victories were decisions over St. Mary's and Stanford, the season ending with a Sugar Bowl triumph over Louisiana State.

Yesterday, while the Santa Clara eleven was taking a brief limbering up drill at Ogden, Utah, Driscoll put his Hilltoppers through their last heavy scrimmage in Milwaukee. They will hold only a light drill today, entraining for Chicago tomorrow after their morning classes. They will follow Santa Clara onto Soldiers' field tomorrow afternoon for their last tuneup, after registering at the Stevens hotel. Santa Clara, which arrives at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, will be quartered at the South Shore Country club.

Two Linemen Out.

Driscoll's problem was increased when two star linemen were unable to take part in yesterday's scrimmage. Roy Schoemann, who starred at center against St. Mary's last year, is suffering from the effects of an anti-tetanus injection taken after an early season injury in practice. He was relieved by Eddie Niemi, 202 pound reserve. Roger Lumb, senior tackle, also was absent, due to an ailing shin, injured in the Michigan State game. Two sophomores were promoted to the Marquette back field, and both are likely to be permanent fixtures. One is Andy Bakula, hero of the Michigan State game, and other is Dan Koster, 190 pound full back.

After the aforesaid brief drill at Ogden yesterday, Coach Shaw, his 35 Broncos, and 60 rooters piled back on the train. They will hold a real workout at the University of Denver field today. Shaw pronounced the team in excellent shape.

The Movies.

"Doctor, Wife, and Nurse"—
Tell me, are the movies
Going from bad to worse?
Same old gags and stories
O'er and o'er and o'er,
Is there nothing new beneath
The old sun any more?

The Marxes at the races
With a mess of hoop-de-lah,
The Ritz boys go to college
With hysteric rah-rah-rah,
Next, no doubt, the Stooges Three
Will make a full length feature,
Then what's left to live for?
Kindly tell me, teacher.

And then those awful stories
About the old "front page,"
If folks on papers act like that
They should be in a cage;
I gnash my teeth, I weep aloud
At the movies' sorry plight—
But, Bo, you hit it on the head,
I'm going again tonight !

VI.

Suppose some day when things were looking blue,
And we were seven points behind our foes,
And all the people in the grandstand knew
Our boys would have to take it on the nose,
The coach would hurry me into the game
And I'd pass sixty yards and, strange to say,
Speed down the field and catch my own long pass.

And though my arm was sprained I wouldn't quit
Till I had brought my team to victory,
And sporting sheets would praise me for my grit,
And Jane would write from Kokomo to say

FORMER YANKEE STAR WILL TALK WITH WRIGLEY

Nature of Opening Still a Mystery.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Mr. Anthony Lazzeri, late of the New York Yankees, whose baseball status has been made a first class mystery by the Cubs, is in our city to find out what the shooting is all about.

Lazzeri, answering a ten day summons during which all of the managerial openings on which he had his eyes focused, had closed up, arrived here yesterday from his home in San Francisco.

Carrying out the theme that the matter does not require haste, the ex-Yankee star did not go into conference with President Owner P. K. Wrigley. However, some progress was announced. The athlete and the club magnate talked over the telephone.

They Meet Today.

The big meeting, the purpose of which Owner Wrigley has successfully concealed since he decided to seek Tony's services, will take place today. Tony will be escorted into the club's offices and will be told just what sort of a job Wrigley has to offer. At least Wrigley, according to what he has said in advance, will offer the job, if in the course of the conference he becomes convinced that the former Yankee star has the qualifications.

So far as is known Tony doesn't know what it is all about but it is a good bet that he has already been given all the details covering the duties and the pay involved. The affair evidently intrigues him or he wouldn't have made the transcontinental journey, what with nothing else remaining in the shape of big league employment.

Expect No Sensation.

Despite his desire not to let the cat out of the bag until Lazzeri could get here to assist in the ceremony, it has been whispered around that there is nothing of a sensational nature attached to Wrigley's plan.

The idea that the Cub owner had in mind the shelving of Manager Charles Grimm and placing Lazzeri in the vacancy has been definitly squelched by Wrigley. However, the contention that the plan involved nothing more than the signing of Lazzeri as a coach and utility infielder hasn't been denied.

Neither has Wrigley refuted the theory that he aims to make Lazzeri manager of the Los Angeles club, which, while a Wrigley holding, never has been operated as a farm for Cub prospects. This arrangement may be altered although the Cubs first will have to pick up some budding talent worthy of Class AA hire.

Amputate Leg of Injured Lake Forest Tackle

The right leg of Albert Kroll, regular tackle on the Lake Forest college football team, was amputated last night in the Alice Home hospital, Lake Forest, as a result of an injury he suffered in last Saturday's homecoming game with James Millikin university of Decatur. While trying to rush a passer Kroll was struck by an opposing player in a hard block.

Dr. Donald J. McGrew and Dr. John D. Claridge, who performed the operation, said the arteries of Kroll's leg had been injured, causing a blood clot to form. Gangrene set in and amputation was necessary to save his life. Dr. Herbert M. Moore, president of the college, and Coach Ralph Jones were at the hospital during the operation. Afterward Dr. Moore said it was practically certain that two remaining games on the Lake Forest schedule would be canceled. These games are scheduled with North Central college, Naperville, and Kenyon college, Gambier, O.

GROWTH WILL BE REMOVED FROM DIETRICH'S ARM

"They tell me I've got a chipped bone and a growth on my right elbow," said Dietrich, "and it caused a lot of trouble. Why, near the end of the season I was in bad shape every time I threw a ball and what looked like my greatest year turned out to be a disappointment, at least to me."

Dietrich, a Philadelphia resident, conferred with Manager Jimmy Dykes last week and Dykes made arrangements for him to go to Chicago.

DEFENSE BASIS OF GOPHERS' LAST HARD WORKOUT

Notre Dame's Off Tackle Plays Get Attention.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Secret practice at the University of Minnesota shifted over to the defensive side today in the last hard practice prior to the Notre Dame game, which will be played before a record crowd of 64,000 in Memorial stadium Saturday.

Coach Bernie Bierman indicated that his offense was as far advanced as it could hope to be for this particular game, and so he turned to defense.

Most important in that defensive scheme was concentration on the end and tackle play. The reason was evident. Bierman in scouting Notre Dame Saturday observed that the Irish had a powerful sweep and off tackle combination in McCormick and McCarthy, and stopping those slants would be absolutely necessary if Notre Dame is to be stopped at all.

That will mean the right side combination of Louis Midler and Capt. Ray King, and the left side duo, Charlie Schultz and Dwight Reed, will have their hands full and may carry the secret of Saturday's contest.

IRISH IN TACKLING DRILL.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden ordered a tackling drill for his Notre Dame squad today, apparently with the idea of holding down Saturday's score. Tomorrow the Irish will indulge in a light drill against Minnesota plays expected in Saturday's game at Minneapolis.

He pointed out today that Notre Dame's ragged tackling and poor charging enabled Navy to make the Irish look pretty futile in the first half of last week's game.

It appeared in today's dummy skirmish, which followed the tackling drill, that he will depend on the same eleven men to start against Minnesota who started last week.

PURDUE SOPHS GET CHANCE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Sophomores were playing an increasingly prominent rôle in Purdue's probable starting combination this afternoon as the Boilermakers continued preparation for the Iowa Dad's day encounter here Saturday with a brisk offensive scrimmage session.

With Tony Juska and Tony Ippolito, veteran full backs, both handicapped by slight injuries, Leon Dewitte of Mishawaka and Frank Winchell of Southport, promising sophomores, alternated at the full back berth during the bulk of the afternoon.

IOWA REVISES DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Coach Irl Tubbs of Iowa, who fears Purdue passes, revised the back field defense today and sent the Hawkeye squad through the third defensive scrimmage of the week.

Bill Kelly, Chicago sophomore, appears to have displaced Bill Gallagher at right half back for Saturday's game, and Half Back Jack Eicherly and Full Back Ed McLain have changed places on the defensive. Dr. W. W. Hayne, medical supervisor, announced today that Glenn Olson, injured full back, may be ready Saturday to strengthen the secondary defense.

HUSKERS HARD AT WORK.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Nebraska's Cornhuskers, gradually winning their injured players away from the casualty list, went through a double barreled workout today—spending some time working against Indiana formations and the remainder polishing up offensive maneuvers.

Fred Shirey, regular tackle, was back. He was poisoned in the armpit from dye in the jersey he wore in a game almost two weeks ago. Still on the list of those who may not be available to perform against Indiana Saturday are Marvin Plock and Jim Mather, backs. However, the first string was intact except for Right End Elmer Dohrmann, game captain, who still is nursing a sore leg.

HOOSIERS TRY PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—After sending the Indiana university football squad through a drill on passing and all phases of kicking, Coach Bo McMillin tonight named thirty-three players who leave tomorrow for the Nebraska game.

Work on punts, place kicks, kickoffs, and return of punts and kickoffs preceded practice on forward passing and pass defense. Players who will make the trip tomorrow are Capt. Kenderdine, Haak, Sirtosky, Miller, Olmstead, McDaniel, Petrick, Filchock, Graham, Heistand, Davis, Midaman, Stevenson, Szabo, Sloss, Logan, Stevens, Birr, Oliver, Tanner, Clasen, Fowler, Janzaruk, Jsaitis, Ellenwood, Weiss, Campagnoli, Wahl, Huff, Zoeller, Anderson, Wyczawski, and Maloney.

PONZI DEFEATS SEABACK, 125-102, IN CUE TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Setting a new high run of 67, Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia tonight defeated Charles Seaback of Lawrence, Mass., 125 to 102, in the world's pocket billiard championship tourney. Ponzi's 67 bettered the previous high of 59 made by Ralph Greenleaf of New York in beating Joe Diehl of Rockford, Ill., on Monday.

Ponzi's victory came after Marcel Camp of Detroit jumped into the lead of the round robin tourney by beating George Kelly of Philadelphia, 125 to 75, for his second straight triumph.

fore meeting Alabama on Thanksgiving day. Alabama already has beaten Tennessee. Saturday Vanderbilt plays Georgia Tech, while the Crimson Tide meets Kentucky. Georgia Tech is Alabama's opponent on Nov. 13.

Kentucky has beaten Alabama only once in fifteen games, defeating Alabama, 20 to 19, in 1930. In five games this fall Alabama has scored 159 points to opponents' 7. Victories have been scored over Howard, Sewanee, South Carolina, Tennessee, and George Washington. Joe Kilgrow, Alabama half back, is the leading scorer, with 33 points.

PURPLE HUNTS PLUNGER.

A school for full backs is being conducted by the Northwestern coaching staf this week in an attempt to add more power to the Wildcats' plunging attack.

Several of the sophomore full backs are being groomed to support Jack Ryan, who played all of the Michigan and Ohio State games and most of the Purdue game. George McGurn and Jay Laskay, two new men, are expected to see action at full back against Wisconsin. Both are hard running backs.

With Fred Vanzo, blocking quarter back, still unable to resume practice because of injuries received in the Ohio State game, it appears that Fred Conteas, sophomore from Waukegan, will replace him in the starting lineup Saturday.

WISCONSIN PASSES.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Equipped with new running and forward pass plays, the Wisconsin football team was sent through another long scrimmage with the freshmen this afternoon to complete heavy work in preparation for the Northwestern game Saturday.

BUDDY KNOX STOPS CODERRE IN 9TH ROUND

Buddy Knox, Dayton heavyweight, scored a nine round technical knockout over Eddie Coderre of New York at the Park Casino last night. Knox weighed 197 pounds and Coderre 183½. Receipts amounted to $566.

Adamick Stops Thomas in 3d Round at South Bend

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Jimmy Adamick of Midland, Mich., scored a technical knockout over Lou Thomas of Indianapolis, Ind., in the third round of their scheduled ten round bout here tonight. Thomas was floored five times before handlers tossed in the towel. Johnny Barbara, Chicago, scored a technical knockout over Cecil McClellan of Detroit in the sixth round of their scheduled eight round semi-windup.

The boys are Bela Andorka, a senior and regular tackle, from Lorain, O.; Carl Hovland, junior end, 177, of Minneapolis; Bill Magee, 210 pound 21 year old senior tackle from San Juan Capistrano, Cal.; John Polich, end, 190, a junior from Hibbing, Minn., and Robert Zwank, 200, 19, a junior from Madison, Wis.

Loyola lost to Santa Clara last week, 7 to 0, after losing to St. Mary's, 13 to 7, and to Hardin Simmons college of Texas, 7 to 0, the preceding two weeks.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Waterfowl in Illinois Ahead of Schedule.

BY BOB BECKER.

Bluebill ducks have appeared in northern Illinois much earlier than in former years. Wild geese have moved into the southern Illinois goose country earlier and in larger numbers than in former seasons. As one operator of a wild goose hunting place near Olive Branch, Ill., has reported . . . "the geese are here in large numbers and at the earliest date I have ever seen them in the years I have lived down here." Ducks are abundant in the Illinois river valley.

These are just a few of the signs that four days before the opening of the Illinois waterfowl season tell the hunter how the weatherman has been on his side during the past two weeks. The cold, stormy days that the weatherman said were "more like November than October" have moved countless thousands of ducks and geese into Illinois quite a bit ahead of the migration schedule of a normal autumn.

Blinds Cost $5 to $15.

Reports from operators of day shooting places in Illinois all comment on the number of ducks in the Illinois river country. This department now has heard from 22 of these men who own or lease marshes, and have blinds on them which may be rented by the day.

These daily fee shooting places are located near such towns as Hennepin, Putnam, Lacon, Chillicothe, Havana, Bath, Browning, Frederick, and Beardstown in the Illinois river valley; near Thomson, in the northwest part of the state; and around Miller City, Ill., above Cairo, Ill., where most of the boys go goose hunting. Rates for shooting at these daily fee places range from $5 to $15 per day. Most of them charge $10.

A Ridiculous Accessory.

One of the most ridiculous developments of this year's hunting season is the appearance of imitation corn in the sporting goods stores. Since it is against the law to feed corn to the ducks in marshes where one will shoot, we now have artificial corn on the cob which is yellow and is supposed to fool the mallards into thinking that they have a free meal. When it comes to ridiculous hunting accessories this imitation corn seems likely to go down as the "number one superfluous" hunting item for 1937, just as the phonograph record of calling ducks was foolish accessory number one a couple of years ago.

Yale's Offense, Defense Get Practice Test

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Coach Ducky Pond today sent Yale through an offensive and defensive drill in preparing for the Dartmouth game Saturday. Preliminary work consisted of passing and kicking drills under pressure.

DARTMOUTH READY.

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Bill Hutchinson and Warren King, Dartmouth's speedy climax runners, each broke loose for several long gains today as Dartmouth ran through a long scrimmage against the scrubs in preparation for the Yale game Saturday.

HARVARD FACES PRINCETON.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Harvard's varsity linemen went through a long offensive and defensive drill with the C backfield today and coupled with the varsity ball carriers to watch Princeton plays as run by the scrubs in a dummy drill.

COLUMBIA BACKS SHIFTED.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Lou Little again shook up his back field as Columbia drilled on defense against a freshman team armed with Cornell plays today. Gerhard Seidel and John McMahon were inserted into the back field at intervals.

RAIN AT SYRACUSE.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Syracuse football squad worked in rain and mud today for the Penn State encounter Saturday. Pass defense and drills for the linemen took up most of the practice as mud slowed down the backs.

Chicago Gunners Football Team Beats Kells, 32 to 0

The Chicago Gunners football team defeated the Kells, 32 to 0, last night at St. Philip field. Freddie Lind made two touchdowns, one on an intercepted pass and a run of 55 yards. Santo Curro and Tony Mazziotti, made the other touchdowns.

Hawks Please Their Owner with Fast Drill

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks, who open the National Hocky league race at the Stadium Thursday of next week, disported themselves in bright new uniforms designed by Manager Bill Stewart before Owner Frederic McLaughlin today.

Both Manager Stewart and Trainer Eddie Froelich reported that there was not a pain or an ache on the squad, and the manner in which the players performed for the man who pays their salaries was further proof that they are just about the best conditioned team the Hawks have had since joining the National league a dozen seasons ago.

Particularly impressive to Owner McLaughlin was the form displayed by Thompson, Romnes, and March, the league's high scoring line of the 1935-'36 season. The speed of Wiebe and Seibert, stocky defense players, and the blocking of Burke and Levinsky were also features of the practice today.

McLaughlin, who flew back to Chicago after the workout, congratulated Stewart and Froelich on the team's condition and showing.

PLAY FOR FIRST PLACE.

First place in the Calumet Region Football league will be at stake Sunday afternoon when the Army and the Ultra Pals meet at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

How to enjoy both CIGARS and KISSES

Test shows that VINTAGE TOBACCO is at least 25% easier on your breath than all other 5¢ cigars tested

LOTS OF MEN have something to learn about smoking. It's possible to get the enjoyment that only a cigar gives—yet keep your breath fresh . . . if you'll smoke a Vintage cigar.

New scientific discoveries have shown that White Owl's Vintage tobacco is very low in the substances that cause unpleasant tobacco breath. Tests with a delicate osmoscope prove that this tobacco leaves less odor.

White Owl is a better cigar because it always has a Vintage-tobacco filler. Nature—not factory processing—made this tobacco exceptionally mild, mellow.

We maintain a vast crop-inspection system—the only known organization of its kind—to locate Vintage tobacco. Even in Vintage years, we classify all filler tobacco into seven grades—and buy only tobacco of the quality of the top three for use in White Owls.

We'll bet the ladies agree with you—and there's a lot more satisfaction in smooth, mellow White Owls.

The Metallic Nose Knows

Scientists use a sensitive osmoscope to measure odor . . . to record its intensity and lasting power. Ten different brands of 5¢ cigars were tested by this machine. White Owl was at least 25% easier on the breath than all the others. After 30 minutes, all trace of tobacco odor disappeared from the breath of White Owl smokers.

MUSSER'S ROUGH RIDE LOSES RACE FOR TRANS WYNN

Disqualify Horse, Suspend Jocky for Season.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Favorite players are carrying a load of hatred in their hearts this morning for Jocky Robert Musser. The lad did them dirt at Sportsman's Park yesterday.

For the first time in almost a week, the public choices were clicking like a grandpappy's clock. Drombo won the first race. He did it in a canter. And he paid $6.60.

Came the third race with old Skippy McGee backed by nearly everybody in the crowd. He made no mistakes. He dashed to the front on the last turn, then went on to win by a length and a half. He paid $6.80.

And He Wins!

"How long has this been going on?" asked the favorite players, rushing to the support of Trans Wynn in the fourth race, a sprint of five furlongs. Musser was in the saddle.

When Trans Wynn rushed under the wire enjoying a lead of a length and a half, another mighty shout went out. Musser was given a round of applause. Plunger Allen was the cheer leader.

The cheers soon turned to groans. In making his drive into the lead, Jocky Musser had permitted Trans Wynn to knock Wild Love to her knees. Trans Wynn's number came down in a jiffy. He had been disqualified.

No longer was Musser the greatest rider in the business. Favorite players made no bones about it. They called him a bum.

Enagala Gets Purse.

The disqualification moved Enagala, owned by J. H. Dunn, into the winner's circle. He paid $32.80. Musser's false move, which resulted in his suspension for the remainder of the season, had spoiled the favorite players' holiday. Or at least, it had partly spoiled it.

Along came the Aurora handicap, the top piece on the program. It engaged the best handicap performers still lingering around in these parts. Because he had won the Windy City handicap so handily last Saturday, Flint Shot was made the favorite.

After leading all the way, he appeared to be a sure winner until the field was within ten yards of the finish line. Easy Sailing with a belated rush spoiled it. He got his nose up on even terms with Flint Shot as they passed the wire.

First Dead Heat.

The camera eye called it a dead heat. Favorite players got their money back along with a slight profit. But that didn't satisfy them. They are never willing to settle for a draw. Conrad Mann, well back of the two leaders, took down third money.

As a result of the dead heat Flint Shot paid $3.60 for a $2 ticket. Easy Sailing paid $4.40. This was the first dead heat for first money ever run over the Sportsman's Park course.

Bolden, Zale Meet Monday at Marigold

Nate Bolden and Tony Zale, Chicago Golden Gloves graduates, yesterday were signed to meet in a six round secondary feature to the windup between Billy Marquart and Kid Irish at Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Jack Stamper, South Chicago heavyweight, who knocked out Chester Holman in his professional debut last week, has been matched to battle Ambrose Geohagan in a four round contest at White City tomorrow. Holman Williams and Remo Fernandez will be principals in a ten round attraction. . . . Bill McDowell, Dallas, Tex., welterweight, managed by his mother, has agreed to fight Johnny Barbara eight rounds at the Park Casino next Wednesday. . . . In addition to his scheduled encounter with Everett Rightmire at Chicago Stadium Nov. 16 Pete Lello expects to box Sixto Morales Nov. 10 and George Van Der Hayden Nov. 29 at Gary. . . . Tommy O'Laughlin, who has acquired exclusive rights to promote boxing in Minneapolis, has selected Nov. 26 as his first date.

Joe Sekyra will head for Dayton, O., Saturday for an engagement there against Red Burman Monday. In a co-feature Harry Jeffra will make his first appearance since winning the bantamweight title against Biff Lemieux. . . . Before meeting Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden Dec. 13 Harry Thomas is to battle Hank Hankinson at Detroit Nov. 10. The original date for the proposed match with Hankinson, who has been substituted for Roscoe Toles, was Nov. 3. . . . Benny Ray, representative of Milt Aron, will board an airplane this morning for New York, where he will handle Aron in an eight rounder against Vittorio Venturi tomorrow.

NORRIS, MALLOY WILL PROMOTE LEM FRANKLIN

Lem Franklin, 1937 international Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, has placed his professional campaign under the joint supervision of James Norris Jr., executive vice president and secretary of the Chicago Stadium, and Mique Malloy, Chicago promoter.

The agreement gives Norris and Malloy an option on Franklin's services for the next five years. In addition to Norris and Malloy the document was signed by Leon Motts, comanager of Lem with Irving Franklin, father of the big fellow. The contract, drawn by Richard Hill, Motts' attorney, calls for a minimum of six fights the first year.

Franklin has had three professional matches, losing his first and scoring knockouts in the next two.

It is understood that Norris, wealthy member of his father's grain brokerage firm, also has an interest in Harry Thomas, state heavyweight champion. Thomas has been matched to meet Max Schmeling at Madison Square garden Dec. 13. The elder Norris is a heavy stockholder in the Garden.

Packers Trade Schammel to Dodgers for Bill Lee

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 27.—[Special.] — Francis [Zud] Schammel, Green Bay Packers guard, today was traded to the Brooklyn Dodgers for Bill Lee, former University of Alabama tackle. Lee will be in the Packers' lineup against the Detroit Lions Sunday afternoon. Schammel formerly played at the University of Iowa.

Punch Takes English Stake; Fet Is Second

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 27.—Running in a heavy rain, T. Westhead's Punch today won the Cesarewitch stakes, defeating Mrs. Sidney Freeman's Fet by a length in the two and one-quarter mile race. E. Robson's Solar Bear finished third, two lengths behind Fet, winner of last year's race.

Punch, 4 year old son of Lancegaye-St. Judy, was held at 17 to 1 in the betting. The favorites, Faites Vos Jeux, which was at 6 to 1, and Lady Nuttall's Gelding finished far behind the leaders. Two American owned horses—Mrs. Corlette Glorney's Fox Star and A. K. Macomber's Idaho—were others among the also rans.

Because of the drenching rain little was seen of the field until the horses were almost four and a half furlongs from the finish line. Repondant was leading with his stablemate, Fet, close by. On their heels were Epigram, Punch, and Empire Son.

Fet took the lead a quarter mile from home, but Jocky Sammy Wragg began to move up Punch. Fifty yards from the judges' stand Punch went to the front and closed rapidly. Punch's time for the race was 4 minutes and 6 seconds.

GEN'L MOTORS EARNS MORE IN THIRD QUARTER

Decline Shown for First 9 Months.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

Net earnings of the General Motors corporation for the third quarter of this year were substantially ahead for the corresponding three months of 1936, but profits for the first nine months of 1937 fell below the comparable 1936 period, the company reported yesterday. September quarter profit totaled $42,118,179, equal to 99 cents a share, against $32,331,523, or 75 cents a share, in the 1936 quarter, and $63,436,545, or $1.48 a share, in the second quarter of this year.

For the first nine months of 1937 net earnings totaled $148,074,335, equivalent to $3.46 a share, against $168,314,959, or $3.92 a share in the first nine months of 1936. For the twelve months ended Sept. 30 profits amounted to $218,241,801, or $4.89 a share, against $227,942,208, or $5.10 a share, for the preceding year.

Sales Sharply Higher.

The company announced third quarter sales of $375,510,034, against $261,233,445 in the same 1936 period. Sales for the nine months totaled $1,212,772,783, compared with $1,068,653,947.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, said the corporation is hopeful that the present business situation will prove to be merely an adjustment of temporary character, "and that the recovery movement will continue in the ascendancy and will more completely run its normal course."

Sloan said it will be the policy of General Motors to proceed as far as it consistently can with its contribution to the continuance of the recovery movement.

He said that increased costs to the industry of shortened hours of employment, higher wages, and added taxation can be absorbed in no other way than by substantially higher selling prices for automobiles, which were put into effect recently.

Cites Effect of Social Security.

"An interesting illustration of industry's cost trend is shown in the effect of the social security act," Sloan continued. "Irrespective of how desirable it may be to provide employment insurance and old age security, the fact remains that the cost, whatever it may be, must manifest itself in increased selling prices of goods and services. This means that if we have these things, they must be paid for by the consumer."

Current assets of the corporation as of Sept. 30, 1937, totaled $564,279,232, including cash, United States government securities and other marketable securities totaling $243,012,731. Current liabilities were $180,502,955.

Packard Has Loss.

The Packard Motor Car company and subsidiaries reported for the third quarter of this year net loss of $2,324,852 after taxes and charges, against net profit of $42,791, or less than 1 cent a share, in the third quarter of 1936. In the second quarter of this year net profit was $1,208,355, equal to 9 cents a share. For the first nine months of 1937 net profit was $1,494,205, equal to 10 cents a share, against $3,562,918, or 23 cents a share, in the same 1936 period.

Tentative Date for Rail Rate Boost Is Nov. 10

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today tentatively set Nov. 10 as the date when increased freight rate charges will become effective. Rate experts said the carriers, with proper coöperation from the various state railroad commissions concerned, would be able to file new schedules with the commission by Nov. 5. The commission last week granted the carriers increased rates on a selected list of heavy commodities which are expected to yield about $47,500,000 additional revenue annually.

FORD DISPLAYS TWO NEW LINES OF CARS FOR 1938 IN NEW YORK

Differing considerably in appearance and appointments, the 1938 Fords were placed on exhibition in New York yesterday. One, designated as a de luxe Ford V-8, has an 85 horse power engine. The other, the standard V-8, is provided either with the 85 horse power engine or one of 65 horse power.

The hood design and the arrangement of the horizontal radiator grilles differ considerably in the two models. The standard model's hood is flatter than that of the de luxe, which bends and comes to a point in the front to merge with the radiator grille.

Front view of the 1938 de luxe Ford which differs considerably from the standard model.

The front fenders of both models are broad, with the front headlamps set in the fender skirts. Interiors of the de luxe line are more luxurious than in the standard, which sells at a lower price. The de luxe comes in eight body types and the standard in three.

Insull Asset Fight Settled After 5 Years

Five years of litigation over the assets of the bankrupt Insull investment companies ended yesterday when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson approved a compromise settlement under which ten New York and Chicago banks and the General Electric company will turn over securities valued at $4,635,088 to the unsecured creditors.

The payment will permit the trustees of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities company, the two investment firms, to make small distributions on the claims of the unsecured creditors.

Claims Total 81 Millions.

These claims aggregate about $81,000,000, consisting of $57,500,000 of "gold" debentures sold by Insull Utility, and $23,500,000 of notes marketed by Corporation Securities.

The indebtedness of the firms to the banks amounted to about $71,000,000. The settlement provides that the unsecured creditors will give up all claims to the assets of the companies which are held by the banks as loan collateral.

Basis of Claim Suits.

Several suits were brought against the various creditor banks for recovery of the collateral. The settlement ends these proceedings. The basis of these suits was the contention that the banks unlawfully accepted collateral from the companies as security for loans in violation of the legal provisions under which the companies sold their debentures to the public.

In approving the settlement Judge Wilkerson said that the terms appeared to be fair to all parties in the litigation.

ENGINEERS TOLD ELEVATED ROADS VITAL TO TRAFIC

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—Elevated highways are necessary to relieve urban trafic congestion in populous regions, Henry M. Stevens, vice president of the J. Walter Thompson company said today before the annual convention of the American Institute for Steel Construction.

"Whether it is Park avenue, Michigan boulevard, or Main street, the problem is present," Stevens said. "It is acute, and like all problems that alarm a large number of Americans, it will be tackled effectively."

NEW UTILITIES POWER PLAN IS FOUGHT IN COURT

Opposed by Holder of Junior Securities.

Vigorous opposition developed yesterday in federal court to the plan of reorganization for the Utilities Power and Light corporation proposed by Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas corporation, largest creditor of Utilities Power.

Attorneys for the Associated Investing corporation, a unit of the Associated Gas and Electric system, announced that they would fight to prevent Odlum from carrying out his plan of reorganization. Associated Investing is a large holder of the junior securities of Utilities Power which would be virtually wiped out under the terms proposed in the Odlum plan.

Substitutes New Plan.

Over the objections of counsel for Associated Investing, Judge William H. Holly permitted the substitution of the Odlum-Atlas plan for the plan which had been filed earlier by other creditors. At the same time he moved to place the affairs of the company in the hands of Willoughby G. Walling as temporary trustee. Walling, who is president of the Personal Loan and Savings bank, was selected trustee on Aug. 14, but the order giving him his appointment was held up by an appeal by Odlum and others who opposed the move. Odlum withdrew his objections to the appointment of a trustee when he announced his new plan on Tuesday and his attorneys yesterday joined in urging the appointment of Walling.

Because of the legal situation resulting from the earlier appeal Judge Holly yesterday named Walling temporary trustee and later is expected to make the appointment permanent.

Explains Opposition to Plan.

In opposing the Atlas reorganization program, Clarence H. Ross, counsel for Associated Investing, told the court that his client had an investment of 13 million dollars in the junior securities of Utilities Power. The reorganization proposed by Atlas, he asserted, simply provides for liquidation of the company and the destruction of the equity of all security holders subsidiary to the preferred stock.

"Associated Investing," Ross declared, "purchased its interest in the company when security prices were at their peak. Atlas corporation bought into the company when prices were greatly depressed and now wants to freeze out other security holders."

Nathen S. Blumberg, counsel for the Atlas corporation, asserted that Associated is not interested in effecting a reorganization of the utility corporation.

"Since the inception of the proceedings," he declared, "it has opposed any scaling down of the debtor's capital structure and any simplification of the system."

Blumberg charged that representatives of Associated were "pushing doorbells" in their campaign to stir up opposition to the Atlas plan.

The Securities and Exchange commission was represented in court by O. John Rogge, special counsel, who did not take sides in the dispute. The SEC is credited with getting the Atlas interests to withdraw their opposition to the naming of a trustee for the company and paving the way for the new reorganization plan.

Perry Heads Carnegie Steel, Biggest in Chicago Area

J. L. PERRY.

J. L. Perry, who on Tuesday was named president of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, the largest steel company in the Chicago district, is a native of Massachusetts. He was born in Worcester March 11, 1881, and is 56 years old. He entered the service of the American Steel and Wire company at Worcester in August, 1899. He was appointed assistant manager of the Worcester district in 1925 and in 1928 became manager.

Headed American Steel.

On Jan. 1, 1933, Perry was elected president of the American Steel and Wire company, with headquarters in Cleveland, and on Feb. 1, 1935, he was made president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, which position he will leave to become the head of Carnegie-Illinois, the largest subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

As president of Carnegie-Illinois, Perry will have his chief office in Pittsburgh but will have close contact with Chicago. B. F. Fairless, whom Perry is succeeding, maintained offices in both Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Officials Are Younger.

With the latest changes in the personnel of United States Steel, which will see the retirement on April 5, 1938, of Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board, there will be a marked reduction in the average ages of the officials who direct the world's largest steel company.

In 1927 the average age of the board of directors was slightly over 64. The board consists of eighteen when it has a full membership. The present average age is now about 59 years. The average age of the last group to be added to the board, including Junius Morgan, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., J. Frazier Olds, E. M. Voorhees and G. A. Sloan, is under 45.

RAIL OFFICIALS TO DISCUSS RATE BOOST PROGRAM

Directors of the Association of American Railroads will meet at the Blackstone hotel today to discuss additional freight rate increases which the railroads are expected to ask to offset soaring operating costs. The full membership of the association, which includes all the leading roads in the country, will meet tomorrow.

No conclusions have been reached as to what increases the roads will request. Executives of some of the carriers are said to believe that a flat 15 per cent increase on all classifications of freight will be necessary to compensate for increased costs.

The roads estimate that wage boosts, higher costs of materials and supplies, and additional expenses for social security and railroad employés retirement have added about $650,000,000 annually to operating costs.

STEEL OUTPUT FALLS TO 51%, A DECLINE OF 29 POINTS IN 6 WEEKS

The steel ingot production rate declined 4½ points this week to 51 per cent of capacity, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday. Six weeks ago the operating rate was estimated at 80 per cent of capacity.

"Rarely in the history of the industry has so sharp a decline in production occurred in such a short time," the journal said.

"The downward adjustment of steel production has probably taken place more rapidly than the decline in consumption. While steel users are living off their stocks, the time when replenishment buying on a larger scale will be necessary is still uncertain.

"Although the automobile industry is approaching a high rate of production, its volume of steel purchases is still below expectations," Iron Age continued.

Scrap prices declined further in all districts, reducing the Iron Age scrap composite price to $14.83 a ton, or $7.09 below the high point of this year in April and approximately at the level of early August, 1936.

Dow, Jones & Co. said yesterday some steel scrap dealers in Pittsburgh have lowered quotations 50 cents on No. 1 heavy melting material. This brought the market to $15-$15.50 a ton, a new low in the currrent decline. Quotations were said to be nominal, with no mill interests buying.

TRADE PACTS BRING PROTESTS ON WIDE FRONT

Shoe Industry Flails Czech Proposal.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—War over the Roosevelt reciprocal trade agreements, reducing tarif protection of American agriculture and industry, flared on several fronts today. Attacking the pending agreement with Czechoslovakia on behalf of the glass industry, Representative Dudley A. White [R., O.] asserted that, "under this misguided policy, the United States, with the most efficient and industrial productive plant in the world, recently has become a nation with a continuous unfavorable balance of commodity trade."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull made public his reply to the charges of Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] that the Roosevelt administration in its tarif reduction program is "selling out the farmer for the benefit of eastern manufacturers." Hull's defense purported to show that tarif reductions affected farmers adversely on imports represented by less than 14 million dollars of the 699 millions by which total imports in 1936-'37 exceeded imports in 1933-'34.

Lower Adverse Balance.

Secretary of Commerce Roper announced that the unfavorable trade balance was reduced 100 millions in August and September. With exports increasing and imports declining, the unfavorable balance for the first nine months of 1937 was 49 millions.

At the state department hearing on the proposed Czechoslovakian agreement, Mayors Fred J. Manning of Lynn, Mass., and George E. Dalrymple of Haverhill, Mass., asserted that inclusion of shoes would be disastrous to the shoe manufacturing industry in their communities. They followed a procession of American shoe manufacturers, who testified that it would be necessary to cut wages if they are subjected to com-

WHEN, AS AND IF . . .

Even the language of investing implies the risks inherent in an unpredictable future. Yet as an investor you must continuously stake your capital on future uncertainties . . . and constantly try to interpret the effect of each day's events on the future of security prices.

If you are managing just one business today, you know how much time it takes just to keep informed on all that is new in your field . . . much less to plan soundly for the future. Multiply that job by the number of securities you own and you begin to realize why it is impossible to manage an investment portfolio single-handed as a spare-time job.

Successful management of investments demands the facilities, man power and organized knowledge of a large group of investment specialists to scrutinize each new situation and judge exactly how it will affect the value of individual securities in individual portfolios. That is the job that Moody's Investors Service is doing for institutional and individual investors.

For various types of investors, Moody's renders different types of advisory and supervisory service. Which of our services will help you most, we cannot tell until we have examined your list and know your investment requirements. Your inquiry will be held in confidence and will involve no obligation whatsoever. Naturally, the more you tell us of your present investment position and objectives, the more practical help we can render.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 27.—With the exception of government bonds and certain utility obligations, prices again moved lower today in the bond market. Heaviest liquidation occurred in railroad liens, many of which went through the bottom prices established last week.

The Baltimore and Ohio group was weak, senior issues, such as the first 5s of 1948, dropping several points to new low levels. Boston and Maine 5s of 1967 also touched a new low, as did Colorado and Southern general 4½s, Lehigh Valley 4½s, Katy 4½s of 1978 series D. New York Central consolidated 4s, Reading 4½s, Reading-Jersey Central 4s, and a few less active issues.

The treasury group was a little more active and prices were almost uniformly higher. Gains ranged to 8-32 point.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange dwindled to 27,000 shares yesterday and prices closed irregularly lower, but changes were narrow.

Commonwealth Edison, most active issue, was unchanged at 25 after moving between 25 and 25¾ in 3,000 share turnover. The only three other stocks in which as much as 1,000 shares were traded were Chicago corporation common, which closed ⅛ lower, and Middle West and General Household Utilities, both unchanged.

THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks closed at 11.76, compared with 11.94 on Tuesday. The high was 11.89 and the low was 11.64 yesterday. Of the ninety-three issues traded, twenty-five advanced, forty-one declined, and twenty-seven were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois National bank stock gained $1.50 a share yesterday, and Northern Trust stock rose $5. Harris Trust, Merchandise National, and National Boulevard stocks each declined $5 a share. Other Chicago bank shares were unchanged.

Insurance Company Investments.

The investment practices of insurance companies must be wise and conservative if a company is to meet its claims. Security of principal, adequacy of yield, diversification, and quick convertibility into cash are important considerations in any program.

Investments which life insurance companies may make are regulated by state insurance departments. The extent of the regulation varies, but all states require a measure of quality and diversification in a company's investments.

Insurance companies figure their premium rates on the basis of a definite rate of interest, usually 3 or 3½ per cent, on the reserve portion of their assets. Failure to earn the estimated rate of return means that premiums will be inadequate to cover expenses and claims unless made up by savings in mortality or by other gains.

Investments and other assets of life insurance companies were distributed as follows at the end of 1936: Bonds, 49.4 per cent; mortgages, 20.3 per cent; real estate, 8.9 per cent; preferred and guaranteed stocks, 1.6 per cent; common stocks, 1.4 per cent; policy loans, 13.4 per cent; cash, 3.0 per cent; collateral loans and all other assets, 2.4 per cent.

VOTE 25c EXTRA ON FAIRBANKS, MORSE COMMON

Deere & Co. Defers Action Until December.

Directors of Fairbanks Morse & Co. yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the usual quarterly payment of the same amount. Similar disbursements were made in the first three quarters of this year. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred issue was also voted.

Standard Cap and Seal corporation voted an extra of 20 cents and the quarterly 40 cent distribution on common stock. Similar payments were made Sept. 1.

A dividend of $1.12½ applicable to arrears on class A stock and the current quarterly dividend of 37½ cents were voted by directors of Poor & Co. On Sept. 1 the company paid $1 on the A stock.

Deere Defers Action.

Directors of Deere & Co. deferred consideration of a common dividend until the December meeting. On Oct. 20 the company paid $1 and on Oct. 30 paid a 200 per cent stock dividend. The current quarterly dividend of 35 cents on the preferred issue was authorized.

St. Louis Car company authorized a dividend on preferred stock of one share of common for each share of preferred held. The stock dividend is in lieu of all back dividend accumulations on the preferred stock to Nov. 1, 1937, and is in accordance with the preferred dividend adjustment plan approved by stockholders last March 11.

In the Tuesday edition of THE TRIBUNE it was stated that Commonwealth Edison company paid dividends of $4 during 1936 and that Public Service Company of Northern Illinois paid $1.50 a share in 1936. The amounts should have been $5 and $2.50, respectively. Both companies paid extra dividends of $1 each last December.

G. A. ROSE TO HEAD INT. HARVESTER MINES AND STEEL COMPANY

Sidney G. McAllister, president of International Harvester company, yesterday announced the election of George A. Rose as vice president in charge of the company's iron and coal mines and the Wisconsin Steel Works, a subsidiary. He succeeds Cassius F. Biggert, who is retiring after 47 years of service with the company. The changes are effective Nov. 1.

The new vice president has been with the harvester company 31 years. After his graduation from Princeton university in 1901 he went to work for the Carnegie Steel company which he left in 1906 to join Harvester as superintendent of blast furnaces at the Wisconsin steel plant. He became general superintendent of the plant in 1912.

Biggert joined the company in the stores department of the Deering works in 1890. He was made assistant to Herbert F. Perkins in charge of steel and coal operations in 1915, and was elected vice president in 1931.

HIGHER AIR MAIL RATE FOR BRANIFF IS RECOMMENDED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—(AP)—An interstate commerce commission examiner recommended today that the postmaster general be directed to pay the Braniff Airways, Inc., of Oklahoma 29 cents an airplane mile instead of the 28 cent compensation basis now in effect for carrying air mail from Chicago to Dallas, Tex.

The order would be retroactive to Nov. 12, 1935, and would apply to a base mileage of 55,000 miles a month. The examiner said evidence showed the company lost $14,000 on the Chicago-Dallas route.

RESERVE BOARD CUTS MARGIN ON STOCKS TO 40%

Minimum on Short Sales Fixed at 50 Pct.

The situation does not augur well for President Roosevelt's program of crop control, wage and hour plan, and other drastic steps affecting private business that are to be put up to the forthcoming special session of congress. Further than that, the members of congress in the President's own party fear a "Roosevelt depression" would swing the political pendulum away from them.

Position Is Defenseless.

A severe business recession would leave the administration in a defenseless position, because the President has been given the regulatory legislation which he has demanded. At the same time the far flung economic experiments of the Roosevelt administration, the planned money, the spending of billions, and subsidizing of various groups would be called into sharp question as never before.

Accompanying the recent fall in the value of securities was a new budget prediction of the President that the deficit for the 1938 fiscal year, which ends next June 30, would be nearly 700 millions instead of the 418 millions he estimated on April 20, last. The mounting deficit is caused by a decrease in the prospective collection of taxes, notably from the new undistributed earnings tax on corporations and the capital gains levy.

Victory for Representative O'Connor.

The action of the federal reserve board tonight was a signal victory for Representative John J. O'Connor, an independent Democrat from New York, who heads the powerful rules committee of the house. O'Connor demanded in a telegram to the reserve governors a week ago practically the identical action which they decided upon at today's session. He asserted margin requirements on stock purchases should be lowered, while requirements should be boosted to curb speculative activity in connection with short selling.

"The first thing you should do is either stop all short sales or require the short gamblers to put up as much margin as the legitimate buyers," the message read. "The requirement of a 55 per cent margin on purchases never was justified and never can be. No business could ever be conducted on that cash requirement. Few people could ever buy anything from a washing machine to the Empire State building if they had to put up 55 per cent cash."

Declares Margin "a Joke."

O'Connor declared that it was "a joke" when the government demanded a 55 per cent margin for those who wanted to invest or buy, while for those who wanted to sell stocks short there was a margin of only ten points, and this latter the requirement of the stock exchanges and not the government.

Turning to the SEC, the congressman said the United States was no place for a governmental "OGPU," and that if the commission was unduly interfering with legitimate business it should be restrained.

Wall Street Cheered.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Action of the federal reserve board on stock margin requirements was hailed enthusiastically in Wall street tonight as a step "in the right direction" calculated to go far in restoring confidence to brokers and traders who have been shaken up badly by the $25,000,000 washout in stock values.

Holding that a cut in margin requirements on the buying side was a logical reversal of the federal reserve move of March, 1936, when stocks were climbing, many bankers, brokers, and economists insisted it would be a major influence in halting the market decline and restoring investor and trade confidence. The practical result, they said, would be to enlarge substantially the potential buying power of margin traders.

STOCKS CLOSE LOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 27.—Stocks closed lower today despite a last minute rally in steels, motors, and rails, which enabled some of these issues to finish with small gains. Trading was the dullest in several weeks—a total of 1,063,320 shares, comparing with 1,815,640 yesterday and 4,300,000 a week ago.

Price changes were erratic throughout the session. United States Steel was the leader in this respect, opening unchanged at $58, pushing up to $59.25 and selling off to $56.25. It closed at $58.37, up 37 cents.

Automobile show business failed to help the motors. General Motors and Chrysler weakened $1 to $2 after early moderate gains, but closed fractionally higher.

Coppers encountered mild pressure. Merchandising shares were heavy and farm implements were mixed. Public utilities were irregular, with Consolidated Edison the featured issue as it continued to retreat, losing 25 cents for the day.

EXCHANGE WILL FLASH PRICES IF TICKER LAGS

New York, Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The New York Stock exchange has devised a "flash" stock price service to enable traders to follow the trend more closely when the ticker falls behind the actual market, it was announced today.

The committee on arrangements has decided to print, at regular intervals on the stock tape, the current floor prices of a selected group of sixteen stocks when activity warrants the action. The new plan will go into effect Nov. 1.

REPORTS PUBLIC REJECTS POLICIES OF ROOSEVELT

Dr. Gallup Explains Democratic Split.

Forty per cent of the people who voted for President Roosevelt a year ago are conservative and are opposed to one or more of his major policies, Dr. George S. Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, told members of the Life Insurance Sales Research bureau convention yesterday at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"The likelihood of a split in the ranks of the Democratic party along conservative and liberal lines," he said, "has been clearly indicated on many issues, including relief spending, government regulation of agriculture and industry, the court packing plan, and other New Deal policies."

Hinges on Stock Slump.

Gallup asserted that the extent of such a split will depend on the outcome of the present stock market slump, which, he said, will undoubtedly have an effect on Roosevelt's popularity. Gallup had no prediction to make about the future of the market and business.

Roosevelt regarded his election as a mandate from the people to continue government spending, but two-thirds of the people are now opposed to the spending program, Gallup asserted. He said that one-third of those who voted for Roosevelt are opposed to his court packing program, which, he predicted, will not be proposed at the next session of congress. Gallup's estimates were based on American Institute of Public Opinion surveys, which have sampled public opinion on more than 300 questions in the last two years.

Labor Loses Public Sympathy.

Labor has lost much public sympathy by use of the sitdown strike, according to Gallup. A poll by the institute at the start of the General Motors strike early in 1937 showed 53 per cent of the people in favor of the management, but another poll at the end of the strike showed a gain to 60 per cent, he said. Seventy per cent of the people are now opposed to sitdown strikes, he declared.

The institute will predict Sunday, Gallup said, that Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City will be reëlected by a two-to-one majority over Jeremiah T. Mahoney, his Tammany opponent, in the election of Nov. 2; and that Richard W. Reading, unaffiliated Detroit mayoralty candidate, will defeat Patrick H. O'Brien choice of the Committee for Industrial Organization, by a similar majority.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Corn Huskers Busy.

October 27, 1937.

THE corn crop at the Tribune's Wheaton farm is being put in the cribs. Three hand pickers with husking pegs started work in a field of hybrid No. B639 yesterday. Mechanical pickers are not used because the acreage of corn is comparatively small. Picking will continue as the weather permits until all the corn has been gathered.

Thirty-two acres of grain hybrids were grown this year and good yields are expected from all the fields. None of the grain corn was injured by frosts, although most of it was planted later than usual because of the cold, wet weather last spring. The ears now are dry and in good condition for storing.

Silage Corn Frosted.

Frost nipped the blades and husks of about twelve acres of silage corn left in the fields after the silos had been filled. The ears were not ruined, but most of them are too soft to be stored. The corn has been cut and shocked near one of the horse barns where it will be left to dry. Unless the ears become dry enough to be husked and stored in the cribs, the stalks, ears and all, will be run through a feed chopper this winter and fed to the lambs.

On Sept. 30 there appeared in this column a picture of the purebred Southdown ram that recently had been added to the Wheaton farm flock. An invitation was given readers to suggest names for the ram. Next morning's mail brought twenty-three letters suggesting names. The letters continued to come. Soon there were 100 names; then 200.

Other suggestions still are coming. It now appears that by the time the names are all in the naming committee not only will have a hard job picking the best one but will have enough names left over for a good sized flock.

In making an alphabetical list of the names already received it was discovered that only three letters were missing—there are no names so far beginning with "Q," "X," or "Y." Suggestions have come from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and Kentucky.

Several Names Popular.

Several of the names have been sent by more than one person. King has been suggested five times, Duke four times, and Aries three. Bob, Chief, Curley, Gosh, Goshen, Pete, Prince, Sultan, and Trib have two votes each.

Maybe there are other names yet to be sent. The committee will wait a few days to see whether any more come in before making its decision. In the meantime any one wishing to submit additional names should send them to the Agricultural Editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. More than one name may be submitted.

COTTON

Cotton futures fluctuated erratically yesterday within a rather narrow range. Trading was light until near the close when scattered buying caused a fair rally from the inside figure. Final sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were unchanged to .01 cent lower. Other American markets were .04 cent lower to .02 cent a pound higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged with New Orleans 8.20 cents; New York, 8.35 cents and Galveston and Houston at 8 cents per pound. Prices follow:

COTTON INDUSTRY TO FIGHT RETURN OF PROCESS TAX

Charge Levy Encourages Use of Substitutes.

Claudius T. Murchison

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A determination to make a last ditch fight against any effort to restore the processing tax on cotton was announced by Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, today at the eleventh annual meeting of the Cotton-Textile institute. Murchison, president of the institute, told the assembled cotton mill executives that their industry was complicated by both international and domestic problems.

He said a "great uncertainty" still surrounded the question of government regulation of business, and expressed impatience with talk of boycotting Japan. The Japanese, he said, were adhering scrupulously to an agreement not to dump their product in the United States market.

Fears Processing Tax.

In his discussion of the domestic outlook, Murchison said:

"While we look forward hopefully to dealing with the undivided profits tax, there is less assurance that we can cope successfully with the threat of a restored processing tax.

"Although the cotton-textile industry does not intend to oppose constructive farm legislation, it will resist with every power at its command any proposal to restore the processing tax as a means of financing an agricultural program.

"Such a tax places cotton at a competitive disadvantage relative to its many substitutes and so reduces the actual consumption of cotton. It would indeed be a hollow victory for the farmer to be paid a subsidy derived from a tax the effect of which was to destroy ultimately the consumption of the commodity which he produces.

Asks Aid of Growers.

"It is impossible for the cotton-textile industry to be prosperous without imparting its prosperity to the cotton farmers. Our interests are their interests, and we invite them to join us in the advocacy of a form of crop legislation whose financing will not injure their best friend and their best customer."

Terming the present federal tax laws "a mess," Robert H. Montgomery, accountant, one of the speakers at the meeting, called for their reform throughout. "What this country needs," he said, "is a nonpartisan commission to revamp the entire tax structure so that the business man will stand some chance of making some sense out of it. The government has done everything it could to prevent business men making money. Is it surprising that business men are thoroughly scared?"

Holophane Co., Inc.

Investors' Guide: I would like information about Holophane, listed on the New York Curb.—W. J. G.

Answer: The Holophane Co., Inc., manufactures prismatic glass and other appliances used for lighting purposes and reflecting light. The company added a line of decorative glass, such as vases and bowls, in 1934.

Net income of $290,000, or $2.60 a share, in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1937, approached the company's record of $340,000, or $2.82 a share in the 1929-'30 year.

In the year ended June 30, 1936, net was $136,000, or $1.02 a share, compared with $63,000, or 25 cents a share, in the preceding year. Figures were not reported in the 1933-'34 and 1932-'33 years. Net was $74,000, or 27 cents a share, in the year ended June 30, 1932.

Capitalization consists of 15,172 shares of $2.10 dividend preference and 98,387 shares of common stock, both of no par value.

Common dividends were resumed with payment of 90 cents a share during 1936 after omission for three years. Three quarterly payments of 50 cents and an extra 20 cents have been paid so far this year. Preference dividends have been paid regularly.

The common appears to be medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Oklahoma Gas and Electric.

Investors' Guide: Are Oklahoma Gas and Electric 7 per cent preferred shares considered a safe investment?—C. L. A.

Preferred requirements have been earned and regular dividends paid since the company's formation in 1925. In 1934 the company earned $9.01 a share, in 1935, $9.92 a share, and in 1936, $14.36 a share.

Preferred stock is outstanding in the amount of $14,000,000. Total funded debt of the company is $44,500,000, which debt, of course, has a prior lien to the preferred stock against earnings.

Buying Stock.

Investors' Guide: Am planning on the purchase of 100 shares of stock. Are the shares in single units? Do they bear any number or distinguishing mark?—A. J.

Answer: If you buy 100 shares of stock you will receive one stock certificate representing the 100 shares, just as you might get a $100 bill rather than 100 $1 bills. The certificate will bear a registration number.

NEW YORK AUTO SHOW OPENS; CROWD LIKES IT

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The annual automobile show opened today at Grand Central Palace, where 200 of the 1938 models were displayed. Separate exhibits were opened simultaneously in the Ford Motor company's Broadway headquarters, in the Chrysler building, and in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Visitors found the show more interesting than ever this year, with many new gadgets to work and drivers' clinics to test their skill. They slid in and out of drivers' seats, bounced up and down on the upholstery, peered under hoods, and worked new gear shift arrangements. There were three new automatic gear shifts on display.

One of the more spectacular machines was the Waterman Arrowbile, which either flies through the air or runs on the ground. It has collapsible wings and is powered with a pusher type propeller, mounted at the rear.

WHEAT DECLINES AS SPECULATORS SELL HEAVILY

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .95⅜	$ .97⅝	$1.15½
Corn	.58⅛	.58⅛	.95¼
Oats	.29⅝	.30¼	.41⅛
Rye	.73⅝	.74	.83⅝
Soy beans ...	.96⅝	.98½	1.25

Wheat prices turned sharply downward yesterday after an early advance. Liquidation by speculators and selling attributed to a large eastern professional carried prices off nearly 4 cents from the early high. While there was some recovery from the low point net losses ranged from 1⅝ to 2 cents a bushel. Losses at Kansas City and Winnipeg exceeded 2 cents.

It was reported as much as 1,250,000 bushels of American wheat had been sold for export, but this had no immediate effect on the futures market. Buying of futures at Winnipeg was said to have represented removal of hedges against export sales made previously.

Sharply Below Liverpool.

December wheat in Chicago at the close yesterday was 35¾ cents a bushel under the same delivery in Liverpool. A month ago the English market was 27 cents above Chicago.

Speculators are finding it hard to reconcile the rapidly widening difference in prices between American and foreign markets with reports that there is a very limited export demand for American wheat. From July 1 to Oct. 15 exports of American wheat were only 17,000,000 bushels. It is estimated only 5,000,000 bushels have been shipped abroad since the latter date.

Await Exports of Corn.

Intimations of further export business in corn largely offset the effect of the decline in wheat and the active deliveries of the former grain closed unchanged to ½ cent a bushel higher. October corn, trading in which ceased yesterday, was 2¼ cents lower, going off the blackboard at 58 cents a bushel, after selling as low as 57½ cents and in new ground for the season.

Oats and rye declined in sympathy with other grains. Soy bean futures were as much as 2½ cents a bushel lower. Selling was said to have been based on prospects of heavier exports from Manchukuo.

A spokesman for Bata said its sales total only one-half of 1 per cent of American production and would not affect the American market. Powers Hapgood, organizing director of the shoe workers' union, joined in the opposition on the ground that Czechoslovakian wage scales are lower than American.

Cites Competition.

White said that American farmers and wage earners are now "in virtually unrestricted competition with the lowest living standards in the world."

"Our agricultural imports for the first six months of 1937," he went on, "are expressed in staggering figures and our exports of farm commodities have diminished to an alarming extent. At the current rate of imports, this country will take in more than 100,000 bushels of corn during the calendar year 1937.

"During the entire year 1933, before this fantastic policy of free trade became effective, the United States imported only 65,000 head of cattle. But in 1935 we imported 364,623 head, in 1936 we imported 399,113, and in the first six months of 1937 we imported 308,840 head—almost as many in six months as during the entire year 1936.

"In 1933 we imported 8,000 pounds of live hogs. In 1935, under the Roosevelt-Hull free trade policy, we imported 3,414,317 pounds of live hogs. During the next year, 1936, we imported 17,446,457 pounds of live hogs. During the first six months of 1937 we imported 11,020,427 pounds of live hogs, or at the rate of 22,000,000 pounds a year."

Terms Drouth Big Factor.

Drouth is a large factor in the increased importation of farm products, Hull said in his letter to Senator Capper. He estimated that excess of imports of farm products in 1936-'37 over 1933-'34, which were affected by the drouths of 1934 and 1936, amounted to 141 million dollars.

"Most of these products we ordinarily export rather than import," Hull said. "In years of extremely poor growing conditions [and hence low yields per acre] we may have inadequate supplies in spite of large acreages originally planted. Under these conditions prices rise sufficiently to make it profitable for foreigners to send us supplementary supplies of the drouth affected commodities. Such imports in no sense displace the products of American farms. They supplement the domestic supply. They relieve shortages of feedstuffs which could not otherwise be relieved. They do not depress prices, but, on the contrary, come in because prices are high. They tend to check the rise of prices to famine levels. Hence they benefit the many farmers who have to buy feed for their live stock, as well as the ultimate consumer."

WOMAN TREASURY AID RESIGNS; WILL HEAD DENVER FUEL COMPANY

Washington, D. C. Oct. 27.—(AP)—Josephine Roche, one of the government's best known welfare workers, will quit her position as assistant treasury secretary Nov. 1 to return to the presidency of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company at Denver. Announcing this today, the treasury said her position would be left unfilled in the hope she would be able to return to it later.

Josephine Roche.

Miss Roche was named assistant secretary by President Roosevelt, in November, 1934, and was the first woman to hold this job. She has been in charge of the treasury's public health and other welfare activities, and has served as chairman of the interdepartmental committee for coördination of federal welfare services.

She relinquished the presidency of the fuel company to accept the treasury appointment, but retained a controling interest in the concern. After Paul Peabody, company president, died in September, she decided to return to the company.

Miss Roche once served as an organizer for the Colorado Progressive Party. She was associated with the United States Children's Bureau from 1923 to 1925.
